RECORD DEFICIT OF FOUR BILLION FORECAST IN '39

3 Billions Added by Revised Budget.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—A greater deficit than was incurred in the worst years of the depression is foreshadowed for the current fiscal year in revised estimates of the 1939 budget made public today by President Roosevelt.

With estimated receipts off 1 billion 200 million dollars, compared with the fiscal year of 1938 just closed, and expenditures up by nearly 1 billion 300 millions, Mr. Roosevelt calculated that the 1939 deficit will be $3,984,887,600. Inasmuch as the President invariably has underestimated the deficit, it is not unlikely that the actual gap between receipts and expenditures will be considerably greater than this tentative figure.

Ninth Year in the Red.

This is the ninth year of the treasury in the red. For the preceding eight years the deficits were:

1931	$ 901,959,000
1932	3,147,919,000
1933	3,063,257,000
1934	3,989,496,000
1935	3,575,358,000
1936	4,763,842,000
1937	2,811,318,000
1938	1,524,713,000

The 1936 deficit, however, included the item of 1¾ billion of the bonus paid to veterans. Excluding this item, the comparable figure of the 1936 deficit was about 3 billions. Similarly, the 1937 deficit included half a billion for the bonus and therefore comparably was about 2 billions 300 millions.

Estimate Up 3 Billions.

With such allowances made it will be seen that the 1939 deficit now predicted by Mr. Roosevelt is only 5 millions less than the greatest deficit incurred during the depression [excluding the bonus], the 1934 deficit of $3,989,496,000. The chances are that even the 1934 high will be left in the rear by the actual deficit at the close of the 1939 fiscal year next June 30.

The impact of the new depression is graphically portrayed by the fact that the deficit Mr. Roosevelt now forecasts is 3 billions greater than he estimated it last January, when he submitted his 1939 budget to congress. This disparity is the result of a 2 billion dollar boost in expenditures, largely for relief and pump priming, and a 919 million dollar drop in revenue due to the business slump, with its attendant decline of incomes and taxes thereon.

Debt to Pass 40 Billions.

To finance this great deficit the President proposes to use half a billion dollars already in the treasury's general fund, which was put there by the desterilization of impounded gold last winter. By that means the increase in the public debt will be held down to 3 billions 485 millions. On June 30, 1939, the public debt will stand at 40 billions 650 millions, compared with 37 billions 165 millions last July 1.

The remainder of the deficit will be financed by using 680 millions of social security funds and by borrowing 2 billions 805 millions.

In his revised budget statement, the President explains that when he submitted his budget last January he had "hoped that the business recession had run its course." But instead of getting better, business conditions "grew worse" and larger outlays for relief and business pump priming became necessary.

Points to Revenue Losses.

"It is now estimated," said the President in his statement today, "that total receipts for the fiscal year 1939 will amount to $5,000,270,000, as compared with actual receipts in 1938 of $6,241,661,227. Income taxes are expected to produce $621,900,000 less revenue than in 1938. Miscellaneous internal revenue will be $370,800,000 less, while social security taxes will be lower by $98,200,000.

"Taxes on carriers and their employés, due to the fact that the 1938 collections included 1937 accruals deferred by litigation, will be $64,600,000 less. The tax on unjust enrichment will produce $4,300,000 more revenue than in 1938. Customs revenues are expected to show a decrease of $81,000,000 and miscellaneous receipts will be less by 39,200,000.

"The estimated expenditures for the fiscal year 1939, excluding debt

CITIZEN COUNCIL URGES CHICAGO RELIEF REFORM

Wants Single Office for Applicants.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

A report recommending drastic changes in the Chicago Relief administration was approved yesterday by the Illinois Council on Public Assistance and Unemployment, a citizens' commission appointed last December by Gov. Horner. Walter L. Gregory, chairman of the council, said the report will be sent to the governor today.

Gregory refused to say what was in the report. He indicated, however, that the council will recommend that the CRA [Chicago Relief administration] establish a central intake system. This would mean that those applying for relief would go to one central application office. At present a person wishing to become a reliefer may go to any of the CRA's twenty-one branch offices.

5,000 Applicants a Day.

Under normal conditions from a thousand to two thousand people a day apply for relief. In the last few days, because of the temporary shutdown of the relief stations and because of the large number applying for WPA jobs through the relief stations, there have been nearly 5,000 applicants for relief and WPA at the relief stations.

From the debate in the council's meeting room in the Palmer house it was learned that the report contains at least ten major recommendations. The creation of a central intake system for the CRA would involve complete reorganization of relief administration.

Leo M. Lyons, CRA commissioner, has been considering the central intake system for some months. This system is now being used in St. Louis and Milwaukee. The latter city, especially, is said to have an excellent relief administration under the system.

How System Will Work.

The debate indicated that the report calls for the removal of the professional social workers from their dominant position in the CRA. With the central intake system in effect, as recommended by the council, the social workers would become merely one of the branches of the CRA.

In a previous report to Gov. Horner the council said that the CRA is not now run on a businesslike basis. The previous report held that the social workers now have power to overrule even the business managers in the CRA offices.

All applicants for relief would go to one centrally located office. There they would be interviewed by expert investigators interested only in determining their eligibility and need for relief. Many of these investigators would be drawn from the ranks of the professional social workers, but they would be used for investigation instead of social work.

Work Abilities to Be Listed.

An expert, or experts, on employment from the state employment service would be in the central office to determine and register the new reliefer's work abilities. It is possible that a WPA office for assigning men to WPA jobs would be established in the same building.

Then, after a new reliefer's needs had been determined, and he was found able to work, he would be sent to a WPA job. If not able to work his case record would be sent to the district office nearest his home.

The family welfare division, which is made up of social workers, would have nothing to do with a family before it reached the district offices. In the district offices the families in which the trouble was loss of a job would be treated on a relief basis. Families in which there were family problems would be turned over to the family welfare division.

The heads of the district offices would be directly responsible to the director of relief. At present they are ruled by the family welfare division. In the light of the council's earlier report it is believed that the new report will recommend that heads of the district offices be more experienced in business and office management than the present social worker heads of the offices.

Ross Kidnaper Goes to Death House Tonight

John Henry Seadlund wrote farewell letters, read adventure stories, and made imaginary bets on the races in the county jail yesterday. Tonight, at 10 o'clock, he will be moved into the death cell. At 1:02 a. m. tomorrow he will be put to death in the electric chair for the kidnaping that ended in the murder of Charles S. Ross.

The government surrounded with secrecy plans for the execution. All visitors were barred from cell block A, in which Seadlund sat with three guards. Nevertheless, the story of what the kidnaper was doing leaked out by way of the jail grapevine.

Pens Elaborate Farewells to Kin.

For days he is said to have been reading the adventure stories and writing voluminous letters to his kinsmen. Still unable to break the spell of betting on the races, which betrayed him into the hands of the G-men, he has been reading the racing news and picking his horses, to rejoice over those on which he would have won had he been able to bet.

His letters are understood to be elaborate farewells, written in surprisingly good English. In them the lumberjack who turned to kidnaping and murder to gain quick wealth has begged for forgiveness.

In them he says he is reconciled to death, and tells his hope of seeing again his dead father and his dog, Bo. With naïveté that might under other circumstances be mistaken for flippancy he mentions the tangible things he expects in the next world.

Wants No Relatives Present.

The letters are to his mother, Mrs. Delia Seadlund of Ironton, Minn.; his sister, and a brother-in-law.

Seadlund has been told he may have three of his family with him when he goes to his death. Jail officials deny it, but it is understood he has notified his relatives he does not want them to come.

By government order only 22 men will be present when Seadlund is strapped into the electric chair. They will be officials, physicians, guards, and legal witnesses. William H. McDonnell, United States marshal, will be in charge. So strict is the government's ban against such crowds as have attended state executions that Sherif John Toman, head of the jail administration, was compelled to get special permission from Washington to attend. Warden Frank Sain will head the jail force which will conduct the execution.

Ross was a well to do retired greeting card manufacturer who lived at 2912 Commonwealth avenue. Last Sept. 25 he was kidnaped as he was driving near Franklin Park.

On Oct. 8 his wife, May, paid the $50,000 ransom. Two or three days later Seadlund shot and killed both Ross and James Atwood Gray, the killer's accomplice, in a rude dugout where Gray was guarding Ross, near Spooner, Wis.

On Jan. 14 Seadlund stepped up to a window to place a bet at the Santa Anita race track near Los Angeles. He was seized by government agents who had traced him by the ransom bills he was passing.

KING OF BRITAIN IRKED AS 'DEBS' PAY TO GO TO COURT; BANS PEERESSES

LONDON, July 12.—The Daily Express asserts that the earl of Clarendon, who was appointed lord chamberlain recently, has notified certain peeresses after a "searching inquiry" that their presence will not be required at further court functions this season.

This step, the Daily Express says, followed instructions from King George VI. of Great Britain that impoverished titled women must be prevented from sponsoring people at court in return for money. The king holds strong views on the exploitation of royalty for private ends.

For introducing a debutante to London society and giving "social guidance," the newspaper says, some peeresses have demanded $5,000. The debutante usually stays with her chaperon for the three months of the Mayfair season. The fee for presentation at court alone is said to be about $500.

Warm, So Banker Dons $15 Suit He Bought in 1892

Atlanta, Ga., July 12.—(AP)—The mercury soared today so Councilman E. A. Minor put on his summer suit which he bought 46 years ago. "I wear it during the hot months of July and August," he said. "It's like an old comfortable pair of shoes. It fits all my knobs and bumps." Minor, a suburban banker, paid $15 for the suit in 1892. It's cream-colored and made of a mixed fabric "that they don't manufacture any more."

Sufferers from Hay Fever Rejoice; Last Ragweed Cut

Here is good news for hay fever sufferers in Oak Park. George A. Mueller, the village health commissioner, yesterday informed the village president, James A. Howe, that the last of the ragweed on vacant lots and prairies has been cut after four weeks of work.

Thomas Ahead for Senate in Oklahoma Poll

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 12.—(AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas, given a "pat on the back" by President Roosevelt in his race for renomination on the Democratic ticket, maintained a steady lead tonight over Gov. E. W. Marland and Representative Gomer Smith in returns in Oklahoma's primary election.

Phillips Leads Murray.

Incomplete returns put Leon C. Phillips, Okemah legislator, ahead in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. In the governor race 2,167 precincts gave Phillips 90,480; W. S. Key, ex-state WPA administrator, 85,028; former Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray, 81,902. Former Gov. Jack Walton, who was removed from office by impeachment in 1923, and Ira Finley, Oklahoma City, were far behind with only a few thousand votes each.

As returns came in around midnight Murray had crept into a close second to Phillips.

Praises Senator Thomas.

In that address Mr. Roosevelt asserted Senator Thomas had been of "enormous help" to the administration.

He also tossed a compliment to Gov. Marland for his oil conservation work; and by inference declared Murray, who seeks to return to the governor's chair he left in 1935, was "nationally known as a Republican."

In his Oklahoma City talk Mr. Roosevelt made no reference to Gomer Smith, Fifth district congressman, running against Thomas and Marland for the senate nomination.

Murray Lashes Back.

"Alfalfa Bill" took notice of the President's remarks, in a broadcast address last night, declaring if the governorship was an appointive office he didn't want it.

The candidates with pluralities will win the nomination, since the last legislature repealed the runoff primary law, passed in 1929.

The Republican primary voting was light. Harry O. Glasser, Enid attorney, was leading in a field of four for the senate nomination, and Ross Rizley, former state senator of Guymon, was ahead in the contest for Republican nomination for governor.

Tacoma, Wash., July 12.—[Special.]—Washington state policemen have under arrest a slim, bearded man, 32 years old, who has confessed the kidnaping of Charles Mattson, 10 years old. The body of the Mattson boy, who was seized Dec. 27, 1936, in his Tacoma home, was found fifteen days later in the woods near Everett, Wash. He had been beaten to death.

The self-accused criminal is Frank Olson. He walked into the office of the sherif at Ritzville, Wash., yesterday afternoon and announced calmly: "If you want a kidnaper, take me; I'll clear up the Mattson case for you."

Discrepancies in Story.

Chief William Cole of the state patrol said that Olson had implicated several other persons in his confession. Cole added that there were many discrepancies in Olson's recital and that no charge would be placed against him until he had been quizzed further.

"Some of the people whom he named as accomplices have furnished alibis for the period between the kidnaping and the murder," Cole said. "One of them has been questioned and released."

Olson asserted that the Mattson boy had been buried in the woods. The body was lying in the open, in a pile of snow, when it was discovered on Jan. 11, 1937.

Strangled Boy, He Says.

When informed of this discrepancy, Olson replied:

"Well, one other man knew where the grave was. Maybe he dug it up later and moved it. But I killed the boy myself. I strangled him and beat him and stabbed him with a knife."

Olson said when he fled from the Mattson home he ran down a steep hill to a beach and entered a rowboat. Then, he continued, he rowed with the boy across Commencement bay to his car, which he had parked at Dash point. In the machine he proceeded to his woods hideout near Everett, he said.

Olson's appearance corresponds in general with the description of the kidnaper. He has sharp features and his beard is like that of the man who walked into the $50,000 home of the Mattsons and, after terrorizing the boy's sister and brother, fled with him. Recently Olson has been working as a farm hand near Ritzville.

Tells of Prison Escape.

Olson said he escaped from the state prison two years ago while a trusty.

When the lad was taken, his father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, wealthy physician, made every possible effort to get in contact with the kidnapers. He was willing to pay the $28,000

World Plane Radios 'All Is Well.'

BULLETIN.

New York, July 13.—(Wednesday.)—(AP)—Howard Hughes' globe circling plane passed over Olikminsk, approximately 250 miles from Yakutsk, Siberia, at 1:42 a. m. (Chicago time) today, flight headquarters here was notified in a cable from Moscow officials. The plane was reported flying 212 miles an hour at an altitude of 11,500 feet. An earlier Moscow report placed Hughes 1,500 miles east of Omsk, or about 650 miles from Yakutsk at midnight. He asked more precise data on conditions over the mountain ranges between there and Anadyrsk, one of the most dangerous districts on his route.

BULLETIN.

New York, July 12.—(AP)—The Howard Hughes plane reported by radio tonight that it expected to land at Yakutsk at 5:20 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time, 11 hours and 43 minutes after the takeoff at Omsk. Hughes said the plane was on its proper course and was flying at 10,500 feet and 210 miles per hour.

OMSK, Siberia, July 13 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Howard Hughes and his four 'round the world flight companions roared into the Siberian dawn today at 4:37 a. m. [5:37 p. m. Tuesday, Chicago daylight saving time] on the fourth leg and second half of their globe girdling flight. Omsk is 6,665 miles from New York and approximately the half way point of the scheduled 14,709 mile course.

The American flyers headed their silver monoplane east across the vast Siberian steppes toward Yakutsk, 2,177 miles away.

They were almost a day ahead of the 1933 flight schedule of the late Wiley Post, who circled the world in seven days 18 hours and 49 minutes. Hughes and his companions are trying to beat this record.

Expect Hop to Take 11 Hours.

Hughes' plane was reported sighted over Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, 800 miles east of here at 5:31 a. m. [9:31 p. m. Chicago time]. Next it was to pass Kansk, then winging on to Yakutsk. This fourth leg of the lap was expected to take eleven hours.

Early summer dawn was just breaking over mid-Asia when the flying laboratory got away. Hughes had spent about four and a half hours in Omsk. After satisfying his plane's thirst for gasoline he had a cup of tea with local officials.

The air adventurers had arrived in Omsk, which is an ancient center of caravan routes and an important station on the trans-Siberian railway, at 9 p. m. Tuesday, Moscow time [1 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time], after a 1,380 mile flight from Moscow. The flyers left Moscow at 5:25 a. m. Chicago time, making the hop in 7 hours 35 minutes.

Nearly Day Ahead of Post.

The wheels of the plane touched the Omsk field 42 hours and 40 minutes after the takeoff from New York at 6:20 p. m., Chicago time, Sunday. The flyers thus were nearly a day ahead of Post, who flew from New York to Novosibirsk in 66 hours and 17 minutes. Novosibirsk is slightly more than two hours' flying time beyond Omsk.

Hughes' previous two hops, before the Moscow-Omsk leg, were from New York to Paris, 3,610 miles, which he made in 16 hours and 35 minutes, and from Paris to Moscow, 1,675 miles, which he covered in 7 hours and 49 minutes. Hughes flew the New York-Paris leg in less than half the time it took Col. Charles A. Lindbergh [33½ hours] in 1927.

Hughes made a beautiful getaway in his departure from Moscow. He worried some of the spectators at first by taxiing to the end of the runway and waltzing his ship around in dusty circles. It appeared for a moment as if something was wrong. But suddenly the trim, bright plane shot ahead and took off.

Landing Gear Trouble Disproved.

Reports that his landing gear had been damaged in the Paris takeoff were proved unfounded when the ship made a perfect three point landing in Moscow.

Rumpled and unshaven, the flyers were in high good humor as they descended at the soviet capital. While his four companions ate lunch of fried eggs, cold ham and salami and refreshed themselves with beer and ice water, Hughes plunged into a study of weather maps, oblivious to a disarranged shirt tail. He said his party had averaged scarcely two hours of sleep since leaving New York.

Troyanovsky acted as interpreter in the pleasant greetings extended by soviet polar air heroes headed by Mikhail Gromov, who flew to San Jacinto, Cal., via the North Pole last year.

Hints at New Polar Hop.

"I'll see you in America," was the remark of Georgi Baidukov, one of the soviet flyers who made the trip with Gromov. This led to speculation whether a similar trip was contemplated soon.

Remote Yakutsk, on the Lena river, which empties into the Arctic ocean, is the last soviet stop Hughes has scheduled on his dash around the world.

From there he plans to soar over the mountain ranges of far eastern Siberia and then across the Bering sea to Fairbanks, Alaska, a hop of 2,456 miles. At Fairbanks the flyers will not lack for daylight, no matter what time they arrive. There is 24 hours of daylight in the interior Alaskan town, just south of the arctic circle in the land of the midnight sun.

[The soviet embassy in Washington, D. C., said yesterday that, contrary to the impression that Hughes is flying over Siberian wastes, he actually is flying along regular air line routes partly equipped even for night flying. It was emphasized that while the flight is over large sections of relatively unsettled territory, it is not "trail blazing."]

May Refuel in Winnipeg.

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Albert Lodwick, New York representative of Howard Hughes' globe girdling flight, announced tonight arrangements had been made for refueling the plane in Winnipeg, Canada.

He also said official timers would be stationed in Fairbanks, Alaska; Edmonton, Alta.; Winnipeg, and Minneapolis. It was explained the arrangements had been made for timing at Edmonton and Minneapolis because of the possibility of an unscheduled landing at either place in event of unfavorable weather conditions or exhaustion of the fuel supply.

Hughes was expected to attempt the final 3,380 mile hop from Fairbanks to New York nonstop if wind and weather are favorable and his fuel holds out. The plane has an estimated maximum fuel range of 4,700 miles. The intermediate stops were tentative, provided for only in event he is compelled to sit down en route from Fairbanks to New York.

Faces Low Ceiling.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 12.—(AP)—Howard Hughes will face a moderately low ceiling if his trip puts him over the Bering sea and Nome area tomorrow, Weather Observer R. L. Frost said tonight. As he flies eastward from Nome, 500 miles west of here, conditions should improve, Frost said.

HERE ARE FIGURES SHOWING STATUS OF ROUND WORLD RACE

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Howard Hughes was nearly a day ahead of the late Wiley Post when he landed his Lockheed 14 at Omsk, Siberia, at 1 p. m. [Chicago time] today. Elapsed time for Hughes when he reached Omsk was 42 hours and 40 minutes. Post landed at Novosibirsk, about 400 miles farther east, 69 hours and 2 minutes after leaving New York.

Here's how Hughes' time compares with that of the man who flew the Winnie Mae 15,596 miles around the world in 1933 in 7 days 18 hours and 49 minutes. Post flew 4,933 miles to reach Moscow, Hughes flew 5,151 miles.

FLIGHT FOCUSES NEWS ON LITTLE KNOWN PLACES

OMSK [pronounced Awmsk] stands at the mouth of the river Om where it flows into the river Irtysh and has an estimated population of 227,000. Situated in a region of plains it is an important commercial center. The city was founded in 1717 under the name of Omsky Ostrog [fortress] and originally was a fortified camp. During the civil war with the Bolsheviks Omsk was Kolchak's capital. In 1918 the Cossacks in Omsk executed more than 1,000 bolshevik revolutionaries. A soviet government was established in 1919 and Omsk became the central Siberian city until the transfer of the Siberian capital to Novo-Nikolaevsk.

YAKUTSK [pronounced Ya-Kootsk, accent on second syllable], is situated on the river Lena and has a population of 10,000. Yakutsk [which means Lena fortress] was founded by Russians in 1632. In the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the city served for Russia as a place of exile. The house of Monastirev, where in 1889 many political exiles were shot, is located here. Yakutsk is a center for transportation of Siberian gold, coal, and furs.

FAIRBANKS—On the Tanana river in the interior of Alaska, once was a prosperous gold mining center with a population of about 3,000. Its population has dwindled since the period of high gold production.

Hughes' Aid Uses Many Figures but Shies at 13

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—Lieut. Thomas Thurlow, Howard Hughes' navigator, has a lot of work to do with numbers, but he doesn't like some figures. Friends revealed today Thurlow, checking out of his hotel before the takeoff last week, was handed a bill for $13.13 He tossed it back, returned to his room and telephoned friends—just to make the tally $14 and more cents than thirteen.

In Prison Half His Life, He Must Go Back at 64

Joseph Michaels, alias Joseph Unger, who has spent half of his sixty-four years in prison for narcotic law violations and burglaries, was sent yesterday to Leavenworth penitentiary for five more years. He was sentenced by Federal Judge William H. Holly on charges of transporting and selling narcotics. Michaels' last address was 4131 Sheridan road.

LIGHTNING, WIND CAUSE DAMAGE IN HEAVY STORM

A brilliant electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rain and high winds, broke over Chicago and the north shore early today. The rain, which was heavy in several parts of the county, brought a light hail near the Chicago airport.

At the fire alarm office in the city hall operators received fifteen calls that lightning had struck buildings in several parts of the city. Six live wires were also reported blown down.

In Lake county, where the storm first struck, a large barn on the estate of George W. Rossiter burned after it was struck by lightning. The estate is three miles southeast of Libertyville on Old School road. The Rossiters were out of town.

FIRE AND POLICE EXHIBITS AROUSE INTEREST IN SHOW

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

A score of pistols and sawed off shotguns, many of which have taken human life, went on display yesterday in the Madison street windows of THE TRIBUNE'S public service office at the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets.

The weapons, which were loaned by Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the city's uniformed police, were seized by the men who protect Chicago from crime. Some still were hot when they were taken. At least one took the life of a policeman, whose comrades later captured the killer.

Fire Department Also Exhibits.

In an adjoining window an educational exhibit from the fire department was attracting its share of attention. The workings of the department, its alarm system and its many branches were clearly shown.

The two exhibits will remain in the windows all week as a forerunner of the Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show to be given next Sunday afternoon in Soldiers' field. There Chicago will see its protectors in all their might. Nearly 1,000 policemen and firemen and $600,000 worth of fire and police equipment will be on parade.

Mayor Urges Big Attendance.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he will attend and said it is the duty of every loyal Chicagoan to be there.

"It is not often that the average citizen is permitted to look behind the scenes of these two departments," he said. "He owes it to himself and to the men who protect him to know the functions of the firemen and the police. It will make him a better citizen. And he couldn't find a more interesting or thrilling way of learning these things than by seeing them as they will be performed at Soldiers' field next Sunday."

Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan yesterday reversed an earlier decision not to put tickets on sale in advance of the show.

Tickets on Sale Friday.

"The demand for tickets has become so insistent," he said, "that we have decided to offer them beginning at 10 a. m. Friday. Several ticket windows will be open at Soldiers' field and will remain open Saturday. On the day of the show the ticket sale will start at 10 a. m.

"It appears that we are going to have one of the greatest crowds ever to turn out for an event of this sort.'

There will be 70,000 seats available and each of them will be a good one. The great fire tower, upon which some of the most thrilling events of the show will occur, is plainly visible from all parts of the field. There will be action in all parts of the area.

The admission charge—25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children—is probably the lowest ever charged here for an event of such magnitude. The show is sponsored by the fire and police departments, the Chicago park district, and THE TRIBUNE. The proceeds will be used next year for staging a free show.

Aim is Closer Coöperation.

One of the chief purposes of the show is to inspire the public to closer coöperation with the police and fire departments. This was explained last night in a radio talk over station W-G-N by Chief Prendergast.

Miss Kathryn Witwer, prima donna of the Musical Review heard on W-G-N each Thursday night, will open the show by singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" during the flag raising ceremony. She will be accompanied by the Armin Hand band, which plays during interludes.

Beaten by Robbers

Morris Stein, owner of a chain of fruit stores, was badly beaten by robbers early yesterday morning when he contended he couldn't open a small safe they found in his apartment at 7641 Essex avenue. Stein was leaving his apartment to go to his distributing plant at 2500 East 75th street, when the robbers leaped at him in the vestibule. His wife, Belle, heard the commotion and told the men she alone had the combination. On the robbers' orders she opened the safe and surrendered $350 in cash and more than $1,300 in jewels and securities. Two children, Jerry, 15 years old, and Joy, 8, were not disturbed.

GALE SWEEPS 11 CARS OF FREIGHT TRAIN OFF RAILS

Mattoon, Ill., July 12.—(AP)—A freak wind of high velocity swept 11 freight cars of an Illinois Central train off the track 7½ miles northwest of here tonight, demolished one farm home, and leveled the outbuildings on three others.

T. M. Thomas, engineer of the northwest bound freight, said he and other members of the crew saw the storm approaching and the train was stopped. Conductor H. T. Harper and Brakemen C. C. Crist and C. C. Miller took refuge in the engine cab with Thomas and Fireman O. L. French.

The caboose and 21 rear cars of the 37 car train were left on the rails. The next ten cars were tumbled along the right of way, apparently lifted out of their couplings. The five next cars remained on the rails, but the locomotive tender and the first car were dropped upright alongside the tracks.

A mile and a half southward buildings on three farms were leveled.

Engine and 5 Freight Cars Derailed at Block Switch

Five cars and the engine of a Pennsylvania railroad freight train were derailed last night by a block switch at 135th and State streets in Riverdale. Railroad employés said the engineer, W. Illes of Logansport, Ind., failed to see a stop signal set to halt the train for a crossing of the Illinois Central railroad. A. A. Hall, 45 years old, of Logansport, the fireman, suffered a broken pelvis when he jumped as the engine left the tracks.

U. S. HALTS WEIR QUIZ TO AVERT PROTEST MARCH

Acts as 10,000 Prepare for Mass Protest.

Steubenville, O., July 12.—[Special.]—Ten thousand persons were reported to have been planning to march here tomorrow from the steel town of Weirton, W. Va., in protest against the conduct of a National Labor Relations board trial examiner.

Yesterday the examiner barred Clyde R. Armstrong, chief attorney for the Weirton Steel company, from a further part in the hearing of C. I. O. charges.

When the board heard of the proposed march it announced in Washington that the hearing scheduled for tomorrow has been called off. It will be transferred to Pittsburgh and held on Thursday.

Courtroom Damage Feared.

The Washington announcement said the labor board reached its decision to postpone and transfer the inquiry after Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood asserted that the advertised protest march might result in damage to his courtroom, scene of the hearings.

For eleven months Examiner Edward Grandison Smith has been conducting an inquiry here based on C. I. O. charges that the Weir company was guilty of unfair labor practices. The hearing, which has been termed a colossal burlesque financed by taxpayers' money, has dragged on so long that the nerves of nearly every one concerned have become frayed.

The white haired examiner, who once broke his gavel and his glass top desk pounding for order, clashed frequently with Attorney Armstrong. Finally he became incensed to the point of ordering the attorney excluded when Armstrong refused to sit down and stop objecting to hearsay evidence.

Ruling Arouses Citizens.

The arbitrary ruling aroused immediate reaction in nearby Weirton, home of the steel company. More than 5,000 persons attended a massmeeting in the town last night and made plans for the march on Steubenville.

Leaders of the Weir-Cove Security league, which embraces lodge, church, patriotic, civic, and businss organizations of Weirton and the adjoining community of Holidays Cove, predicted that at least 10,000 persons would join the march.

Merchants of the twin communities agreed to close their stores tomorrow morning. The Steubenville Chamber of Commerce, acting upon a request from Weirton business men, asked merchants here also to close for two hours.

Night and day police forces were ordered on duty for the scheduled demonstration. Sheriffs' deputies and Ohio state highway patrolmen arranged to be on hand for arrival of the marchers.

The crowd of protesters were told by Claude Conway, head of the Security league, that Examiner Smith's action in barring the Weirton attorney showed the labor board was "trying to jam the C. I. O. Steel Workers' Organizing committee down the throats of the workers of Weirton."

An independent union of Weirton steel workers appealed for presidential and congressional investigations of the labor board hearing.

Paradise was arrested July 7 by policemen who shot and killed his companion, Robert Doherty, 16 years old, 1329 South Tripp avenue, after they had broken into a flat at 3733 Arthington street. Their total loot was $1.50 and a pair of spectacles.

Instructions to place advertisments in Seattle papers were followed. Apparently there was an answer by mail, and another advertisment announcing "We are ready" was inserted by Dr. Mattson. Nothing came of the negotiations, however. The ransom never was paid. An intensive hunt was started when the boy's body was found.

Since then agents of the federal bureau of investigation have examined more than 16,000 suspects. One was John Henry Seadlund, who is to be executed in Chicago early Thursday for the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross. Seadlund convinced the investigators of his innocence in the Mattson case.

DEPUTIES SWORN IN TO PROTECT JOBS AT FOUNDRY

Lake County Votes $10,000 to Curb Lawlessness.

Lake county yesterday appropriated $10,000 to curb lawlessness at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago. Striking C. I. O. union pickets at the plant have defied an injunction against intimidating employés. The appropriation was made after negotiations for a strike settlement were abandoned. The strike began June 6.

The county board of supervisors yesterday turned over $5,000 to Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle. He was authorized to hire more deputies and purchase any equipment needed to prevent violence, protect property and enforce court orders. The rest of the money will be available as he needs it.

Last night Doolittle said he had appointed a number of special deputies and would have from 100 to 115, besides his regular force, in a few days. They will be used, he added, in carrying out the official orders of Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady.

Jobs to be Protected.

"Men who want to work will be allowed to work," he promised.

Upon learning of the county board's action, the union increased the night picket line at the foundry gates to 150 men and women. Previously, only about 25 had been on night duty.

The move for arbitration ended when the company insisted that the strikers return to work and accept a 10 per cent wage cut. The negotiators for the union, headed by Frank Bradke, refused the reduction. Both sides were willing, they said, to have arbitrators rule on the issues. The union has demanded vacations with pay and a written contract in addition to wage maintenance.

The defiant attitude of the strikers toward constituted authority was described yesterday in a hearing before Judge Dady in Waukegan. The judge has cited ten union members to show cause why they should not be held in contempt. It is alleged that they stamped on copies of the injunction, refused to allow would-be workers to pass into the plant, and declared they would pay no attention to the order.

Tells of Being Kept Out.

Eugene Brunette, head of the independent Ironworkers Protective association, testified that he was forcibly kept away from the hardware plant on July 7 although the injunction was issued July 2. He said he first asked Robert Woertz, former school teacher and now leader of the pickets, if he could go through. Woertz told him he could not.

"When I tried to go on to the plant," Brunette said, "Joe Pankiewicz [one of the 10 men cited] grabbed me and pushed me back about twenty-five feet. Then he hit me in the mouth. The pickets formed a chain with locked arms and kept me and others from passing."

Sherman Hodges, member of Brunette's union, said that Pankiewicz told him he couldn't go to the foundry and threatened to hit him on the jaw. He added that Woertz told him, "You'll never get in." Another witness, Frank O'Hara, said he gave up his attempt to enter when he saw a man with a knife in the picket line.

Boos and Cat Calls Described.

Deputy Sherif Walter L. Atkinson asserted that there were boos and catcalls from the 300 in the picket line when he started to read the injunction on July 5.

"Woertz tuned up a radio on a truck and called for more noise," said Atkinson. "There were shouts that nobody was going to obey the order. All the time notices of the injunction were posted on plant, and all the employés had copies mailed to them."

Chief of Police Jacob Novak of North Chicago testified that he had seen pickets, including women and children, lie down in front of trucks and railroad cars destined for the plant. He said that Woertz told him no vehicles could enter the place.

Cross questioning was conducted by Defense Attorney Thurlow Lewis. Lewis is a brother of Louie E. Lewis, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives.

Grand Jury Meets Monday.

The grand jury investigating the strike disorders adjourned yesterday to meet next Monday. It was reported the jurors had decided to vote from 15 to 20 true bills charging strikers with intimidation and conspiracy. State's Attorney Charles E. Mason indicated no more witnesses would be called. Five testified before the grand jury.

It has been estimated that the 460 employés of the hardware company have lost more than $60,000 in wages during the strike. The strikers are members of the Amalgamated Association of Steel, Iron and Tin workers, a C. I. O. affiliate. Several outside organizers have urged them to remain firm.

Threatened in Holdup

La Guardia Goes Through Picket Line to Reach Desk

WIVES ON BOTH SIDES IN STRIKE BEAR HARDSHIPS

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Two kinds of women are involved in the strike at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago. There is no question of the loyalty of either. There are the women in the picket line, the wives, children and girl friends who lock arms and defy workers to return to their jobs. And there are the others. They are the ones who sit at home with their children and wait, figuring meanwhile how to stretch $8 until the next pay check or the next relief order arrives.

These latter women are the wives of the independents, who do not hold with the C. I. O. and have no quarrel with their employers. There are perhaps 150 of them. There are 200 strikers. The balance, 100 workers, are on the fence waiting to see which side will win.

All Hope for Peace.

For six weeks now these families have hoped that the strike would soon be settled peaceably. Strikers' families have hoped so, too, but at their own price. All have suffered, although the women in the picket-line have laughingly denied it. They point to gifts of food and money, from sympathizers and ask scornfully, "Us hungry?" The independents' wives point only to empty cupboards.

There are some households, the frugal ones, where cupboards are not bare. In these cases, savings accumulated over long years of thrift, have been used for food and rent. Others, without resources, have been forced to ask for relief.

In at least one case, a family has been divided by varying opinions on the strike. The George Mackenzies live in the upper rear flat of Mrs. McKenzie's parents' home at 1913 Commonwealth avenue. But does young Mrs. McKenzie share her troubles with her mother? No. She has told her nothing of lapsed insurance policies, of past due refrigerator payments, or her new cheap recipe for oatmeal cookies. Her father and mother are C. I. O. folks. George is a sprayer who wants his job back.

Homes Are Broken Up.

Some, facing eviction, have broken up their homes. Mrs. Mike Schmidt, 803 Washington street, a worn, middle-aged woman, was packing yesterday to leave for her daughter's home in Indiana. A washtub full of clothes sat in the middle of the floor. Her husband and their two sons have been on relief, but could not pay their rent.

"My husband was a coremaker for 20 years, but we had a lot of illness and hadn't saved much. I can't tell you how this has hurt us. He had been off so much anyway, with business so slack at the foundry. Why did the C. I. O. ask for vacations when they've all had too many days off now?"

But in every case, no matter how desperate their situation, these women are sticking with their husbands. They are as staunch as their sisters marching in front of the foundry, but their two room flats are their picket lines.

300 Park Policemen Take Exams for Sergeants' Jobs

Three hundred park district policemen took the civil service examination for sergeant yesterday at Wieboldt hall of Northwestern university's downtown campus. Chief Michael Hayes, head of the park district force, said there are five vacancies for sergeants.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 12.—A crowd of spectators, hopeful of glimpsing Countess Barbara Haugwitz-Reventlow, Woolworth heiress, was expected tomorrow in Bow Street court for the second hearing on her charge that Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, her second titled husband, threatened her. The count's side of the case will be presented.

Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Since the first hearing July 5 the countess has gone out only occasionally from her London mansion, Winfield house, which has lacked the usual gay parties. Likewise, Count Court, Danish nobleman for whom the former Barbara Hutton renounced her American citizenship, has kept to his West End hotel. He has taken only short walks during the week.

Not Expected to Be Identified.

Court spectators were not expected to hear the answer to a question which has caused London society to buzz. That question is: Who is the "gentleman in London" mentioned in testimony in the July 5 hearing as a man whom the count had said he would "shoot like a dog?"

It is not customary in British courts to bring in the name of a third party unless it is essential as evidence. In the present case, in which the issue is the allegation of threats against the countess, it is not expected the name of the "gentleman in London" will be revealed.

Assert Count Asked $5,000,000.

Lawyers for the countess astounded London with statements that the count had sought $5,000,000 from the heiress as the price of a divorce and had called her obscene names. He had threatened "three years of hell with headlines" for her, the lawyers said in the hearing.

The count is free under a bond of $10,000. There was no indication tonight whether he would take the stand in his own defense tomorrow.

U. S. MEMORIAL TO KING GEORGE V. UNVEILED BY KENNEDY IN ENGLAND

WINCHESTER, England, July 12.—(AP)—With a plea to democracies to resist "intolerance such as is abroad in so much of the world," Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, today unveiled a window in Winchester cathedral as an American memorial to the late King George V. of Great Britain.

Kennedy urged sympathy for the task of the international refugee committee now meeting in Evian-les-Bains, France. It is seeking homes for Jewish and other political refugees.

The people of the United States, the ambassador said, would not be "attracted to new and strange philosophies as a result of their current perplexities." He said a majority of Americans wanted their present system and added: "We only want to refurbish it—to streamline it, if you like."

The memorial stained glass window was suggested by an American citizen living in the United States, whose name was not disclosed and who paid half the cost. The rest was met by American residents in Britain.

JERSEY FORBIDS PUTTING LIQUOR IN ICE CREAM

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—New Jersey citizens will have to get along without liquor in their ice cream. D. Frederick Burnett, state alcoholic beverage commissioner, rejecting an application today to sell ice cream containing from 5 to 25 per cent liquor, said: "Liquored candy is forbidden in New Jersey. Liquorized ice cream is equally attractive to children and likely to reach them despite attempted safeguards. It will therefore likewise be forbidden."

COURT CRITICIZES GOVERNOR'S ROLE IN MAYTAG STRIKE

Newton, Ia., July 12.—[Special.]—District Judge Homer Fuller, presiding over contempt hearings in connection with the Maytag Washing Machine company strike here, today criticized Gov. N. G. Kraschel for interference with a court injunction.

Evidence that agents of the governor were regulating who should be permitted to enter the plant and excluding others was the basis for the judge's statement.

Meantime Gov. Kraschel's arbitration board of three men met throughout the day in the Hotel Maytag, seeking facts on the C. I. O. strike which has tied up the Maytag plant since June 23. The board questioned Maytag officials, strike leaders, and workers in regard to the situation.

The investigators hope to reach a basis for agreement this week.

Checks Late; 2,400 WPA Workers Go on Strike

Twenty-four hundred WPA workers went on strike yesterday because their checks were late. They were working on a Marquette park improvement project at Kedzie avenue and 70th street. The pay roll division of WPA said the delay was caused by a change from delivery on the projects to mailing the checks to workers' homes. Checks will be received today, it was said.

VAN NUYS WINS RENOMINATION FOR U. S. SENATE

Unopposed in Indiana Convention.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., July 12.—[Special.]—United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys was renominated without opposition by Indiana Democrats today.

He was endorsed for a second term by a brief action in the state convention, a meeting which obviously was planned as a sounding board for the presidential boom of former Gov. Paul V. McNutt. But it was a triumph for the doughty little senior senator, for it was the same convention which, until recently, the state house machine had intended should name a man of unquestioning fidelity to President Roosevelt.

Senator Van Nuys did not fit this measurement, for he opposed two of the national administration's pet proposals—the court packing plan and the reorganization bill—and helped defeat them.

No Words of Praise.

Nevertheless, the potential appeal of his independent candidacy next fall changed the picture so this afternoon his was the only name presented to the convention for nomination. Only his name was presented. Not one direct word of praise was spoken in his behalf, even by the man who nominated him—Reginald H. Sullivan, Democratic candidate for mayor of Indianapolis.

The platform extolled Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, who first suggested dumping Van Nuys last summer. It gave even more fulsome praise to Senator Sherman Minton, a leading Roosevelt supporter in Washington. But it did not even mention the record of Senator Van Nuys.

"I present the name of Fred Van Nuys for nomination for United States senator," Sullivan moved when the time came. And that was all he said.

Senator Minton, as permanent chairman, went through the formalities with the gavel. The crowd cheered, louder than had been anticipated in view of the tone of the preliminaries.

Van Nuys Approves "Record."

Van Nuys came to the microphone and his colleague introduced him, draping one arm about his shoulder. Gov. Townsend moved alongside and whispered something in Van Nuys' ear. The crowd cheered louder.

When Van Nuys began to speak it became apparent that the senator was going to give his erstwhile political enemy better treatment than he himself had received.

He praised the governor, spoke of his leadership, and that of McNutt and of the President, as "marvelous," and said he felt sure that Indiana would place the seal of approval on the "Democratic record."

This mention of the "record" had been expected, for Van Nuys had stipulated after the harmony movement was started by Townsend on July 4 that the platform not approve either court packing or the reorganization bill. His wishes were respected and thus he could approve the "record," since neither bill passed.

No Contests for Nominations.

The surface harmony resulting in his renomination extended throughout the entire session, every candidate being named by acclamation. Since there were no hitches, the best show of the convention was the McNutt boom. This was staged by Frank McHale, national committeeman, who is handling the campaign while McNutt is in Manila as United States high commissioner to the Philippines.

The resolutions committee which drafted the platform was a big help, for it included five paragraphs presenting McNutt to the nation as the Hoosiers' favorite for 1940. McHale read these through the microphone himself and when he had concluded the delegates began parading while the band played "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Message from McNutt.

McNutt sent a message to the convention, in which he praised Indiana democracy, the President, and Townsend. He closed with a few phrases which some observers believe contain the meat of his platform for the 1940 nomination.

"But it is not enough to be content with the glories of the past performance," he wrote the delegates. "This is still a testing time for democratic self-government. New problems arise which challenge ingenuity and prowess.

"I am confident that you are worthy of the great trust; that you will choose the high course of action, safeguarding the unfortunate, removing the threat of unemployment, providing for those who are in want, protecting the rights of those who labor, adequately supporting the schools, equalizing the tax burden, maintaining a balanced budget, and improving all public service."

Other Nominations.

Besides reslating the senator the convention also nominated the following:

Secretary of state—Edward A. Koenemann, Evansville.

Auditor—Frank G. Thompson, Bluffton.

Treasurer—Joseph M. Robertson, Brownstown.

Judges of the Appellate court—1st division, William H. Bridwell, Sullivan, and A. J. Stevenson, Danville; 2d division, Harvey G. Curtis, Gary, and Huber M. Devoss, Decatur.

Judges of the Supreme court—1st district, Curtis G. Shake, Vincennes; 3d district, H. Nathan Swaim, Indianapolis; 5th district, Michael L. Fansler, Logansport.

JEAN PETERSEN.

After their marriage on May 21, Carl L. Petersen, 22 years old, of 4445 Wrightwood avenue, and his bride, Jean, set out to find a place in which to live. But they couldn't agree. On June 7 while looking at a flat Petersen became angered, turned her over his knee and spanked her, telling her, "I hope this puts some sense into you."

On June 11—twenty days after their wedding—when they still hadn't chosen an apartment, Petersen took his wife to the home of her parents and left her. That was the story Mrs. Peterson, 20, of 2548 North Austin avenue, told Judge Charles A. Williams yesterday through her attorney, Harry X. Cole. She was granted a divorce for cruelty.

PRESIDENT CAN'T SEE ADAMS FOR COLORADO PEAKS

Democratic Senator Is Snubbed at Home.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special en route to West Coast, July 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt came to Colorado today, but couldn't see Senator Alva B. Adams—who is seeking Democratic renomination for the senate—for the state's peaks and gorges.

Alva B. Adams.

At Pueblo the President, who has traveled two-thirds of the way across the country putting his stamp of approval on administration candidates gave Senator Adams the cold shoulder. In a platform speech in the senator's home town, the President ignored Adams who opposed two pet administration measures — the Supreme court packing scheme and the reorganization bill.

Adams, who had hoped for a presidential blessing, because of his leadership of the 5½ billion dollar pump priming program, shifted uneasily on the rear platform of the presidential special.

Knife Is Withheld.

For months the elimination committee of brain trusters, Thomas Corcoran and Ben Cohen and Son James Roosevelt, has been passing the word that Adams must get the administration knife of disapproval. The President did not throw the knife because the senator is too strong to be defeated.

The pointed omission of Adams' name was an expression of disfavor, but not one sufficiently strong to have the state primary become a test of the administration. Mr. Roosevelt was equally silent on Adams' opponent, elderly state Supreme Court Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard, who announced his candidacy after a White House visit.

Stops to Look At Peaks.

Along the Colorado route the President craned his neck for glimpses of the states majestic mountain peaks, at Royal Gorge the special halted for ten minutes.

As he came into Colorado from Texas, Mr. Roosevelt was told that Hilliard's candidacy was a washout. Hilliard had been assailing Adams for his failure to support the administration. Adams dug up a statement made by Hilliard, when he was accused as a congressman in the Wilson administration of failure to support the war president.

"You cannot support your people back home if you yield any part of your power to influence emanating from other departments of the government," Hilliard said, according to Adams.

Visits Nevada Today.

Tomorrow the special train will carry the President into the home state of another court foe, Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, who also is engaged in a primary contest.

After Nevada, Mr. Roosevelt will be near the end of his trip. He will review the fleet at San Francisco, pass a day at Yosemite National park, and board a cruiser at San Pedro July 16 for a fishing cruise off Galapagos and Cocos Islands.

HINT MURDER IN ROAD DEATH.

Logansport, Ind., July 12.—[Special.]—The body of David Wallace McKee, 35 years old, an unemployed construction worker, was found on the federal highway near here today. Apparently he was the victim of a hit-run driver, but those making an investigation point to the possibility of murder.

66 WARSHIPS AWAIT REVIEW BY ROOSEVELT

San Francisco, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—The bulk of the United States battle fleet steamed in through the Golden Gate today, anchored in San Francisco bay, and made ready to be reviewed by President Roosevelt. Sixty-six fighting craft with 22,000 men aboard moved slowly into the bay after being delayed for some time by low hanging fog. Thousands of spectators lined the cliffs along the gate and took up other points of vantage to view the warships as they steamed into port.

FIND RASKOB AND DU PONT EVADED 1½ MILLIONS TAX

Appeals Board Overrules Sales of Securities.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—Pierre S. du Pont and John J. Raskob today were held in a board of tax appeals decision to have evaded income taxes totaling upward of $1,500,000 for the year 1929 by exchanging securities valued at approximately $9,000,000.

Du Pont, chairman of the board of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. and a large contributor to Republican campaign funds in 1936, and Raskob, New York capitalist who was chairman of the Democratic national committee and campaign manager for Alfred E. Smith in the presidential campaign of 1928, have been business and social acquaintances since 1900.

Overruling the contention of du Pont and Raskcb that they had sold the securities to one another for fear of disturbing a panicky market, the board declared that the deal was "a formula of tax escape" which could not be approved.

Long Association Considered.

The exact amount of additional taxes due on their 1929 incomes was left by the board to be determined later. Attorneys said Raskob might be held to owe about $1,000,000 and du Pont upward of $500,000.

The decision took into consideration the close relationship of the men. It pointed out that Raskob was employed by du Pont in 1900 in the latter's office in Lorain, O., doing bookkeeping and stenographic work. They both moved to Wilmington, Del., and in 1910, when du Pont was treasurer of the du Pont company, Raskob was his assistant.

Raskob later became treasurer when du Pont became president and vice president in charge of finance of the du Pont company, which position he still occupies. The two men also were high officials of the General Motors corporation as well as fellow directors of the Bankers' Trust Company of New York.

Review 1929 Crash Markets.

After the stock market crash in the latter part of October, 1929, Du Pont and Raskob had a conversation in their New York office, according to the ruling. On Nov. 12, Du Pont told Raskob that he had blocks of securities to sell in order to record losses for income tax deduction purposes, "but did not desire to sell large quantities of stock in a market just recovering from a panicky condition."

"In reply," the board's report stated, "Raskob informed Du Pont that he also had securities to sell to establish losses for the same purpose and that he would take Du Pont's stock provided he could sell a somewhat similar amount.

"On Nov. 13, 1929, Du Pont and Raskob each prepared a list of stocks he was willing to sell to the other for the purpose of establishing losses for income tax purposes."

According to the report, Du Pont sold to Raskob these certain securities, Raskob giving du Pont a check for $4,582,750 in payment. At the same time Raskob sold to du Pont certain securities and du Pont tendered his check for $4,606,000 to Raskob.

On the following Jan. 6, 1930, the two men sold back to each other all of the securities they had purchased from each other on Nov. 13. In this transaction checks for $5,289,500 [signed by Raskob] and $5,254,125 [signed by du Pont] were exchanged, the market value of the securities having risen in the interim.

Rules Defense Is Improbable.

Summing up the evidence, the board's opinion stated:

"The matter before us here required examination in the light of the ordinary actions and reactions of men, guided by criteria of reasonable human behavior in business transactions. So viewed, they demonstrate, in our opinion, the complete improbability of the asseverations of petitioner that the sales were bona fide, real, free from agreement to reacquire, in spite of the result—the complete return to original ownership.

"Such a result conceivably could be without design, but such a thing would be entirely too remarkable for belief. Men do not conduct themselves and accomplish the end, as did these parties toward each other, and attain an end so advantageous to their fortunes, without a common understanding."

TVA COMMITTEE VISITS NEW DAM FOR INSPECTION

Plans to Open Hearings Next Week.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 12.—[Special.]—Hiwassee dam in North Carolina was surveyed today by a congressional committee on the first day of its visualation of the Tennessee valley project, now the subject of an investigation that may last during the summer and fall.

In fourteen automobiles, eight committee members with nearly a score of TVA officials as guides and two cars of newspapermen, drove this morning a hundred and forty miles from Knoxville. They traveled over the hills and through the Cherokee national forest to get a view of the 23 million dollar dam which is being built on the Hiwassee river. This stream rises in northern Georgia in the Blue Ridge mountains and flows in the Tennessee river thirty-six miles above Chattanooga.

Typical Mountain Stream.

The river is a typical mountain stream for most of its course, winding, rocky and turbulent. Hiwassee dam is about one-fourth complete. In aspect it is much like Norris dam. On both banks its abutments are cut into the solid rock. The dam is to be three hundred and ten feet high which is higher than Norris which is two hundred sixty-five feet. It is to be 1,250 feet long.

Construction began in 1937 and the work is to be completed in 1940. Some 1,150 are employed and the dam will back up the river in a reservoir twenty-two miles long with a shore line of a hundred and fifty miles. It's initial power installation is to be 60,000 kilowatts. Its ultimate will be 120,000 kilowatts. Initial cost $21,529,000; ultimate 23,029,000.

In taking the trip at the outset of the inquiry, Senator Vic Donahey, chairman, said the purpose was to visualize the physical aspects of the TVA dams, power, fertilizer and other activities.

Hearings Next Week.

Next week hearings are expected to start on charges of mismanagement, misrepresentations, and deceit made by Dr. Arthur Morgan, deposed chairman, against his two former colleagues, Director David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan.

The motorcade came to Chattanooga to spend the night at Lookout Mountain hotel. Director Lilienthal was with the party today. Acting to go back to Knoxville. Acting Chairman Harcourt Morgan is to accompany the committee tomorrow. Chickamauga dam near Chattanooga is to be visited tomorrow.

11 DAMS PLANNED IN LITTLE EGYPT POWER PROJECT

Washington, D. C., July 12.—(AP)—A $5,000,000 flood control and power development project in the southern Illinois coal fields was outlined today by officials of the bureau of agricultural economics.

The project includes 11 dams in the Big Muddy river drainage basin and completion of the twelfth, already under way on Crab Orchard creek near Carbondale, Ill.

Rainfall during flood periods would feed from smaller reservoirs in the drainage basin into a lake to be created by an $850,000 dam on the Big Muddy river near Murphysboro, Ill. The water would be used in the conversion of coal into electricity.

Work on three of the dams should begin by Aug. 15, an official said, and on the remaining seven by Oct. 1. He expressed belief federal relief funds would be allocated within ten days for the three dams. Two would be located on Grassy creek, one to cost $290,000 and the other $210,000, and the third in the Illini national forest seven miles west of Murphysboro at a cost of $650,000.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

HOW'S THE WEATHER?

By CALEB

IN 1643 Torricelli hit upon the idea that the atmosphere had weight. He used a column of mercury to determine what its weight was—and discovered that it varied with weather conditions. Thus was discovered the first practical substitute for the cocked weather-eye, rheumatic pains and stiff joints as weather prophets.

Sailors and farmers found the barometer of special value to them—and England, with large proportions of both among its population, used large numbers of them, on shore as well as at sea. In varying style barometers grew in popularity until they were familiar objects of household decoration. At length the great furniture designers became aware of the decorative possibilities inherent in this household utility.

The most familiar type was developed late in the seventeenth century in England. The long mercury tube and the necessary round dial suggested a banjo shape which came to be widely used. Ordinarily a thermometer was set into the cabinets which were usually of Chippendale or Hepplewhite design.

They are substantial, settled and sedate like the English houses from which they have come. The gentle tap to encourage a black hand in its movements between fair and rain, seems almost an unwarranted familiarity. What things those heavy mahogany cases have seen in their time! Built, some of them, as far back as 1780, they have been purchased in England and brought to our store only in the last year or so.

There's more than a hint of the sea's salt tang, and a truant breath of air from English moors as you look at the venerable faces of these century-old barometers that now hang in sober rows along the walls of our antique furniture section.

Besides the changing pressure of the atmosphere, what changing human pressures these old instruments have survived. The coming of steam and the industrial revolution; the great period of Empire, changing fashions, changing thought. The war. Alarums and excursions coming and going—but always the weather. Across the uneven surge of human strife the steady round of weather to be foretold—"fair, cloudy, rain, storm."

LAUNCH SCHEME FOR PERMANENT AID TO REFUGEES

U. S. Delegate Names London for Headquarters.

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, July 12.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, representing the United States, proposed to the intergovernmental refugees committee today the establishment of a permanent refugee organization in London under a paid director to aid the emigration of persecuted minorities.

The plan was embodied in a resolution to be submitted to the intergovernmental committee for adoption as the final business of the Evian parley in a public session Friday afternoon. Thirty-two nations are represented at the conference, called at President Roosevelt's suggestion. It has studied means of aiding Jews and other political refugees.

Authoritative quarters disclosed the resolution would not limit the activities of the permanent London body to refugees from greater Germany. Instead, it envisages a long range program to assist any minority persecuted for "radical or political beliefs."

To Be Offered to American.

This was viewed as a compromise between American and British delegates. The latter had held the committee should consider Jewish refugees of eastern Europe as well as those of greater Germany.

The London organization would be governed by a chairman and four vice chairmen. These officials would control the actions of the paid director. The first meeting of the London organization was scheduled for Aug. 3, it was reported.

The chairmanship, it was said, would be offered to an American. Taylor, president of the conference as well as United States delegate, was mentioned.

Refugees Defined.

The resolution was reported to have defined refugees as "persons who have not already left their country of origin, but who desire to emigrate by reasons of treatment to which they have been subjected because of their political opinions, religious beliefs, or racial origin." In addition persons who have left their country of origin already would be included.

The first task of the permanent body would be to correlate offers of various countries to accept limited numbers of refugees. The next step would be to get Germany's permission for refugees to leave and take some of their belongings. French sources said Germany would allow refugees 20 per cent of their belongings if all wishing to go were taken.

SCHUSCHNIGG IS BLAMED BY NAZIS FOR 13 HANGINGS

VIENNA, July 12.—(AP)—A representative of the ministry of propaganda today told foreign correspondents that the status of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria had been changed from "honorary detention" to "regular protective custody."

Josef Stertin, the ministry's spokesman, explained that the "honorary" character of Schuschnigg's detention had been revoked because police investigations had shown him to be guilty personally in the hanging of thirteen Nazis during his régime.

Stertin also said Schuschnigg was still in Vienna. This was believed to mean he was at the Metropole hotel, GSP [secret police] headquarters. He has been under arrest since Austria's annexation by Germany on March 13.

FIREBUG HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Steve Litviak, 5033 South Wood street, who confessed setting fifteen fires on the southwest side, was held to the grand jury yesterday in $15,000 bond on three charges of arson by Judge Charles Dougherty.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 12.—[Special.]—A modern young Lochinvar from Hurley, Wis., in the person of Arthur Ericson, came to Knoxville in search of a bride whose picture he had seen in a matrimonial magazine. Ericson forgot about his search for the "mail order" bride when he met brown haired Isabelle King, 19 years old. After a week's courtship they were married and started for Ericson's Wisconsin farm home.

BELIEVE MARTIAL LAW IMMINENT IN PALESTINE AREA

JERUSALEM, July 12.—(AP)—Martial law was believed imminent tonight in the Haifa area of Palestine, where British marines fought an armed guerrilla band. Another battalion of British troops was landed to aid in quelling Jewish-Arab disorders. Marines from the British battle cruiser Repulse hurried to aid the detachment battling a barricaded band near Haifa. The new clash came after a Jewish bus was overturned and bombed, with injuries to one passenger.

In Jerusalem, incendiary fires, a bomb explosion, and sniping added to casualties and damage in disturbances over conflicting Jewish and Arab claims to a homeland in the holy land. A high Moslem holy man, Sheik Ali Hatib, was killed in one fusillade.

In Haifa, two more bombs exploded, one near the new general postoffice and the second in a business district where two previous blasts had been touched off. Two Jews were injured in the postoffice bombing.

Davies Reaches Belgium to Take Post as U. S. Envoy

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 12.—(AP)—Joseph E. Davies, accompanied by his wife, arrived today to take up his new post as United States ambassador to Belgium. The former American ambassador to soviet Russia was welcomed at the station by the Brussels embassy staf, friends and Belgian government officials.

JAPAN REPLIES TO U. S. PROTEST OF ACTS IN CHINA

Washington, D. C., July 12.—(AP)—Japan has sent the United States a comprehensive reply to protests against treatment of American properties and citizens in the Yangtze valley in China. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, while describing the response as extensive, said today there were some points that still require clarification.

The reply is to the American note of May 31 which emphatically called Japan's attention to the fact that much property, including the million dollar American Baptist university at Shanghai, had not been returned to its owners. It also said American citizens were not being permitted to return to the places of work they had left in the interior when Chinese-Japanese hostilities reached them.

Japan made a partial return of property and granted permission to some Americans to go back to their posts. A special commission was sent from Tokio to China to study the situation as regards American property. Japan's reply today was believed to incorporate the recommendations of this commission.

MOTHER SLASHES SELF; LIVES.

Mrs. Angeline Svirstius, 33 years old, was taken to the county hospital in a serious condition yesterday after she slashed her throat, wrists, and ankles in the bathroom of her home at 2528 West 46th place. She is the mother of two children. Physicians said she would recover.

JAPANESE LAUNCH NEW CAMPAIGN OF CHINA AIR RAIDS

Canton and Wuchang Hit; 450 Casualties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 13 [Wednesday].—China today counted more than 450 persons killed and wounded as the result of Japanese air raids on Wuchang, Canton, Kiukiang, and other cities.

The bombings began yesterday, a day after the Japanese had warned foreigners to evacuate cities of central China to escape the attacks the Japanese were to start.

Eighteen Japanese planes dropped at least a hundred bombs in Wuchang, some of which fell near four American mission institutions, Boone university, St. Hilda's school, St. Joseph's hospital, and the Christian Missionary Alliance mission. No Americans were injured. One bomb destroyed a wing of the Hupeh Provincial hospital and many persons were crushed under the débris. The casualties in Wuchang were estimated at 200 dead and wounded.

Canton Attacked Twice.

Wuchang is the capital of Hupeh province and is across the Yangtze river from Hankow, the Chinese provisional capital.

Canton, the metropolis of south China, was bombed twice yesterday. The heaviest attacks were on the Wongsha station of the Canton-Hankow railroad and on the residential area near the Sun Yat-sen memorial. A large junk with a crew of thirty was hit squarely and demolished. Many small craft in the Pearl river were overturned. The Lao Pao bridge was smashed. The Canton casualties were reported at fifty-two persons killed and 200 injured.

Japanese planes heavily bombed Kiukiang, which is on the Yangtze river 135 miles downstream from Hankow. Chinese reports declared the Japanese river forces were stopped seven miles downstream from Kiukiang and were attempting to bring up reinforcements. Chinese planes bombed Japanese river craft off Hukow and Pengtseh, farther down river.

Halted at Lake Inlet.

Japanese land forces at Hukow, fourteen miles east of Kiukiang, attempted to cross the channel leading from the Yangtze southward into Lake Poyang, but were driven back.

Within Kiukiang Chinese were working feverishly to strengthen their defenses. Most civilians had fled and foreign missionaries had gone to Kuling, a mountain resort thirteen miles to the south.

Can't Force Americans Out.

HANKOW, July 12.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson reiterated the view today that Americans living in China cannot be forced to evacuate from areas designated by Japanese as intensified war zones.

Elmer B. Gregory at his rug loom in his Los Angeles barber shop.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—[Special.]—Passersby stop to look when they come to Elmer B. Gregory's barber shop here. For Elmer, unless he is cutting hair, is usually to be found weaving a rag rug in full sight of the street. The kids on the corner call him a sissy, but Elmer doesn't mind them any more than the stares from the street. He became interested in weaving from watching a woman on a street car make a rug from bits of cloth. He bought a rug loom and since that time has completed two rugs and is working on a third.

Paris to Use Strong Action if Needed, Premier Warns

PARIS, July 13.—(AP)—Premier Eduard Daladier tonight delivered a warning that France is prepared whenever necessary to repeat the strong action which last May kept a German-Czechoslovakia clash from bringing new war to Europe. The premier recalled that Anglo-French pressure in Berlin on May 21 thwarted a reported German plan to invade Czechoslovakia during the latter's municipal elections. Daladier paid tribute, however, to the "good will" which Germany met Britain and France at that time.

LOYALIST STAND HALTS THREE DAY PUSH BY REBELS

Defend Sagunto, Segorbe in Eastern Spain.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], July 12.—(AP)—Spanish government troops were reported tonight to be holding their own in the wild Espadan mountains north of Valencia after stopping a rebel push toward key highway cities.

Rebel advances in three days of bitter fighting had carried troops of Gen. Garcia Valino to within sight of Sagunto, junction of the Castellon-Valencia and Teruel-Mediterranean highways fourteen miles north of Valencia.

Loyalists Hold Highest Peak.

Government troops of Gen. Jose Miaja had their backs to the rocks in their defense of the northern base of the triangle. Despite previous admissions of retreat, government forces reported they are holding the highest peak in the Espadan range and surrounding strategic positions.

On the Castellon-Valencia road rebel troops under Gen. Miguel Aranda, rested from their capture of Nules and Moncofar, went into action again. Their heavy guns were battering government defenses at Chilches, nine miles northeast of Sagunto.

Cartagena Bombed Twice.

Two rebel bombing raids on the government naval base at Cartagena further harassed Miaja's general staf. First reports placed casualties at 45 killed and 120 injured. Rebel planes also bombarded Vall de Uxo, west of Nules, and other villages north of Valencia.

580 PLANES SHOT DOWN BY ITALIAN FLYERS IN SPAIN

ROME, July 12.—(AP)—The Italian government announced today that Italian aviators fighting for the rebels in the Spanish civil war had brought down a total of 580 enemy aircraft, including two dirigibles.

A communique put the total losses of Italian airmen at 150 men. One hundred and twenty were listed as killed, 21 as prisoners, 9 as missing. Of the casualties 56 were officers, 64 subofficers or specialists, the communique said. It asserted the destruction of all but 93 of the 580 enemy planes was confirmed.

The enemy craft shot down, the communique said, included 14 Potez bombers, 46 "bombers of unidentified types," 8 Loire pursuit planes, 11 Dewoitine pursuit planes, 11 Nieuport pursuit planes, 1 Spad pursuit plane, 4 Boeing pursuit planes, 133 Rata pursuit planes, 150 Curtiss pursuit planes, 108 pursuit planes of unidentified types, and 4 of tourist type, 49 observation planes of various types, and 9 sesquiplanes.

RALPH CHURCH AND CHARLES DEWEY.

Illinois for a number of years has not sent many representatives to congress, either to the senate or the house of representatives, who could carry much weight, reflect much credit on the state, or do it much good. Now and then, here and there, a representative of parts has been seated in the Illinois delegation, but the general average has not been very high and the state has not had a representation compatible with its ranking in the union.

Consequently, Illinois has been a sort of country cousin in Washington and has had nothing like the influence a great industrial, agricultural, and transportation area should have. It has been eclipsed by many a small state which has sent bigger and better men to represent it. One of the Chicago districts has been well represented by Congressman Ralph Church, Republican, who is opening his campaign for reëlection. His district, the 10th, should be well represented, as should also the 9th, in which Charles Dewey, Republican, has become a candidate.

Congressman Church in the 10th has become a veteran in the Illinois representative system, both as a member of the state legislature in his younger days and as a congressman. He is able, watchful, and hard working. A good congressman has to be a hard worker and he has to be vigilant. Church is both. He has kept his constituents informed throughout his Washington service by a well written weekly summary of the events in Washington furnished to the local newspapers of his district. As a Republican he has been an influential member of the minority which has held down some of the excesses of the New Deal majority, and his attention to legislative detail has made him an important and useful member of the house.

He brought about an airing of the practices of the Sabath committee investigating real estate bondholders' reorganizations, and he forced the retirement of the general counsel of the Home Owners' Loan corporation who had offended the ethics of his office by plugging for the private practice of one of his former associates in the HOLC law staf. The 10th district is politically inclined to retain a good representative in congress and Mr. Church deserves his reëlection.

The 9th district should have a Republican representative in place of Congressman McAndrews, of whom about the only thing that can be said is that he likes to go to Washington and doesn't care from what district. Any number of citizens might be found with that qualification, and Mr. McAndrews has no other. Charles S. Dewey, as Republican nominee in the 9th district, has taken up the campaign as a duty. Mr. Dewey has had a record of useful service in national and international affairs, well equipping him for congressional duties. He was assistant secretary of the United States treasury under President Coolidge and for three years was financial adviser to Poland.

Representation in congress presents an issue of unusual importance to the country this year because of the extraordinary national issues the 76th congress will have to meet. The revolutionary changes in the American system which have been started in motion, in part accomplished, and still advancing with all the pressure of radicalism, unsound experimentalism, and governmental money behind them, will come to a critical stage next year, when, as the prospects now appear, there will be a decision affecting the future character of this nation.

If the Republican party can gain a number of seats, even without becoming a majority party in either branch, it will be able, with such conservative Democrats as survive the purge, to preserve enough of the American republican structure to survive the test of the next two years. For such success in preserving republican institutions it is imperative not only that the Republican party increase its representation but that the men sent to Washington be aware of the issues and able to make themselves effective when decisions require votes.

STOMP AND VANDERMEER.

For several days now the verb "to stomp" has been used in the news columns of this journal to describe what the pickets in North Chicago are said to have done to the copies of Judge Dady's injunction which were handed to them. The pickets, it was alleged, had stomped on the injunction.

The pickets have been charged with contempt of court and we greatly fear that the gentlemen of the press are going to be charged with contempt of the dictionary. We hasten to their defense. "Stomp" is damned in the dictionaries as dialectical or colloquial, but it fills a need and ought to be admitted to the language without qualification. To say that the pickets stamped on the notices would be less informative. They might have used a rubber stamp reading "Please Comment and Return" or "Returned for Correct Address." You can stamp with the hand or a machine as well as with the foot.

But there's only one way to stomp and that is with the foot, or, more precisely, the heel. There is also only one mood for stomping and that is the mood of rage. To stomp, then, means to crush beneath the heel in hot anger. If the boys downstairs will confine their stomping to this narrow meaning they can have their word and our blessing.

And while we're on the subject we should like to make a few observations about this Vandermeer. We note a disposition to call him Vander Meer. Perhaps that is his way of writing it and if so there's nothing to be done about it, but if it's Vanderbilt, Vanderlip, Vanderploeg, Vandervеen, Vanderhorst, and a great many others [cf. Chicago Telephone Directory, March, 1938, 1301 et seq.], why should it be Vander Meer? Van der Meer, maybe, but probably not Vander Meer.

THE CHEERFUL GIVER.

Mr. Roosevelt dealt one right off the rear platform at Wichita Falls, Tex., when he gave Gov. James V. Allred a federal judicial appointment. It took the governor, the Texas congressmen, and everybody else by surprise, but it had a suave grace and a spontaneous generosity. Mr. Roosevelt polished off a compliment for Mr. Allred, paid his respects to himself as the renovator of the courts, and tossed off the appointment in the grand manner of careless giving. There's more where that came from.

A grand monarque could not have carried it off better if a favorite had caught his eye favorably on a tour by bringing him a rose, uncovering an exceptional bottle, or slinging together a fine omelet. This is a regal campaign. The frown is weighty. The smile is a dividend. Washington is a land of fairy gold for prospectors who take the right guides, are grubstaked by the right people, and are themselves numbered among the unquestioning faithful.

How differently Gov. Allred fared from Gov. Chandler of Kentucky who, in primaries in which no one of course has any right to tell you what to do, is opposing Dear Alben Barkley. Happy was patted with a brick, told that he has tried to sully the courts by boosting Senator Logan to the bench in order to make a place for himself in the senate, and reminded that in the better days when he, Happy, was a good and obedient politico he often came to the White House and "never went away empty handed."

No one who is good ever goes away empty handed. The United States treasury is behind the giver. The bad are cast out into darkness.

PAROLE AND THE CAMPAIGN.

The other day 118 convicts were released on parole from state prisons in Illinois, the largest number to be turned loose in this manner since December, 1936. It may be only a coincidence that the elections take place a few months hence. May be.

U. S. LOANS TO NEWSPAPERS.

Under the recent pump priming legislation the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been given 150 million dollars to lend to industry. It is reliably reported that some newspapers have already sought to borrow from this fund, though as recently as a few days ago none of the applications had been approved. The policy of the RFC is to share any such loans with a bank, each of the lenders advancing half the money and assuming half the risk.

The RFC should have been forbidden by law to lend to newspapers for the reason that a press dependent upon government is not free to comment upon government policies, much less to expose governmental corruption. Publishers should be prevented by common sense and professional pride from placing themselves in a position of subservience to this or any other administration. A primary duty of the newspaper is to report the acts and policies of government and comment upon them. This high mission cannot be safely entrusted to a publication which is under obligations to the men whom it is supposed to watch.

The publications which accept loans from their government, and their publishers and editors, must expect to lose standing with the public and with the profession.

Editorial of the Day

DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE PARK.

[St. Louis Globe Democrat.]

When the voice of the White House drew the classic distinction last week between Mr. Roosevelt, the President, and Mr. Roosevelt, head of the Democratic party, a great light was shed over events of the last five years. Many an F. D. R. enigma now unravels its hitherto tangled meaning. Mr. Roosevelt informed of his dual individuality by explaining that as President of the United States he pays no attention to primary battles. But as chief of his party he has every right to take part in campaign jousts.

Maybe this philosophic tidbit sounded muddlesome, but what a clear new vista it opened up to our frankly puzzled mind. If the President and the Democratic chief are different personalities when it comes to primary ruckuses, why, of course, they could be distinct in lots of other instances. It was hard to believe that the President of the United States would have stymied legislation and split congress wide open by an unrelenting attempt to pack the Supreme court; now we see it was the Democratic boss of Hyde Park who engineered that essay in reprisal. Surely it was the shogun of Democracy who uttered the comment about reverting to the "horse and buggy days"; the President would hardly have stooped to such acrid resentment.

The President all along has pledged the administration's support to American business and encouraged advice and coöperation of industrial leaders; it was that political fellow from Hyde Park who talked so much about "princes of privilege," "economic royalists" and "copperheads." The President has in statesmanlike words dedicated himself to America's philosophy of individual enterprise and the "profit motive"; but how the party chief struggled to undermine him by confiscatory taxes on profits and capital.

It all grows lucid. But it is conceivable that many a citizen may not fully realize when the voice is that of the President or of Democracy's paramount captain. They sound curiously alike. Possibly Mr. Roosevelt could adopt a different vocal register when he speaks as Mr. Hyde Park, the politician. Or he could interpolate in his talks—"I now speak as Democratic chief," whenever he comes to a passage the President would not utter. It might help—a little.

BUSINESS FIRST.

The two brothers were engaged in the retail coal business and one was converted to religion. For weeks he tried to persuade his brother to join the church.

"Why can't you join the church like I did?" he asked.

"It's a fine thing for you to belong to the church," replied the brother. "If I join, who'll weigh the coal?"—Wall Street Journal.

OFF AGAIN—ON AGAIN.

A doctor received a note which read as follows:

"Please call and see my husband. It's his head. He's had it off and on all yesterday, and today he's sitting with it in his hands between his knees."—Montreal Star.

DURING VACATION.

I waited for the second post
And hastily I fingered through
The cheering messages it brought
From people that I never knew:
Joy for my Feet! The "Wonder-shoe"
Would cut my golf-score smack in two;
A note assuring me I'd rue
Not using "Umph," but if I bought,
My hair would gleam like gems, almost—
But not a penscratch came from you.

Do I deserve neglect so great,
When fractions of myself can be
To strangers of such vast concern
That they make earnest inquiry:
Does my subconscious properly
Attune itself to my Esprit?
If not, get simple lessons free.

Their thoughts on sections, can't I rate
A card from you to all of me?

It should be 8,760.

A lady of our acquaintance, Mrs. Jones, used to sniff at the Four Hundred. More recently, she has been sniffing at America's Sixty Families. Now we know why. The social security board reports that America's six leading families are and always have been Smith, Johnson, Brown, Williams, Miller, and Jones. Which reminds us that it has always been hard to keep up with the Joneses.

This business of segregating people into name groups is not new. Montaigne wrote that Henry of Normandy, son of Henry II. of England, found the assembly of nobles so large at a feast he gave in France that he sorted them into companies according to similarity in names. The first company was that of the Williams, and there were 110 knights seated at the table by that name.

Nor is the transposition of letters, making an anagram of a name, a device not unknown to Line contribs, a practice of even this century. THE JOB OF THE KIDNEYS.

THE dexterity of railway mail clerks who deposit hundreds of letters in their proper containers every few minutes, all with great accuracy, is amazing. Seldom will a letter arrive which has been stamped "missent."

While we may marvel at the speed and precision of the guardians of the mail, we find a counterpart in the selective action of the various organs of the body which have for their jobs the reconditioning of the blood, picking out waste matter with unerring fidelity. The liver does its part, and the kidneys are charged with the task of removing many products dangerous to life. Were these substances allowed to remain within the circulating fluid they would accumulate gradually, finally reaching a level at which life could not go on. We are obliged, therefore, to do everything we can to keep these structures and their discharge pipes free from infection. A diseased kidney, on the other hand, may lose its power of discrimination—misrouting letters, as it were—taking red cells and other essentials from the blood instead of poisonous materials.

The renal structures secrete steadily, although the rate varies considerably with activity, the temperature of the body, the time of day, and many other factors. In other words, the ureters—the tubes which convey urine from the kidneys to the bladder—are in use continuously. While the amount per minute is not large, yet this constant flow led nature to provide a bladder—a collecting receptacle—which may be emptied periodically.

In order that the kidneys shall perform their duties efficiently we must make certain that bacteria are not permitted to reside within them or in their exit lines. Pus in the urine is not a pleasant thing to face, but it will appear now and then and every effort must be made to search out its origin. True enough, we can provide a urinary antiseptic immediately, but the hunt for the source must be unremitting. Sometimes the trouble is found within the bladder [cystitis], but more often it will begin in the kidney proper [pyelitis], later involving the bladder, as the wall of that organ, if overstretched or injured, may become infected easily.

Within recent years much progress has been made in combating such disorders as cystitis and pyelitis. Numerous germs are responsible and the colon bacillus, the streptococcus, and the staphylococcus are the chief offenders. Fissures about the rectum, colitis, and diverticulitis [outpocketings from the large bowel] are possible causes. Diseased teeth, tonsils, or sinuses are among the less frequent culprits.

Then comes the necessity of rendering the urine sterile—bacteria free—so that pus will no longer be manufactured. The older treatment, the ketogenic diet—a menu consisting of large quantities of fat—has given way largely to the use of mandelic acid, which makes the urine so highly acid that many "bugs" cannot grow. Freshly infected urine is usually tested for its acid or alkaline reaction. If it is highly acid it should be swung sharply to the alkaline side; if it is strongly alkaline, acid may be of real help.

The new drug, sulfanilamide, which is employed against many microbes, if used with caution may give relief promptly, particularly if streptococci are present. Additional reports indicate that it is also of value in fighting the colon bacillus. Within a few days the urine may become sterile and all symptoms be ameliorated. Physicians have learned, however, to resort to this drug only when needed and to watch carefully the effects upon the blood.

Much damage is done to the urinary apparatus through a false sense of modesty, that is, allowing the bladder to become overfilled. Dilatation of the ureters may ensue and, in some instances, the back pressure in the kidneys may bring on stretching of serious import. No matter where you are or under what circumstances, arrange to answer the call when it comes.

BUMP ON NOSE.

L. M. writes: If you receive a bump on the nose in youth, is there any way of removing it later?

REPLY.

If the nasal bones have been fractured, causing deformity, or if the cartilage has been injured, skilled surgery can repair the defect. The procedure requires expert training on the part of the one who undertakes the operation.

VEGETABLE SUBSTITUTES.

Mrs. I. W. writes: When children won't eat vegetables, what if anything can be given them to supply the proper amount of minerals and vitamins?

REPLY.

Substitutes are: Any fresh fruit [oranges, bananas, watermelon, cantaloupe, etc.] and milk. Creamed vegetables are more palatable to some.

MAY BE HYSTERIA.

M. M. writes: If all food tastes either too salty or too sweet, is this an indication of gall bladder, liver, or kidney trouble?

REPLY.

Not at all. Disturbances in taste may be due to trouble in the mouth, throat, or nose, or to hysteria.

PRESSURE IN EARS.

D. D. writes: What will stop the pressure within the ears when descending a mountain?

REPLY.

Frequent swallowing will help to keep the Eustachian tubes open and will equalize the pressure in the middle ear with that of outside air. Aviators observe this phenomenon.

CANCER NOT CONTAGIOUS.

I. M. S. writes: Is there any danger in kissing a patient with cancer?

REPLY.

Cancer is not contagious and cannot be conveyed by kissing.

HEART MUSCLE CONTRACTION.

A. D. writes: What is meant by "contraction" of the heart muscle?

REPLY.

The same as in any other muscle: the fibers become shorter.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON. — Press representatives and the public recently were excluded from court at Nottingham during the hearing of a charge of manslaughter against a motorist.

P. C. Williams, chairman of the bench, said: "In the event of the accused being committed for trial it is important, if he is to have a fair trial, that he should be tried by a jury having no prior knowledge of the case. The magistrates, therefore, have decided to hear the evidence in camera."

The accused man, Charles Ruscoe, 30 years old, was charged with manslaughter of Mrs. Kathleen Joyce Crossley, 27 years old, of Burton Joyce, near Nottingham. He was also charged with driving to the danger of the public. He pleaded not guilty.

Ruscoe was the driver of the car alleged to have struck Mrs. Crossley on a path between Burton Joyce and Lowdham on the night of May 22. A verdict of manslaughter was returned by the jury at an inquest after a four hours' sitting.

The magistrates, after a hearing of eight hours, committed Ruscoe for trial at the next Nottinghamshire assizes on the charge of manslaughter and on the alternative charge of dangerous driving.

The question of hearing in camera was raised by J. O. Coddington, a magistrate of Bradford, at a conference of the Magistrates' association at Leeds. He pointed out that magistrates can take depositions in indictable cases in camera, but added that he had never heard of this being done.

"On the contrary," he said, "you get columns and columns of evidence of most causes célèbres reported in the press before the person charged ever comes for trial at all.

"I think if we all stood together and declined to allow this sort of thing it might be beneficial, but for obvious reasons mine is not going to be the only court in England closed on such occasions."

J. Wellesley Orr, a magistrate of Manchester, expressed the view that such an attitude by magistrates would be welcomed and upheld by the high court.

The Daily Express condemned what it called the "folly of the ruling at Nottingham where the chairman of the magistrates ordered the reporters out of the court." It continued: "It was treating the jurymen as though they were children. Jurymen are as sensible as justices of the peace, and frequently more so.

"The whole record of trials will show, if scrutinized, that juries are not prejudiced by previous knowledge of facts in the cases they decide.

"A far bigger point, however, is this: Are we going to allow J. P.'s to commit for trial or to release accused persons after secret investigations? What possible safeguard is there against the faulty administration of justice? Is the searchlight of publicity to be shut off?

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, July 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband and I have put down a deposit of $100 for purchase of a house. Our agreement is a written statement which the real estate man has, stating a certain amount of money, nothing exceeding that amount, a clear title to date, and possession by June 1, 1938, or we are not forced to buy. Now we learn that the title is in Probate court and will take longer to have it cleared and the cost is more than we agreed to pay.

1. Can we get our deposit back? The contractor, who has a $2,800 mortgage, has the deed.

2. Are we right in asking for the deed after a certain amount of money is paid?

3. How much will it cost to have a $3,000 mortgage changed? P. R.

1. In general, the seller cannot claim the deposit if he cannot produce the title in accordance with the contract. The question whether the broker will be entitled to his commission depends on whether the buyer had accepted the contract. In general, if a broker brings two parties together and each party is satisfied to accept the contract signed by the other party, then the broker has performed his job and is entitled to his commission even though one of the parties subsequently breaks his contract.

2. It seems probable that the contract contains express wording as to the time for demanding a deed.

3. We do not understand the question. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout, and we advise you to employ one now.

PROPERTY RIGHTS.

Chicago, July 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In the event of a second marriage when a man has children by the first, [1] what is the only safe way to put a building to assure the second wife full title to it? It is now in his name only. Also, regarding personal property, [2] does she inherit the full estate without a will or do the children have a right in that, with the second wife sharing in only one-third? C. C.

1. It is not clear whether you mean to make sure that she will have full title at his death if she survives him, or that she will have full title regardless of survivorship, or that she will have full title immediately. The choice between different courses depends in part on what different parties are willing to do. Unless you feel that a joint tenancy will fit your facts, it will be advisable to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

2. In absence of a will the property would be divided between the widow and the children. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID TAXES.

Downers Grove, Ill., July 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a home in Du Page county. My home is clear and I have no mortgage, but I haven't paid my taxes since 1932. My husband died and I haven't any money. Will you please tell me whether [1] they can sell my home for taxes?

2. How many years do they wait before they sell it? M. P.

1. Yes, they can. Two years are allowed for redemption from the tax sale. After that a tax deed will issue, which will be a more serious cloud on your title.

2. The tax sale could be held at once.

IMMIGRATION LAWS MUST STAND.

Oak Park, Ill., July 10.—A conference is in progress at Evian-les-Bains, France—a pleasant watering place—to find homes for thousands of political refugees—maybe millions.

Uncle Sam is represented by Myron C. Taylor, and Mr. Roosevelt was the initiator of the conference. Latest news indicates that seven other nations don't want and can't accommodate the refugees. So it seems up to our country.

But it is to be hoped that the United States will refuse to change our laws on restricted immigration.

The record of the last eight years proves beyond a doubt that we have ten million too many inhabitants in the country now.

Any lowering of the restrictions here would result in adding more millions to the relief hordes. G. G.

"YANKEE DOODLE'S" ORIGIN.

Maywood, Ill., July 8.—May I add a postscript to the story of "Yankee Doodle" published in the graphic section of last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE? My version is that it was written by an English officer during the French and Indian war, in the back yard of the Crailo, homestead of the Van Renssalaer family, opposite Albany, to ridicule the Colonials who took part in that conflict. Their ragged garments, in diverse patterns, were in a great contrast to the natty uniforms of the English troops.

Gen. Philip Schuyler, the real hero of the battle of Saratoga, most important of the entire revolution, married Catherine Van Renssalaer, and probably it was due to that relationship that "Yankee Doodle" was played when the troops, under Gen. Burgoyne, laid down their arms at Saratoga. Burgoyne's quarters at Saratoga were in the summer home of Gen. Schuyler, burned by Burgoyne when he evacuated the premises. Crailo was presented to the state of New York a few years ago and is now a memorial museum in charge of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The importance of the battle is attested by the inclusion of the battle of Saratoga in the "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World," by the historian, Creasy.

A WAY TO HASTEN JUSTICE.

Chicago, July 9. — What's the matter with Chicago? Keep Chicago ahead by having pre-trial courts here. Detroit and Los Angeles are having these pre-trial sessions.

Congestion in the courts will be ended, or at least lessened. Boston has tried it since 1935. Before Detroit tried the pre-trial session it took four years for a law case to reach trial. Today such cases are tried in less than ten months.

Investigate this weeding out of details before a case comes up for trial. We want to say honestly: "Chicago is not behind in anything constructive."

A CHICAGO FAN.

MORE LIGHT NEEDED.

Chicago, July 8.—Can anything be done about lighting 46th street from Drexel to Woodlawn avenue? During the last year at least ten purse snatchings have taken place, three or four holdups, and last night a neighbor was strong-armed by two young thugs in the 1000 block. We need more lighting or police protection, and as the latter has miserably failed in the Hyde Park district, please help us get more street lamps. D. D.

RECOMMENDS HIS HOBBY.

Chicago, July 9.—I have noted with amusement the storm in a teapot about misuse of the outdoor bathtub, sometimes called a model yacht basin, at 51st and the outer drive. I have never seen any two boatmen yet that could get along together harmoniously, even when they were in the water.

Now take an organization of model railroaders. There are probably 50,000 in the country, including member of the National Model Railroaders' association. We are composed of men and young men from all walks of life. We get along without any serious friction with the public we come in contact with at our exhibitions.

Furthermore, we don't horn in on the younger generation's play pens or bath tubs to utilize our models. We usually preëmpt the greatest part of the basement and build our railroad to suit ourselves. This method is of tremendous civic importance inasmuch as the better half cannot hang up her wash, except on our model telegraph poles or block signals, so she patronizes the laundry, thereby giving more employment to their workers. Another improvement resulting from our hobby is the transformation of a dark, dingy basement into a well lighted, clean, livable spot that is equally comfortable on cold winter nights or hot, oppressive summer evenings.

Better make a change for the better, you fresh water tars, and get into a real hobby that is growing every week—model railroading. H. L. ADAMS.

WOULD UPRISE AND REBEL.

Chicago, July 9.—I am head of a small corporation employing a number of people, but if this terrible tax situation keeps on we will soon be forced out of business and thus provide new prospects for relief.

Our city, county, state, and national taxes amount to so much that we are actually losing money every day by staying in business. I wish we could have the taxes and give the government the business.

We have had to employ an extra bookkeeper whose sole duty is to try to keep us from unintentionally doing something in tax matters which would subject us to heavy penalty or jail sentence. Believe me, this small corporation is seriously considering quitting business completely by just walking out and telling the government to take it. There are no words to properly describe the horror, the pain, the damnable, outrageous imposition of excess and unjust taxes we are asked to pay so that millions can loll around doing nothing, yet eat and sleep regularly at the expense of taxpayers.

Why don't we uprise and rebel so long and loud that even the deaf ears of Washington and its horde of grafters will hear and take to their holes and pull the holes in after them?

ALDERMAN CRIES TIN, SO CITY BANS HOUSES OF STEEL

Epithet Overrules Experts in New Building Code.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Steel houses, many building authorities predict, will provide through mass production methods the cheap, modern home of the future. But they are not for Chicago under its new building code, adoption of which will virtually be completed this week by the city council.

The fate of the steel house was typical of several innovations in building practice which won the approval of the expert commission appointed by Mayor Kelly to draft the code. It was killed with an epithet rather than arguments.

Hurl "Tin House" Charge.

The epithet was "tin houses." It was hurled by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of the council subcommittee on the building code, and its repeated use led to the striking out of the section on metal houses which the experts wrote.

Steel houses are admittedly in the experimental stage. This is recognized more clearly by engineers than by the general public. Introducing a technical paper on houses of lightweight steel, F. T. Llewellyn, research engineer of the United States Steel corporation, told a society of building technicians last fall:

"The last few years have witnessed many proposals for houses of steel to be built by the thousands, where the primary objective was to put unemployed men to work fabricating and erecting them; or to use prodigious tonnages of steel to keep steel mills busy; or to transform slums into garden spots.

"Many of these otherwise laudable sociological schemes were based on the insufficient assumption that the only technical requirement need be a floor plan or a bare sketch of a finished house, and a confident recital of the aims to be accomplished. The feasibility of construction or a breakdown of costs was seldom considered.

Raps "Inherited Requirements."

"Perhaps the eagerness with which individuals break into print on the subject of residence construction is understandable. Having inhabited houses, every one concedes himself to be an expert in the field. We frequently fail to recognize that habits established through centuries of history are not readily scrapped, and that the use of a new material such as steel for residence construction may be wrongfully hedged about with supposed requirements inherited from other materials of construction."

The experts appointed by Mayor Kelly hardly qualified as the sociological schemers mentioned by Mr. Llewellyn. All of them were technically trained in the building field. Recognizing that the design of metal housing is changing rapidly, they did not attempt to specify details rigidly as the code specifies them for other types of construction.

They wrote a second, covering noncombustible dwellings, which was included in the chapter on building types. Since steel is expensive, and must be used in thin sections to keep costs down, exterior walls of steel not less than a fortieth of an inch thick were permitted. The steel, of course, is only a skin in such houses, being backed by insulation, steel framing members, and interior walls.

But it was on this thickness of the metal home's skin that Ald. McDermott based his warcry of "tin houses" which resulted in rejection of the whole section.

Ban Cellular Steel Flooring.

Another lightweight steel material, cellular steel flooring, was also stricken from the code by the aldermanic subcommittee after the experts had approved it. This is a patented material, made by several companies, in which steel sections are corrugated and fastened together, leaving air spaces of several inches between the sections.

Concrete can be poured over it to make a fireproof flor, and a number of cities have authorized its use in fireproof buildings, including skyscrapers. Its advantages are that it makes a much lighter floor than poured concrete and that the air spaces provide a convenient means of distributing electrical wiring, water pipes, and other service facilities on the floor of a building.

While not all architects agree that it is suitable for general skyscraper use the majority of them concede its usefulness in alterations where light weight, because of the bearing capacity of the structure of an existing building, is at a premium, and for a number of other uses. The subcommittee refused to approve the material, however, on the argument that the patents might give a few makers a monopoly on the product.

Ex-Teller in Treasurer's Office Is Denied Freedom

Jack Chisholm, former teller in the Cook county treasurer's office, lost a battle yesterday for release from Joliet penitentiary. Habeas corpus proceedings brought in his behalf were denied by Judge Edwin L. Wilson in the Will county Circuit court at Joliet. Chisholm is serving a one to fifteen year sentence for embezzling $3,200 of county funds.

Masher Bandit Gets Year for Toy Pistol Holdups

Donald Ward, 26 years old, known to police as the toy pistol masher bandit, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court to a year in the Bridewell for petty larceny. He admitted robbing several women after they had accepted a ride in his car.

SEEK MISSING WOMAN, 90.

Calumet City police last night asked the Chicago department to look for Mrs. Agnes Swietlek, 90 years old, who has been missing from her home at 215 Pulaski road in the suburb since Monday noon. She was wearing a polka dot apron, black and white dress, and a black shawl.

Accidental death was the verdict yesterday in the case of Stephen Funsten Jr., 19 years old, of 8540 Bennett avenue, who was killed May 22 in an automobile accident. His death followed an attempt by Miss Jane Tinling, 16 years old, 2805 East 76th street, to kill herself in a tavern at 8428 Vincennes avenue.

Miss Tinling, who has recovered; and Claudia Drew, 17 years old, 7633 Coles avenue, and Bernice Bavchar, 18, 8036 Langley avenue, who were in the tavern party, testified.

Funsten and four others were driving Miss Tinling to a hospital when his automobile collided with one driven by James Montello, 40, of 1030 Union avenue, Chicago Heights, at 83d street and Rhodes avenue. Louis J. Uecker, the tavern owner, has been charged with manslaughter in connection with Funsten's death and his liquor license revoked.

JUDGE GIVES 15 IN FAMILY TIME TO FIND A HOME

Even Judge Leon Edelman in Renters' court agreed yesterday that it isn't easy to find a place for fifteen persons to live. Especially if you can afford only $15 a month.

Mrs. Lillian Panfil, the mother of twelve children, appeared in court with eleven of her children. The children, her husband, Louis, and her brother, Frank Cegielski, both WPA workers, all face eviction from a building at 4604 South Rockwell street owned by her sister.

The building, Mrs. Panfil told the court, formerly belonged to her mother, who died last November. A short time before her death she deeded it to the sister, Mrs. Mary Milewski, and since then the fourteen Panfils have paid $15 a month rent. At present they are two months in arrears, and Mrs. Malewski wants to sell the house.

"We'll move," Mrs. Panfil pleaded, "as soon as we can, but—"

CITY TO PUT 1907 BEACH SUIT LAW INTO MOTHBALLS

It took a long time to get around to this. A city council subcommittee headed by Ald. H. L. Brody [39th] recommended yesterday that the new municipal code permit women to put their 1907 bathing suits in mothballs.

The existing ordinance provides that ladies' beach costumes must have quarter arm sleeves, bloomers not shorter than four inches above the knee, and chest covering reaching at least as high as the armpits.

It was also urged that a section pertaining to agriculture be rescinded. It requirees that cabbage stalks be covered with earth a foot deep from October to April.

Award $35,100 Contract for New Police Station

The city council finance committee yesterday awarded a $35,100 contract for the erection of a new police station in the Gresham district at 8501 South Green street. The contract was let to Charles B. Johnson and Sons, Inc., 6 North Michigan avenue. The present structure was damaged several months ago by fire which was started by a spark from Commissioner Allman's automobile.

RUNS TO CATCH A STREET CAR; KILLED BY AUTO

Another Trafic Victim Dies After Collision.

Frank Vernon, 55 years old, of 4356 Calumet avenue, was killed by an automobile yesterday as he ran to catch a street car at 44th street and Indiana avenue. The automobile was driven by Esau Hillmann, 37 years old, of 4543 Indiana avenue. Both men were colored.

William Hakendorf, 50 years old, 2713 South Kedvale avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when his automobile and one driven by Joseph Bobula, 3346 North Odell avenue, collided at Harlem and Belmont avenues.

Case of Mistaken Identity.

With some difficulty, James Venirs, of 19 West 65th street, convinced Michigan City police yesterday that he wasn't dead. They had marked him dead on their records Monday when a young man carrying his chauffeur's license was killed there in his car. Venirs, who is 20 years old, went to the station and explained: He had lent the car and license to a friend. And it was the friend, Bernard Buwe, 19 years old, of 1550 East 63d street, who was killed.

Three women passengers on a bus were injured yesterday and six other passengers were shaken when a truck collided with the bus at Sheridan road and Briar place. Miss May Kaumeyer, 36 years old, 4607 Sheridan road; Mrs. Anna Cole, 42, 515 East 44th street, colored, and Miss Pearl Usher, 30, 434 East 45th street, colored, were taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital for treatment. The truck driver was Edward Swichtenberg, 1836 North Honore street.

Seeks Aid; Struck by Car.

Peter Carson, 52 years old, of 7755 South Morgan street, was severely injured when he tried to stop a passing motorist to ask aid for his own stalled car at 57th and Halsted streets. The automobile struck him and the motorist drove on. Carson was taken to the Evangelical hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 424 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 329 were killed in Chicago, where 9,716 were injured in the same period.

Authorize $19,000 for New Police and Water Cars

Expenditure of approximately $19,000 for thirty new police squad cars and seven service cars for the water pipe extension division was authorized yesterday by the city council finance committee.

TWO GET SIXTY DAYS IN JAIL AS UNSAFE DRIVERS

Walter Wals, 4749 Prairie avenue, and Odell Brown, 4023 Indiana avenue, both colored, were each sentenced yesterday to sixty days in the House of Correction by Judge Michael Kaspers in Safety court. Wals was charged with leaving the scene of an accident. Brown, who was riding with Wals, was charged with malicious mischief. Police said they had been drinking.

Joseph Pinc, 3020 South Kenneth avenue, was sentenced to five days in the county jail for reckless driving.

The driving privileges of Gus Kramer, 1607 East 75th street, were suspended for six months and he was placed on probation for reckless driving. Judson Lane, colored, 121 East 32d street, lost his license for a year for reckless driving. Frank Gillespie, 36, 3739 Iowa street, was placed on probation and lost his license for a year for driving while intoxicated.

JUDGE SAYS BEER MEANS BEER, NOT COLLAR OF FOAM

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green yesterday warned Chicago saloon keepers that the foam on a glass of beer is on the house. The collar, although it adds to the bouquet and enjoyment of the beverage, isn't part of the legal measurement.

When taverns advertise 16 ounces for a dime, he asserted, that means 16 ounces of beer under the cap of foam. An offer to sell 26 ounces must be fulfilled with that amount of beer and then the bartender is at liberty to put as big a collar on it as the glass, stein, or schooner allows.

With these admonitions, Judge Green dismissed charges of short measurement against five saloon keepers arrested by inspectors from the office of City Sealer James O'Keefe.

DRIVERS' LICENSE BECOMES A LAW WITHOUT TEETH

Governor Signs Financial Responsibility Act.

Gov. Henry Horner yesterday let the drivers' license bill become a law without his signature. He signed, however, the law making drivers financially responsible. He also approved three other measures passed by the recent special session of the legislature.

The drivers' license law requires motorists to get licenses by next May 1. By that time, the governor said, he hopes the legislature will correct defects which kept him from signing the bill. A $400,000 appropriation to carry out its provisions is invalid because it did not receive a two-thirds majority in the senate, he said.

Can't Drive Till He Pays.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, was present when Gov. Horner signed the other drivers' bill, also effective next May 1.

A driver convicted in a civil suit for damages loses his driving license until the judgment is paid and a liability insurance policy is posted to protect the public against any damages a second act of carelessness might cause.

The two laws will affect about 2½ million motorists in the state. Machinery will be set up in the next ten months to provide the licenses, costing 50 cents for three years. These can be revoked for serious offenses under the license law or under the financial responsibility law.

Signs Relief Diversion.

Gov. Horner also signed bills permitting Chicago to divert 2½ million dollars in state gas tax funds to relief, and increasing the state's relief contribution from 3½ millions to 3 million 900 thousand dollars a month. He expressed regret that the legislature refused to pass tax bills to replace the money taken from the state treasury.

He approved a bill providing increased salaries for downstate county judges. The new salaries will range from $1,800 a year to $6,000, according to the size of the county. Present salaries are from $1,620 to $5,400.

INDIANA LINEMAN KILLED.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 12.—[Special.]—William Zimmerman, 43 years old, of Hobart, Ind., was electrocuted today. He came in contact with a high voltage line while stringing wires for Northern Indiana Public Service company near Wheeler, west of here.

SUMMER VACATIONS (THE COURT'S) COME TO ALIMONY CELLS

Judges in the divorce courts began their customary task yesterday of clearing alimony row at the county jail for the summer court vacation. Judge John J. Lupe freed two prisoners from jail on their promise to make payments to their estranged wives. Three others were sent back to jail. Today Judge Philip J. Finnegan will hear from the seventeen men sent to alimony row from his court.

The two men released are Anton Mirowski of 2325 South Lawndale avenue, in arrears $600, and Edmund Orzechowski, 858 North Wolcott avenue, who is $145 in arrears. The three returned to jail are Charles Sweitzer, 3003 South Drake avenue; Walter Roelle, who formerly lived at 2430 North Normandy avenue, and Joseph Pokorny of 1528 Euclid avenue, Berwyn.

There are now thirty-nine men in alimony row, Warden Frank Sain said. During a court term this number sometimes reaches seventy-five, he said. It costs the county about $1 a day to keep them.

POLICE HUNT PAIR FOR SLAYING OF 2 WPA WORKERS

Police sought two men yesterday for the fatal stabbing of two WPA workers during a fight at Madison and May streets early in the day. The men slain were Michael Pykor, 23 years old, 1621 West 14th street, and Stanley Liesen, 27, of 317 South Throop street. Acting Captain Harry O'Donnell of the Des Plaines street station discounted reports that the slayer had stabbed the two men after begging for a dime. He said the WPA workers were walking in Madison street when they were jostled by two intoxicated men. One of the strangers drew a knife, stabbed Pykor and Liesen, and then fled with his companion.

THOSE WHO WENT TO THE 1893 FAIR HAVE BIG PARTY

Carnival concessions on the Midway. The last night when every one went wild and stayed up until daybreak. Little Egypt and her veils. The moving sidewalk. Visiting royalty.

These and many more recollections of the World's Columbian Exposition were talked over yesterday at the annual picnic of the Association of '93ers, those who visited Chicago's first world's fair. About 150 elderly persons attended the picnic on 63d street east of Stony Island avenue.

While they all had their favorite memories, there was one point on which all agreed. A Century of Progress in 1933 and 1934 was a small town carnival compared with the 1893 Fair, they said.

COLLEGE SETS TIME FOR TRAINS, GOALS FOR MEN

Carleton Upholds Religion with Sciences.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Northfield, Minn., July 12.—[Special.]—In 1878, twelve years after Carleton college was founded, Goodsell astronomical observatory was sending out the first electric time signals in the northwest, and since that time the railroads of this section have set their clocks from Northfield.

This, of course, deals with sidereal movements relative to this earth system, but Carleton in a larger sense may be said to have kept watch over the mystery of time. For time is something beside a flowing of things. It is to scholarship a fourth dimension, identical with space, and may have something to do with the meaning of the very word Carleton, which dates back to a Saxon manor and means "immortal," or "not for destruction."

New England in West.

The opening of new dimensions to youth, the ideal college resting upon eternal values, free minds searching for truth—these are the objectives of this prairie college which have been greatly sought for and largely attained. Dr. Donald J. Cowling, president of the college since 1909, has given as a part of his ideal for the institution the phrase "A New England college adapted to the needs and spirit of the west."

What can a boy from the city experience, for instance, in taking a geology course at Carleton and, under an able instructor, wandering on a summer day along beautiful Cannon valley and finding here fossil plants, algæ which grew in the tropical seas that covered this part of the earth some 300 or 400 millions of years ago.

Offers Study of Careers.

Aside from the stars and the plants and the earth record, Carleton offers a study in unique human minds, a department of biography, the first in the academic world. Here the explorer of new dimensions may learn what moved great Americans, from the time of Bradford to Wilson, or the human picture of Confucius, Paul, Erasmus, Plato, or Joan of Arc.

Another special course which is found at Carleton is that of international relations, where formative forces and tendencies in world politics are studied, where particular stress is given to the causes of war and how a more stable world order may be established. This was made possible by the gift of $500,000 a year ago by the late Senator Frank B. Kellogg, who also was secretary of state.

Speaks for Small Colleges.

Back of every great institution there is a man of force, in the flesh or in the spirit. Carleton today must be read through Dr. Cowling, the third president, who has built greatly in a material way and at the same time holds aloft for his college and all other small, independent colleges the banner of a free search for the truth, truth about the physical world, about the industrial, social and political life of mankind, and about the meanings and values represented by philosophy and religion. He has selected his teachers from among thousands and then given them complete freedom to teach what they believe to be true.

From his watch tower Dr. Cowling discerns a danger today to this type of institution, the danger of the encroachment of a regimented, politically controled thought system in America. He has expressed his own freedom by opposing the New Deal approaches to a federal department of education, and a general opposition to the growing interference of government in individual life. He has come out against the Farmer-Labor party in his own state, opposing their efforts to inject propaganda in state text books, actively entering the political field in support of the Republican candidate for governor.

Gets Further Help.

Carleton itself does not seem in any danger of being swamped. During the last two years, besides the Kellogg gift, it has had another half million from the general education board, bringing total grants from that foundation to well over a million, and also $200,000 from an unannounced donor. It is able to devote to educational service in the budget the sum of $285,397 a year. The college plant comprises about 800 acres, including a farm. These, with buildings and equipment represent an investment of about $4,000,000. With service properties of the college, such as dormitories and dining halls, and endowment, the total value of the plant is well over $7,500,000.

Easterner Start: It.

The name of the college was taken from an early donor, William Carleton of Charlestown, Mass., who gave $50,000 in the belief that it was the divine will to establish this institution.

The college is about at its limit now in students, and is turning away applicants. The enrollment this year was 834. Next year it will be 850. During the depression it dropped to 632. Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois furnish the majority of students, 133 coming from the Chicago area.

There are various Carleton clubs throughout the country, one in Chicago headed by Ellis C. Yale. Four honor societies have chapters on the campus.

Named for Educator.

Of the eighteen college buildings, one has been named in honor of the late Marion Le Roy Burton, president of the University of Michigan and a Carleton graduate of 1900. Carleton's faculty includes men of national distinction. Of the teaching staf forty-two out of seventy-three hold doctors' degrees. Twenty-two of the faculty are Phi Beta Kappas. Thirteen of the staf are ordained ministers, including President Cowling. Among the former members of the faculty are President Carter Davidson of Knox college, a Carleton product, and the late Dr. Allen Hoben, who started Kalamazoo college on its upward path; Dr. Luther A. Weigle, now dean of the divinity school at Yale, and Dr. John E. Boodin, author of "Cosmic Evolution," now professor of philosophy at the University of California.

Conscience Suicide

DR. JOSEPH SWINDT.

Chino, Cal., July 12.—[Special.]—Mental derangement caused the suicide of Dr. Joseph M. Swindt, Chino physician, who was found dead in an Olema, Cal., hotel room yesterday, in the opinion of his widow, Mrs. Janette Swindt. In a prepared statement issued by her brother-in-law, Carl Swindt, the widow said that Dr. Swindt had no real cause for worry and that he would never have taken his own life if he were in sound mind.

Dr. Swindt's body was found in the small hotel room two days after his mysterious disappearance from his home. He left a 3,000 word diary in which he accused himself of inadequate diagnoses and treatment of patients.

DISTRICT HEALTH CHIEFS TO PRESS WAR ON SYPHILIS

60 to Contact Infected and Urge Treatment.

Sixty district health officers were recruited yesterday to make effective the recent city-wide tests for syphilis.

Working under the direction of the board of health, they will contact all known syphilitics who have not sought treatment since learning they were infected. Such persons will be urged to place themselves under the care of reputable physicians and clinics.

58,470 Volunteers Tested.

The board announced 58,470 volunteers have been tested in six months. At least 5 per cent have had positive blood tests, indicating a syphilis infection.

The extent to which the venereal disease division's work has increased since the beginning of the anti-syphilis campaign is indicated by the number of syphilis tests made in the city laboratory. In the first six months of this year, the laboratory analyzed 157,276 blood specimens, compared to 43,909 for the corresponding six months of 1937. This was an increase of 350 per cent.

Two Years Compared.

Following is a comparison of syphilis cases reported by the board of health clinics, private physicians, and private clinics during the first half of 1937 and 1938:

	—1937—		—1938—
Source—	All cases.	Infectious cases.	All cases.	Infectious cases.
Board of health	2,886	536	3,423	418
Physicians	1,275	258	1,765	217
Private clinics	2,709	412	2,041	129
Totals	6,870	1,206	7,229	764

From the standpoint of preventing the disease's spread the infectious cases are most important, said Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. Medical treatment quickly renders them noninfectious. The table shows a general decline in the number of infectious [early] cases reported. Syphilis experts take this as an indication that the rate of spread is declining.

Most in Latent Stages.

Syphilitics discovered in the drive have been to a great extent in the latent or late stages where contagion is no longer present.

The reason the city clinics gained 537 cases and the private physicians 490, whereas the private clinics dropped by 668, is believed by some officials to be economic. If a patient can pay he will go to a physician, many of whom have lowered their fees to compete with private clinics. If he can't pay the city clinic gets him.

Juliana, Holland's Crown Princess, Awaits 2d Baby

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 12.—After dismissing rumors without comment for two weeks, court officials admitted today that Crown Princess Juliana is expecting a second baby. Though no date has been hinted, it was not expected before February. The country waited anxiously for about a month before the first child, Princess Beatrix, was born Jan. 21 of this year. Princess Juliana was reported to be in good health.

CLEANING FLUID HE MISTOOK FOR GIN COSTS LIFE

Rockford, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—E. George Swanson, 48 years old, a salesman for a Chicago mortuary supply company, died here today after drinking a chemical sometimes used as a cleaning fluid. It is believed he mistook the fluid for gin. He regained consciousness shortly before he died and told police he made such a mistake in Milwaukee a week ago.

A glass containing some of the fluid was found in the room he had occupied at the Faust hotel. Because carbon tetrachloride causes congestion of the blood vessels, authorities first believed Swanson had been beaten and started a search for a young woman with whom he registered in the hotel July 2.

Swanson was married and made his home in Minneapolis. He was employed by the Undertakers Supply company, 123 South Racine avenue, Chicago.

The bill alleged that the physician failed to give the fire truck right of way. The firemen, all of Harvey, are Floyd Pass, Carl W. Stanger, Clinton Teagarden, and Ellis G. Feldman.

The Public Works administration yesterday allocated $600,000 to the war department for further widening of the Little Calumet river from Lake Calumet to the Blue Island lock, which connects the river with the Sag channel. Capt. S. N. Karrick, United States district engineer, said the war department has spent $1,376,000 to widen the river channel to 220 feet and that the new grant will pay for widening it to 300 feet. The channel will be used by barge trafic entering the proposed Calumet terminal of the lakes-to-gulf waterway.

Chicago Group Enjoys Season at Nantucket

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE second week of July finds the activities of the summer colony well under way at Nantucket, the pleasant island resort thirty miles off the Massachusetts coast, where a number of Chicago families spend the warm weather months. Adding to the gayety of the island parties are two young women who are to be introduced into adult social circles in Chicago this year, Miss Adelaide Taylor and Miss Dorothy Counselman.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield Taylor have leased a place on the island for July and August. Mrs. Taylor and their debutante daughter are in Nantucket now and Mr. Taylor joins them as often as possible. In September the Taylors will come to Lake Forest to spend a month at their home, at which time they will give a party for Miss Taylor, who already has made a formal bow in Washington. Miss Taylor has entered Bryn Mawr college.

No definite debut plans have been made for Miss Counselman, who is spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers, at their home in India street. Also at Nantucket is another young woman who possibly may make her debut this year, Molly Hill. She and her father, Cyrus Hill, and younger sister, Diana, often are to be found on the Yacht club tennis courts. The elder Miss Hill, who just was graduated from the Shipley school, is expected to be a leading contender for the girls' tennis title in the Nantucket tournament for junior boys and girls which is starting today.

As soon as they are able to get away Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell will go to their island home on Brant Point. Col. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, who are occupying the famous old whaling master's residence which they purchased several years ago, and the Frederick P. Boyntons, whose place is at Siasconset, are settled already on the island for the summer.

Western Dinner to Be Served Tonight.

The William A. Ryans and Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. French are entertaining at an old fashioned western dinner as prepared by Arizona Dan Kennedy from his chuck wagon tonight on the picnic grounds of the John Hurleys' estate in Wheaton. Arizona Dan is a familiar figure to Chicagoans who holiday at the Camelback Inn, in Arizona, and his arrival in Chicago always is the signal for several parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell are entertaining at cocktails tomorrow afternoon for her cousin, Miss Katharine Carr, and Robert Henze of Austria, who are to be married the afternoon of July 23 at St. Chrysostom's church.

George R. Carr, his daughter and her fiancé, and another daughter, Mrs. Peter G. Moon, and Mr. Moon, returned from Europe on Monday. Miss Carr is staying with her brother-in-law and sister, who have just moved into the apartment at 21 East Elm street which was made ready for them before their wedding last April. Mr. Henze and Mr. Carr are stopping at the Chicago club. Mr. Carr's apartment has been closed for the summer.

Margaret Forgan Sets Wedding Date.

The date for the wedding of Miss Margaret Louise Forgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan of Lake Forest, to Robert B. Upham Jr., son of the Robert B. Uphams, has been set for the afternoon of Sept. 24. The wedding will take place in the garden of the Forgan home, weather permitting, with a reception following.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Poor (Betty Durham) who are visiting her parents, the Raymond E. Durhams, in Hubbard Woods, are sailing on the 27th for South Africa where Mr. Poor is to be the United States vice consul at Johannesburg. Johannesburg is a lively and sophisticated city, with 30 golf courses in the environs and a tennis court for nearly every home. Mrs. Poor is taking enough pretty things with her to see her through the two years or so they expect to spend there.

Sally Issues Last Call for Film Letters

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Tomorrow's Thursday, and my guests at our private projection room party will be selected bright and early, so if you hope to be included you'd better get busy.

Fifty boys and fifty girls will be my guests at our special movie party on July 21, and they'll see two of their favorite stars, Freddy Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney in an exciting and interesting story. It's about the youngsters who are trained to become officers on some of the biggest ships in the world. The boys have a grand time playing sailor, tying knots, climbing masts, and doing all sorts of fascinating things.

In addition to seeing an excellent movie Mr. Bishop of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, producers of the picture, has arranged a private screening for us, which means that we will go to a miniature theater and the film will be screened just for our party.

If you've not already done so, just write a letter, telling in your own words why you think you'd like this party, and if your letter is convincing enough, maybe you'll see your name listed as a winner in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Remember, that you must write your own letter in order to be a winner, and you may not ask for invitations for friends or relatives. Have them write, too, if they wish to come. Be sure your letter includes your full name, address, and age. That's easy enough to do, isn't it?

All the address you need is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This probably sounds like treason, coming from one who makes cosmetics her business, but it is perfectly true that we wouldn't give you two tinpins for six out of every eight powder bases that come our way. Maybe we're allergic or something to them. So when we find one we use faithfully it's news.

We have found just such a one. We got some one else who is a confirmed foundation-hater to try it too and she can't be kept off the soap box in singing its praises. This has been on the market for several months. We haven't told you of it before because we couldn't trust our own early enthusiasm. But we still think it is tops for dry skin and we continue every day to be grateful we tumbled on to it.

This is like a heavy paste in texture. It comes in only two shades. The trick in using it as a powder base is to use very little. Just the tiniest bit on a finger tip will do for your nose. And that nose stays powdered! Not only that but the skin surface is given the smoothest, most velvety finish you've ever seen. We have never found a base quite like this for dry skin. It doesn't seem to film it obviously—because it spreads with miraculous smoothness—but it has the divine quality of making dry skin look satin smooth.

This can be used as a makeup without powder if you're regular featured and are flattered by a lustrous base. This is often especially handsome on women with snow white hair and fair skin.

But its big rôle is as a powder base. It is perfect in that rôle.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Edith Mason Is Cheered by Record Throng

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Grant park all but sank back into the lake last evening when those man-made acres east of the railroad tracks were called upon to bear the weight of the greatest crowd which Chicago's 1938 concert season has yet produced. The lure which drew these tens of thousands out into the sky-roofed auditorium was Edith Mason.

In a more magical twilight than the best theatrical brains have ever been able to devise, even for the closing minutes of "Faust's" garden scene, Miss Mason launched into a sequence from the earlier part of the act. The innocent little "King of Thule" led to the "Jewel Song" and that to a burst of applause.

For there may have been people in last evening's audience whose thoughts were carried back by this music and this soprano to a December evening of seventeen years ago when Edith Mason sang her first Marguerite here in the company of Muratore, Defrere, and Baklanoff. Certainly there were not many in Grant park who harbored sentimental memories of later Mason Marguerites for the rôle has been entrusted to her no less than twenty times by successive Chicago companies. For years the Mason-Hackett or Mason-Maison "Faust" was standard here.

With a lovely and highly personalized performance of "Batti, Batti, O bel Masetto," Miss Mason last evening brought back another flood of recollections to the opera hounds scattered through the park. For to her went the rôle of Zerlina in the 1926 revival of "Don Giovanni," a performance glorified by Raisa, Schipa, Vanni-Marcoux, Lazzari, and Kipnis. In fact, operagoers of the more sentimental type must have had a dreadfully tearful time last night, for Miss Mason's "The Last Rose of Summer" could hardly fail to evoke memories of the long line of "Marthas" which began back in the season of 1922-'23 [Bourskaya, Schipa, Rimini, and Trevisan] and has continued right up to December of 1937 [Glade, SCHIPA, RIMINI, TREVISAN!]. The air from Boito's "Mefistofele" may have been a poignant reminder of the fact that Miss Mason and the late Claudia Muzio had divided the rôle of Margherita between them throughout the entire local history of this opera.

But one of the most interesting events of the evening has not yet been so much as mentioned. Graziella Polacco, daughter of Miss Mason and of that very Giorgio Polacco who conducted the first Mason "Faust" in Chicago, came upon the stage to play the piano for her mother during the performance of "The Last Rose of Summer." She is 13 years old—an attractive, chestnut haired, musicianly girl who is already two inches taller than her parent.

Feathers Used for Accents on Newest Styles

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The stores and shops offer happy opportunities to revive a summer wardrobe. For unbelieveable prices you can buy yourself clothes for any occasion. There are plenty of thin blacks for street wear, all kinds of sleek white models for daytime, and the best of the colored chiffons made into two piece street combines or equally simple dresses with the briefest of sleeves. All these are offered during the current summer sales.

New finds are feathered . . . if the first few inklings of what we will wear for early fall mean anything you should watch feathers not only on rather startling new high hats but on dresses. See the just unpacked midsummer evening outfits for proof!

One thin dull black crêpe is made with a form revealing streamline with the skirt swirling around the floor. And around the edge of the skirt is fashion's last gasp . . . a fluffy band of shiny black coq feathers. Included is a rib hugging hip length jacket with long fitted sleeves. The neckline of the gown is high and square cut, with two handsome jeweled clips for accent.

If you like your dinner and evening gowns without benefit of jacket, cape, or bolero, try your likes and dislikes on some stunning princess line charmers that are all line and nothing but line. The material is of filmy texture, either dull or sheen. The princess line is achieved with numerous gores. And around the top of the heart shaped bodice is a band of colored coq feather. Vivid crimson feathers are used against a dull white gown, jade green with sapphire blue and a dusty pink band with full black. These arrivals are new and daring as to outline and will take all the extra pennies from the appreciative shoppers.

1,500 to Play in Accordion Band at Fete

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Patrons of the ninth Chicagoland Music Festival, to be held Aug. 20 in Soldiers' field, will see and hear the largest band of piano-accordions ever massed together. There will be 1,500 instruments.

Arrangements for this gigantic massed band were made yesterday by twenty-one teachers of the instrument who met in the festival headquarters, room 1418 of Tribune Tower. Many of these directors drove in from Chicagoland towns 200 miles away.

Capt. Howard Stube, chairman of instrumental contests of the festival, will be in charge of the band. The group will play two numbers, "The Swallow" and the "Sharpshooters March." Rehersals will be held Aug. 19 in the evening and the afternoon of the festival.

The following out of town teachers were present yesterday: Forrest Keiser and Arden Craven of Battle Creek, Mich.; Ray E. Bannon of La Salle, Ill.; Charles Molnar of East Chicago, Ind.; Roy Wells of Cleveland, O., and Dorothy Wagner of Garrett, Ind.

Those from Chicago were: Frank Werk, Peter Novak, Paul I. Heestand, T. L. Hoff, Fred G. Jaeger, Dan E. Hopballe, Mrs. Alfred Feitz, Mrs. Lillian Morin, Mrs. Thomas Kosatka, Sid Harris, Miss Grace Prince, Clee Post, Frank J. Kadlec, John Amedio, and Walter G. Strait.

Teachers who were not able to attend the meeting yesterday may get in touch with the festival management in Tribune Tower.

The Urbana, Ill., preliminary vocal contest will be held at 7:30 p. m. July 30 in the Smith Memorial Music hall of the University of Illinois.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

IF—

Hollywood, Cal., July 12.—If Howard Hughes hadn't been an unusual child of an unusually rich man, page one would not be as exciting as he and his companions have made it, at the moment. As between the wealthy Hughes and the wealthier Barbara Hutton, there can be little doubt that his contributions to page one are more worth while.

Hollywood is proud of Hughes' magnificent flight, and not very startled by it. They figured he'd do it, because the movie crowd always has had a great deal of respect for his long range judgment.

The shrewdest traders in the movie colony have tried to separate Hughes from his money at various times. Hughes, using his partial deafness as an excuse for asking them to repeat their propositions over and over again, has worn the canniest of them down to a frazzle. They could not stand against his maddening deliberation.

Hollywood was not surprised when he landed at Le Bourget, because his deliberate methods remove the "ifs" even from a trans-Atlantic hop.

If Clark Gable hadn't had enough gumption to take an unpleasant rôle in "Dance, Fools, Dance" in 1930, his rise to stardom would have been delayed several years.

Hunt Stromberg offered the part to Lew Cody. Cody read it and turned it down on the grounds that it would make people dislike him too much. Stromberg offered the part to Edmund Lowe, who also turned it down hastily on the same grounds.

Stromberg then turned to third string Gable and asked him to read it. "You've got to play the part of a ruthless killer," Stromberg warned him. Gable read it and thought it was an actorproof part, accepted it eagerly. He became a star overnight.

If Warners' had not removed Gloria Stuart from Reinhardt's Hollywood bowl production of "A Midsummer's Night's Dream," Olivia de Havilland very possibly would not be a ranking glamour girl today. Olivia, through Gloria's enforced default, got the "fat" part of Hermia, and became a star.

If Carole Lombard and John Barrymore hadn't hit it off royally during the making of "Twentieth Century," Barrymore wouldn't have had the chance for a comeback on which he has capitalized so magnificently. But Lombard liked Barrymore, and Barrymore liked Lombard, and she was the only one who could tell him off and get away with it.

When she made "True Confessions," she asked that Barrymore's part as the mad lawyer be fattened up, and made an important character. Barrymore just about stole the picture and was signed for five other pictures in a row.

If Margaret Kies of Dubuque, Ia., had not developed a very British accent, and told a white lie, there would be no Margaret Lindsay today. Because when Fox picked an all-British cast for "Cavalcade," Margaret Kies of Dubuque passed herself off as an English girl and won the rôle.

If movie fans hadn't been quick of perception, and equally generous with their appreciation, Robert Taylor wouldn't be a star today. Taylor appeared briefly in one of Metro's "Crime Doesn't Pay" series. His name wasn't even listed on the program credits, as all players in this series are anonymous.

Fans started deluging the studio with their demands to know the name of the boy in the picture. M-G-M, impressed by the mail from every section of the country, gave him some important rôles. That's how he became a star. Next time you see some youngster in a picture who impresses you, write to his studio and tell 'em. That's how stars are born.

If Tyrone Power hadn't stirred fan mail, for instance, he never would have been given the romantic lead in "Lloyds of London," the picture that made him a star. Zanuck, impressed by the fan mail which Power had aroused in "Girls' Dormitory," insisted that he be given the lead in "Lloyds of London."

The brain cabinet at the 20th Century-Fox argued the point with Zanuck. "All I know is that the girls like him," said Darryl. "That's good enough for me."

If Mrs. Rudolph Valentino hadn't seen a picture of Fanchon and Marco Chorine Myrna Williams, in the lobby of Grauman's Chinese theater, there wouldn't be any Myrna Loy today. It was the former Natacha Rambova who put Myrna in pictures as an exotic half-caste.

Lobby displays generally don't mean a thing, but in this case a lobby display made a picture star. Today the only lobby display at Grauman's Chinese are footprints, kneeprints, and handprints.

If Myrna Loy, incidentally, hadn't gone on a sitdown strike at M-G-M for more dough there wouldn't be any Luise Rainer. Studios, to force a player to abandon a strike for dough, dig up a performer who looks like her and expresses the same appeal. Luise Rainer, brought in as a strikebreaker, clicked in "Rendezvous" and went on to win two academy awards.

If Jane Bryant hadn't decided to have a hamburger sandwich in a Hollywood drive-in eatery she wouldn't have met Jean Muir, sitting in the next car. Miss Muir, impressed by the youngster's face and eyes, gave her a rôle in one of her workshop theater plays and asked Warners to send out a talent scout. At the moment the hamburger has led Miss Bryant to a rôle in the next Bette Davis flicker.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness, and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Alex's efforts to help Mena inspire her with a neurotic passion. Vernon has a heart attack in Isobel's room. She calls Alex away from Anne to help her get Vernon secretly to his own suite. Misunderstanding Alex's interest in Isobel, Anne allows Neil to kiss her. Mena sees them. A quarrel ensues and Anne moves to another room. Then Mena tells Alex about the incident and he believes Anne loves Neil.

INSTALMENT XXI.

AN OPTIMISTIC PROPOSAL.

Alex left Mena and walked through to the smoke room. The so-and-so he thought, the damned hypocritical prude. But Anne, the magical Anne hauling down her colors, wasting the marvel of her personality on a man whose supplementary career was the conquest of women! He joined the rainy morning throng at the bar—"double brandy, steward—thanks, no soda—"

Anne came in with Neil as he sat there trying to restore his emotional equilibrium with a strong dose of logic. After all, Neil could help her with his money—back her and take care of her so she need never accept worthless parts. Anne came to him with a little package in her hand—"bring your drink to our table, Alex. I have something to show you."

He glanced at it. "For those who like blonde heads stuffed with straw, perhaps she is—"

Anne laughed at him. "Now that's quite catty. More like Isobel. Not at all like you, Alex."

"Isobel's all right," he said a little stiffly, "one of the best when you get to know her. And that reminds me, I have a date with her around about this time."

He got up and left them.

"Funny," said Neil when he had gone. "Never knew him like that before. Love perhaps. But Isobel Butler—not the girl I would have picked for him—even for a ship's affair. But it's nice to be alone. Let's get out in the air. I want to talk to you."

They were steaming out of the rain. A few miles forward of the bows the clouds ended and the blue spread to the horizon. On the port side a black funnel of cloud slanted from the ceiling to the sea.

"Life would be like that to look at," remarked Neil, lighting his pipe, "if one could ever stand far enough away from it."

"What? That pillar of cloud?"

"No. The whole firmament. We're in the rain. We've left worse rain behind. But we can see we'll soon be out. Steaming directly into the blue."

"You're an optimist, aren't you?"

"Everything?"

"So far." He was looking down smiling at her with his blue eyes full of fire. "That's why I'm going to marry you."

Anne was genuinely startled.

"It's so preposterous asking me to marry you when you don't know anything about me."

"I know everything I want to know. Kisses superb. Health A-1. Intelligent, lively, teachable, companionable. Affectionate, warm-hearted, passionate—"

Anne wrenched her arm away. He strode after her laughing. "You hate the truth, don't you? I thought you could take it."

She halted. "I can. I'm all those things. But not for you!"

"Not quite what I meant. You don't like to face the fact that a man can pick his wife with his eyes open."

"I should think he'd be a fool to do it any other way. I would certainly pick my husband that way myself——"

"I'm willing Anne. Let's find a secluded corner and I'll tell you everything about me that you haven't found out for yourself."

She began to admire him. "Really Neil, I'm not going to change my mind. But it's only because I have a very strong reason. You deserve to get the wife you want."

Neil Andrews was not discouraged. He regretted the delay because he could not repeat last night's kiss soon enough. But he did not consider it any more than a delay. He knew Anne was going to say yes.

He glanced in at the drawing room windows as they passed. "Hello! What's the matter with Mena? Look for yourself—"

Anne leaned over and peeped in. Mena was sitting with her back to the passengers scattered about the room, knitting, playing cards or reading. Unaware that she could be observed, she sat letting the tears run slowly down her face, still at the writing table where Alex had left her.

Anne withdrew, completely bewildered. "I don't know. I don't think I'd better go to her. But except for when we were children, I don't remember ever seeing her cry before."

Mena appeared at luncheon sullen and silent. All trace of tears were gone and she made no attempt to speak to Anne. In fact, did not even trouble to conceal from the others at the table her offensive open hostility.

During the afternoon she behaved in an odd manner, appearing and disappearing—restless and apparently unable to settle for two minutes in one place. Actually she was trying to catch Alex alone, but Isobel Butler was always with him. Alex had no advantage to gain now by avoiding Isobel. He knew that her affections—such as they might be—were engaged elsewhere, and as solitude offered nothing but opportunity for self-pity and introspection, he was only too glad to be taken out of himself.

But the watchful Mena eventually found her opportunity after dinner when the majority of the passengers crowded into the drawing room to see the movies. Isobel never missed one. Mena saw Isobel come in and find herself a seat. Neil and Anne came in too. Alex would surely be alone now. She waited till the lights went out and the picture began, then she went out. She knew where she would find him.

They had left the rain behind long ago and were steaming under clear stars. The moon was not up and the boatdeck was heavy with shadows. Mena went through the forbidden gate to where a red light glowed over the door of the radio cabin.

She went past it and between the lifeboats. The dark bulk of a man was sitting in one of the wicker chairs. There was a smell of pipe tobacco. "Is that you, Alex?" she whispered.

There was no escape for him now. He said shortly, "It's me, sure enough."

She sat down in the chair Anne used to sit in, and in which Alex had just been imagining Anne was still sitting, with her supple grace and her warm impetuous charm. "You remember what I said to you this morning, Mena?" he said coldly.

"Yes, I remember. That's what I came to you for. If you'll be the same to me as you were—I will."

He was still cold. "That isn't the thing. It's not a question of making a bargain. You have to realize that you're at fault and mean it. Otherwise the apology has no significance and your change of heart won't last."

"Very well. I will do as you say and I will mean it." She hurried on as if the words had no importance to her. "And now will you be to me just the way you were?"

"Certainly, Mena. Though I have never been anything more than merely polite to you."

"That's not true, Alex. You're still angry with me. You won't forgive me. You appreciated me. You understood me. You said I had charm like other girls. That means you care for me. That isn't being merely polite—"

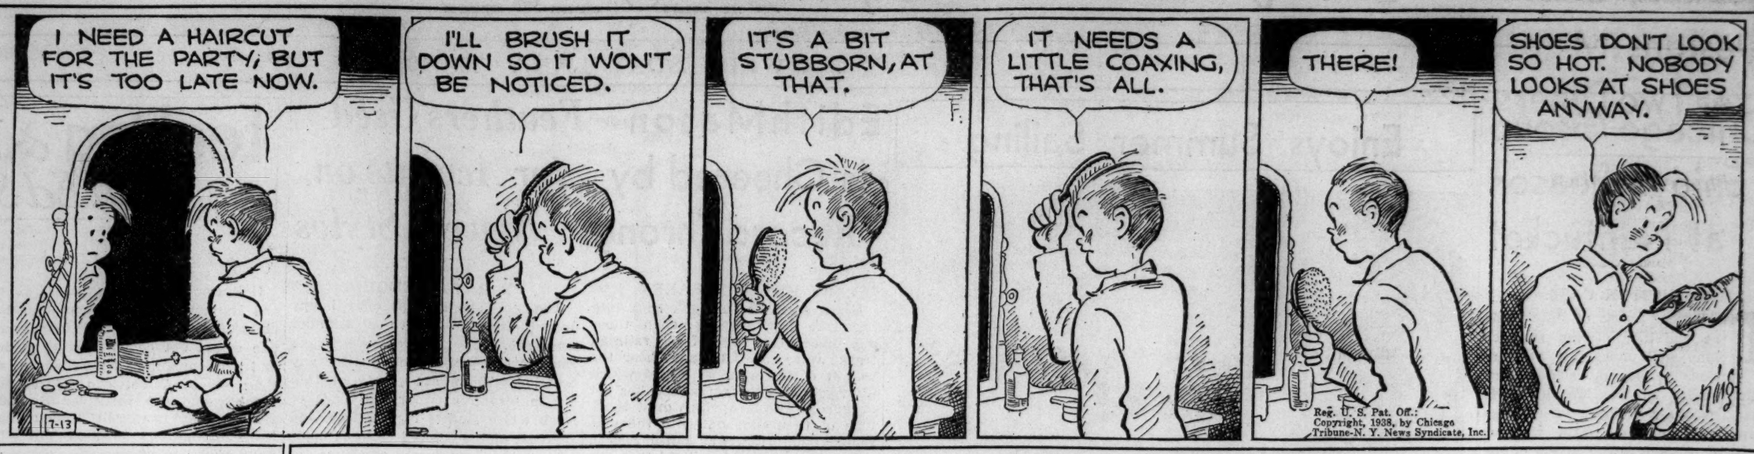
GASOLINE ALLEY—FINAL INSPECTION



WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Clean-Up

Accidents to Children Can Be Prevented

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Summer with all its delights has also some perils, especially for the young child who is given a good deal of freedom.

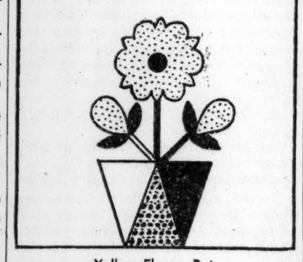
Probably the biggest need for watchfulness comes around water. And it doesn't have to be the Atlantic ocean or the Mississippi river to hold potential peril. A lake, a pond, or even a deep brook is no place to let a little girl or boy play without a grownup eye upon him or her.

There are other country hazards. Quick mud or quicksand is one. Farm implements and some farm animals are dangerous to children.

And poison ivy can produce weeks of real misery for any human being. Its cure and even its relief is problematical. Prevention is the motto. And the first step in prevention consists of recognizing the villainous plant when you see it.

"Books of the Outdoor World," is the name of a leaflet of interest to parents and children. It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

TODAY'S QUILT



Yellow Flower Pot.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Yellow Flower Pot" does not have a name indicative of a historical background, but it has been one of the favorite applique designs for the last seventy years among old and young alike.

Eighty-nine by 106 inches are the overall measurements of a coverlet containing thirty applique blocks set together with 2 inch bands and finished with a 3 inch border and a ½ inch bias binding.

Chicago Is Ready to Welcome Swedish Royalty Tomorrow

Gosta Oldenburg, Swedish consul, and chairman of the Chicago New Sweden tercentenary committee, yesterday announced final plans for the visit of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, Crown Princess Louise, and his son, Prince Bertil. The royal party arrives tomorrow morning to spend three days in Chicago.

More than 1,000 representative Chicagoans will welcome the royal guest and their party at a banquet Friday evening at the Stevens hotel. Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and Ira Nelson Morris, former United States minister to Sweden, will welcome the visitors and the crown prince will respond.

American women for nearly 100 years have set the women of Sweden an example of independence and progressiveness, Mrs. Maja Sandler, wife of the Swedish minister of foreign affairs, told members of the Woman's City club yesterday at a tea given for her.

I always have been certain that cooking for two persons is much more difficult than cooking for four or six; that is, if the cook prepares a full meal, not just a makeshift, as often is her inclination when there are only two mouths to feed.

Most standard recipes are planned for four or six and must be cut down when cooking for two. Marketing doesn't offer the bargains to the small family that it does to those buying in larger quantities. And there usually are problems of left-over food in the small household, too.

The two person family often is neglected by menu planners and, since I have been guilty of such neglect for some time, today's short cut dinner has been planned for two.

SHORT CUT DINNER FOR TWO.
Broiled Lamb Chops
Parsley Potatoes
Baked Tomatoes Filled with Canned Corn
Cantaloupe and Sweet Cherry Salad
Poppyseed Rolls [Bakery]
Cooked Fresh Plums
Coconut Macaroons
Iced Coffee

Market Order.
2 lamb chops
1 pound tomatoes
1 can whole kernel corn
1 cantaloupe
1 pound sweet cherries
4 rolls
½ dozen plums

There will be tomatoes left for a salad tomorrow, enough cantaloupe for breakfast, and cherries for another meal, too. What corn isn't used in the tomatoes may be served hot with butter for tomorrow's lunch.

The macaroons might be first in order of preparation, since they require a slow oven, and more heat is needed for the food which is to be served hot.

Coconut Macaroons for Two.
[Makes Eight or Nine.]
1 egg white, beaten stiff
4 tablespoons sugar
6 tablespoons coconut
⅛ teaspoon almond extract

Beat the sugar gradually into the stiffly beaten egg white. Add coconut and flavoring. Drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper on a baking sheet. Bake at 300 to 325 degrees for 20 minutes or until done. Cool slightly, dash cold water on the underside of the paper on which the cookies were baked, and remove them with a spatula.

Leave the skins on the tomatoes while baking them to hold them in shape. Add a little butter to the top of each, when they've been hollowed and filled with corn. Bake in a greased pan in a moderate oven until the tomatoes are soft.

To make the salad slice the cantaloupe and pit the cherries. Arrange them in a pretty pattern on lettuce or other greens and top with a dab of mayonnaise or fruit salad dressing.

City's French Colony Will Celebrate Fall of Bastille Tomorrow

Chicago's French residents and their friends will celebrate Bastille day tomorrow. The French holiday commemorates the fall of the Bastille, grim old Paris prison in which the French kings kept their foes, on July 14, 1789.

At 2:30 o'clock the play "Napoleonette," will be presented by the Theatre International players in Curtiss hall, Fine Arts building. In the evening there will be a banquet and ball at the Webster hotel. The celebration will be in charge of Rene Weiller, French consul general.

Shirtwaist Dress Styled Anew

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

Season in, season out, the shirtwaist dress is a prime favorite. Misses, especially, like the trim lines of this style of frock, and each year designers add some new touch to the tried and true style to adapt it to current fashion demands. The dress illustrated today is styled for women and girls who wear junior sizes 11 to 19. There are narrow panels down the center front which end in trim little plaits. The waistline is snug, the bodice is figure fitted, the sleeves are squared at the shoulderline, and the high neckline may have a regulation collar or be cut down a bit in a scalloped line. There is a pocket on the waist, too, into which you can tuck a contrasting hanky.

Figured and plain fabrics share fashion honors this season, and the illustration shows you how effective each can be. There is a perky hat style, too, the pattern for which is No. 2778. It's available for 10 cents extra, and fashions a poke bonnet headpiece to match your dress.

Style No. 2107 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The opportunity for safe and sound hoax bidding does not arise very often. Of course, almost any hand can be bid "fancily," but most psychic or shift bids are either purposeless or unduly dangerous. When the conditions are just right, however, certain holdings lend themselves beautifully to the type of trap bidding used by West in the following deal.

East, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 8 4
♥ K J 7 6 2
♦ 9 4

WEST
♠ J 7
♥ 8 3
♦ A K Q J 5 2

EAST
♠ 10 6 5 3 2
♥ 9 5 4
♦ 8 7

SOUTH
♥ A Q 10
♦ 10 6 3
♣ A Q 4 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	3 no trump	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Although I fully appreciate West's method of maneuvering his vulnerable opponents into a cul-de-sac, I think he bore down a little too hard and jeopardized his own coup by his double. But perhaps he knew his opponents better than I do. Holding North's hand, any good player might "fall for" the two club bid and, vulnerable against the nonvulnerable overcall, might decide to go out for a no trump game rather than even show the heart suit. But the double of three no trump should have struck North as quite a surprise, and in that sense should have awakened deep suspicion. Obviously, West could not be doubling on a club suit and, since North had the kings of spades and hearts, it was equally sure he could not be counting on a solid major suit. The diamond suit, however, was wide open from North's point of view and should have created a healthy uneasiness. South could not be blamed for staying in three no trump because, suspicious or not, he had no other place to go. North, however, had a good five card major suit and, as I have said, once his suspicions were aroused [which apparently they were not] should have spoiled West's coup by running to four hearts. All this reasoning, however, is beside the point of what actually happened.

West dashed off his six diamond tricks with more than a suspicion of gloating while his partner, who had been in the depths of despair, took a new lease on life and fawned upon him as upon a genius.

As I have said, West's coup, up to but not including his double, was shrewd and at the same time comparatively safe. Note that West chose a lower ranking suit for his feint. If he were doubled, or if his partner persisted in raising clubs, West always could overcall at the same level with his solid diamond suit. If, by any chance, the two club bid were passed all around this would not be calamitous, since West was not vulnerable and would lose only 50 per trick.

There is one additional virtue to this type of bid. If West had passed, hoping that the opponents would go on in no trump, North might have squashed this hope by jumping to three hearts, which would have been raised to four by South. The tendency of most players, when no trump has been overcalled with a suit which they themselves have under good control, is to raise no trump rather than take out to another suit. West's type of ruse capitalized this tendency.

At this point, however, I had better warn readers that the one irreplaceable ingredient of success is not to overdo this sort of thing. Thus West will not be able to make another of these coups for a long, long time against these same opponents.

Urgent Plea for Beds.

A worker from a south side district has sent an urgent request for a single and a double bed complete for a family. At present there are four children sleeping on one bed with the mother, who is extremely ill. She has been an invalid for the last five years. The father is dead. The family is dependent upon a charitable organization which cannot provide such items.

The Housewife

Did you know that the housewife lifts an iron more than 200 times while doing the average family ironing? The ordinary iron weighs about 4½ pounds, which means she lifts 900 pounds during the process. Why, then, keep on raising the iron if she can avoid doing so?

A new never-lift iron rest may be fastened to the ironing board. It fits down close against the padded cover and it is lined with asbestos. This rest is ridged. You put your hot iron on it, then slide it down to the ironing board. A slight ramp effect makes this possible. You never lift the iron.

Care of Child's Feet Is a Major Maternal Duty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Now that the youngsters' feet are much on view, mothers are in a position to judge what wisdom they are applying to growing feet. Some, no doubt, will be surprised to see, when comparing their young daughters' feet with that of other mothers' girls, that they have not been watchful parents in this respect. Even in the small ones' feet may be seen the slight deformities that later on may cause the grown girl trouble, embarrassment at any rate.

One mother reports that her child, just returned from a school hundreds of miles from home, reveals what looks to mother like a bunion in the making. Mother honestly accuses herself of not remembering that stocking sizes can quickly be outgrown. The child complained on her return home that her feet did hurt her lots of times. The youngster thought it was the shoes, but the mother believes it was the stockings and the way they shrank in the school washings.

We remind mothers of foot care because we suspect that when girls now 6, 8, and 9 are full grown their feet will be on even more public exhibition than they are now. And they will want well shaped toes and feet to submit to the test.

More important, however, is the relation of good feet to health. Lack of good body control and balance may be traced to feet. Lack of grace and poise surely is.

Shoes for growing feet should be sensible shoes with a full round toe, snug fitting arch, a broad heel base, and a straight inner line. They should have flexibility. Let the fancy dresses go if need be, but put the youngster's growing feet into good shoes.

TELLS OF SPAT ON SECOND DAY OF HONEYMOON

Howard Brown Testifies in Wife's Suit.

Howard M. Brown, insurance executive, testified yesterday that the second day of his honeymoon in 1934 was an unpleasant one. His bride demanded that he change his will to make her beneficiary of his estate, he said. When he refused, she became hysterical.

Dorothea Ann Joy Brown in court.

The bride was the former Dorothea Ann Joy, one time Follies girl and model. She is now suing Brown for separate maintenance, charging desertion. Mrs. Brown, who is 32 years old and lives at 180 East Delaware street, is receiving $125 a month in temporary support money and asks an increase.

Tells of First Quarrel.

Her husband, who is 54 years old, lives at the Lake Shore Athletic club. He is opposing her suit and asserts that she violated an agreement that she would obtain a divorce. Brown was called to the stand yesterday before Judge John J. Lupe in the Superior court and was questioned by his attorneys, Benjamin B. Davis and Jerry Strauss.

"Dorothea and I were married Oct. 29, 1934 at 2 a. m. in Waukegan," Brown said, "and we had our first serious quarrel the next day. In reply to her question, I told her my will was made in favor of my son by my first marriage—Warren, now 23 years old.

"She said Warren was able to provide for himself and demanded I change the will in her favor. I refused and she went into hysterics.

"Our next quarrel was Nov. 4, 1934, when she upbraided me for not having given her an engagement ring. I told her I was having a valuable stone made into a ring for her, but she wanted one worth $3,700, and when I told her it was more than I could afford, she burst into tears.

Balks at $2,800 Bedroom Set.

"I bought her two fur coats, valued at $1,000, that month, but I balked at spending $2,800 for a bedroom set she wanted."

Brown then related that in July, 1935, his three children by his second marriage came to visit him. This was in accordance with a divorce agreement with his second wife, Mrs. Eleanor Hayes Brown, daughter of Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

"Dorothy abused the children," Brown testified, "and made them move into another apartment, empty except for beds. I took the children to Canada, but when I brought them back, she sent them to their grandfather in Winnetka. She said it was none of my business how she treated the children."

Edwin Wagner, 1902 South Home avenue, Berwyn, a friend of Brown's, testified that he was invited to the Brown apartment at 210 East Pearson street for a bridge game two months after the marriage. He found all the light bulbs broken and Mrs. Brown greeted him by flinging a bunch of keys in his face, Wagner said. On another occasion she called obscene names at Wagner and Brown, the witness testified.

Copperhead Invades Bed; Bites Boy and His Mother

Monterey, Tenn., July 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Roe Cisco heard her son, 3 years old, fretting and went to his bed to investigate. Something struck her on the leg and she looked down to see a copperhead snake writhing away. She killed it quickly and pulled back the covers. It had also bitten the child. Both mother and son were in serious condition today.

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was incorrectly stated in THE TRIBUNE Saturday, July 9, that both Dr. A. Cosmas Garvy and Dr. Claude R. G. Forrester are on the surgical staf at Loyola university. The misinformation was obtained from the Chicago Medical Blue Book for 1937-'38, which states that Dr. Garvy is "at present, clinical professor of surgery" at the university and Dr. Forrester, a "clinical professor." Dr. Forrester left the staf six years ago and Dr. Garvy three years ago.

U. S. Alcohol Tax Agents Seize 300 Gallon Still

Agents of the federal alcohol tax unit yesterday raided a 300 gallon still in a garage behind 4615 Homer street. Joseph Zichichi, who lives at that address, and Joseph Benigno of 3212 Flournoy street, were arrested. The agents found 6,000 gallons of mash and 75 gallons of alcohol.

CORONER SEIZES SLOT MACHINES IN WILL COUNTY

Forty farmers, deputized by Coroner Londus Brannon of Will county, raided fifteen taverns near Joliet early yesterday. They seized or smashed more than a score of slot machines. The raids followed a similar anti-gambling crusade last week in Lake county.

Coroner Brannon said he acted because of complaints that slot machines were operating freely. He charged that Sherif Michael Breen and other law enforcing officials had not stopped their use.

Herses Cart Devices Away.

The raids were made secretly and without warants. Herses and ambulances loaned by Joliet undertakers were used to carry away the machines. Brannon would not tell what taverns he raided or how many machines were taken. More raids will follow, he said.

In most places, the coroner said, the machines were fastened inside steel cabinets which could be closed quickly, hiding them from sight. Such machines were pulled from the cabinets or smashed. Money taken from the machines is to be turned over to charity, Brannon said.

Deputies Fire on Raiders.

In the tavern of Mike Oswald in Lockport, Coroner Brannon said, several deputy sherifs fired upon members of his raiding party. A woman neighbor had called the sherif's office and said a robbery was in progress. The deputy coroners were taken to the sherif's office in Joliet, where they were released after showing their credentials.

Both Sherif Breen and State's Attorney James E. Burke of Will county said they were surprised at the raids.

"As far as I have been able to determine," Burke said, "there have been no slot machines in operation, except a few cheaters, since I ordered them closed last May."

Deputies Saw None, Says Sherif.

"My deputies have seen no slot machines," Sherif Breen commented.

In Lake county Claude Warner of Waukegan was charged with embezzling $321 from a collection agency where he worked. He was one of the leaders in the gambling raids last Saturday and Sunday. Ninety-two slot machines were taken and 28 persons arrested.

The waarant for Warner's arrest was issued by Justice of the Peace Henry Wallenwein at the request of C. J. Yeager, head of the collection agency. On Monday Warner said he was dismissed from his job for political reasons.

Yesterday gambling places in Lake county remained closed.

DIES WHEELING LOAD OF COAL.

CONVICT 6 NAZI LEADERS IN N. Y.; LEAGUE IS FINED

Riverhead, N. Y., July 12.—(AP)—A Suffik county jury deliberated less than two minutes today and then convicted six officials of the German-American Settlement League, Inc., and the league for violation of the state civil rights law.

Judge L. Barron Hill, in meting out near maximum sentences, said he would ask the district attorney's office to forward minutes of the trial to federal authorities. Judge Hill imposed the maximum fine of $10,000 against the league and sentenced Ernest Mueller, president, to serve one year in the county jail and fined him $1,000. Other defendants were fined $500 each and sentenced to one year in jail. Their sentences were suspended during good behavior.

The specific charge accused leaders of the league of conducting a secret oath-taking society without filing a list of members with the secretary of state.

IRISHMEN FIGHT AGAIN AT SCENE OF BOYNE BATTLE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 12.—(AP)—The observance of the 248th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne when Dutch born William III. decisively defeated James II. was started today by a fierce new battle that left many cracked heads.

Police swinging clubs fought a large group which marched into Maghera, Londonderry county, from surrounding districts and tried to remove orange arches erected for the celebration. The crowd responded with hatchets and iron bars.

Three policemen were taken to hospitals with severe wounds. Several minor casualties occurred among the invading group. Police reinforcements were rushed from neighboring towns. Numerous arrests were made.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

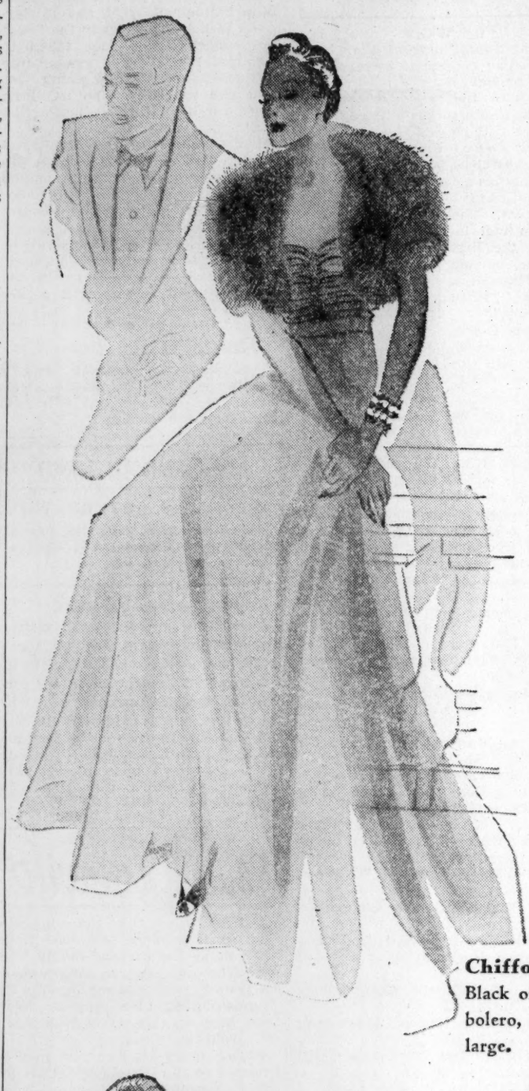
I believe I'll stay in Chicago and spend week-ends in the country



Because I love the life I lead. On a fine fair morning, when the lake flings diamonds at the sun, I'm off to town . . . in a dark sheer with spanking-white accessories. I'm Zorina, in my floating chiffon. The town is light-spangled . . . the breeze blows fresh and cool from the lake, and I know I can't bear to leave Chicago a minute before Friday night!

C. Y. O. BOXERS BATTLE IRISH CHAMPIONS TONIGHT

CHICAGO TEAM RISKS PERFECT 7 YEAR RECORD

Tunney and Louis Will Officiate.

Fight Facts

Place—Soldiers' field.

Time—First preliminary at 8:30 p. m.; ceremonies at 9:15 p. m.; first international match at 9:30 p. m.

Admission — $2.20, $1.10, and 50 cents; proceeds to go to the C. Y. O. milk fund.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Ten Irish boys, best amateur boxers from the Emerald Isle, will face the boys of the Catholic Youth organization tonight in Soldiers' field intent on ending the seven year reign of their hosts in intercity and international competition. The first of these matches will start at 9:30 o'clock.

Four preliminary matches, the first at 8:30 o'clock, will precede the international bouts and immediately after these the opening ceremonies will be held. C. Y. O. officials, following a brisk ticket sale yesterday, estimated that 30,000 would see the matches. The proceeds from the international bouts, the fourth summer show sponsored by the C. Y. O., will go to the milk fund of that organization.

The pairings:

INTERNATIONAL BOUTS.

Both Sides are Ready.

Both squads are ready. The ten C. Y. O. boys, six of them champions in this year's C. Y. O. tournament and including three who won Golden Gloves titles in the 1938 Tournament of Champions, anticipate victory. Some of them may lose, but the boys believe that a majority of the ten boxers, chosen from the squad of seventy-nine, will win.

Frank Cooper, trainer of the Irish team, is equally confident. Among his boys are three—Frank Kerr, Ernie Smith, and Dick Hearns—who fought in Chicago against the 1933 international Golden Gloves team. He would be more confident, perhaps, that these three boys, in particular, will win tonight if Kerr was not matched against Frank Kainrath, who less than two months ago scored a decisive victory in the Stadium over Ulderico Sergo, Olympic champion from Italy.

Rutecki Adds Power.

The return of the veteran Chester Rutecki to competition unquestionably has strengthened the C. Y. O. team. Rutecki, who represented the United States in the 1936 Olympics, will fight Dick Reade for the middleweight title. Rutecki is the C. Y. O. team captain.

Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world, and Gene Tunney, who retired undefeated ten years ago, will referee two or three of the international bouts.

Wife of Jimmy Thomson Leaves Chicago Hospital

Mrs. Jimmy Thomson, the former Viola Dana of the movies, yesterday left St. Luke's hospital, where she had been confined since June 28 after an abdominal operation. Mrs. Thomson, who went to the Congress hotel, said she was "feeling fine" and would remain in Chicago until her husband comes next week to compete in the Chicago open golf tournament. He is playing now in the P. G. A. tourney in Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.

LESNICK LEADS EARLY VOTING IN ALL-STAR POLL

BY ARCH WARD.

Football's 1938 All-Star game, which brings together the country's greatest college players and the National league champions, will develop more interest throughout the land than any of the preceding contests of the series. The prediction is based on the early returns in the coast-to-coast poll which is being conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 150 associated newspapers to determine an All-America lineup to face the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31.

The voting opened Sunday and by noon Monday more than 30,000 ballots had been returned to THE TRIBUNE contest department. The standings today do not include any votes from other newspapers. Today's totals are nearly twice as heavy as on the corresponding morning a year ago when 5,036,466 had a hand in the selection of the team that whipped the Green Bay Packers, 6 to 0.

Are You Surprised?

And who do you think is leading the early returns? Clint Frank of Yale? Chuck Sweeney of Notre Dame? You never could guess. It's Edward Lesnick of Illinois Normal, an All-Little Nineteen conference center a year ago. Lesnick has 11,148 votes, more than any other player in the poll. He owes his position to the support of fans in or near Berlin, Wis., his home town. Votes from Berlin, Ripon, Waukesha, and other Wisconsin centers poured in for Lesnick all day yesterday.

With the exception of the center from Illinois Normal all other leading candidates were from widely known universities. While the returns are almost entirely from the Chicago district it is interesting to observe that the fans are casting their ballots for players who were regarded as national standouts last fall.

Poll Closes July 24.

Voting will continue until July 24. The eleven players, one at each position, who lead the standings at the end of the poll will start the game against Sammy Baugh's Redskins, provided they accept the invitation to join the squad and survive the training sessions in good physical condition. If for any reason a player is unable to appear in the starting lineup, the man who received the second greatest number of votes at that position will be chosen.

The squad will assemble at Northwestern university, Aug. 12, for first practice under a staf of coaches to be elected by the fans at the conclusion of the player poll. The Redskins will train in Washington and will come to Chicago two days before the game.

The standings will be shuffled considerably when votes from the outlying areas are recorded. There is more organized effort in behalf of several players this year than ever before. It is apparent, for instance, that a terrific ballot will take place between Corby Davis of Indiana and Frank Patrick of Pittsburgh for the full back job. Both were outstanding players on two of the nation's strongest elevens. Both live in northern Indiana where the voting usually reaches its greatest heights. Alumni and other friends of the players and schools are combing the heavilly populated steel centers of Gary, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor, Hammond, and Calumet in behalf of their favorite candidates.

The fans' interest is not limited to voting. The All-Star ticket office is deluged with mail orders. There are approximately 33,000 seats at $3.30 for the game and the first day's mail and telephone orders disposed of half that number. It was the heaviest opening day sale in the history of the All-Star game.

But Know—

I would not know where I should look for thee
Whose heart has sought the peace of alien ways,
Or if our comradeship could ever be
What it had been in the remembered days;
I should be loath to trespass on the loam
That has been hallowed by thy humble feet
Lest I should mar the quiet of thy home
And dissipate the peace of thy retreat.
But know that in one corner of the earth
A prayer is said for thee at evenglow,
And one heart turns from sorrow, and in mirth
Treads the old pathways that we used to know,

Bull Lea Wins a Race and New Support for Classic

BY FRENCH LANE.

Bull Lea, Chicago's unanimous choice to win the last Kentucky Derby but which finished out of the money, returned to the racing wars yesterday afternoon in the Lake View purse at Arlington Park.

He charged right into the center of the Arlington Classic stage and whipped soundly four other rivals for that $30,000 3 year old stake, to be run one week from next Saturday. He went on to win by a length and a half.

Bull Lea's mile in 1:36 4-5 showed conclusively that he is as good as he was in Kentucky early last spring when he won the Blue Grass stakes in track record time.

Was Just a Gallop.

Instead of making the pace as he did in his early races this year, Bull Lea came from behind, moved smoothly past the early leaders at the top of the stretch and apparently was just getting ready to do some real running when the struggle ended.

Second to the Wright colorbearer at the finish was the Canadian candidate for the Classic, Fairflax, owned by Frank Seremba of Montreal. The Kentucky colt, Stands Alone, owned by J. C. Stone of Louisville, finished third.

Badly beaten and trailing the two leaders were Mrs. Emil Denemark's Dorothy Rock and the Louisiana Derby winner, Wise Fox, owned by A. G. Tarn of Canada. Bull Lea paid only 1 to 2 in the betting.

Roguish Girl Perils Record.

While Bull Lea's performance thrilled the Classic fans, a 5 year old daughter of Roguish Eye named Roguish Girl turned in the most spectacular race of the Arlington season while winning the Algonquin purse by two and a half lengths from Sir Jim James, a horse that has just arrived from Detroit.

Roguish Girl, which is just up from the selling plater class, ran the mile in 1:35 2-5, only a second off the world

Benny Ray, Ring Promoter and Manager, Dies

Benny Ray, matchmaker for the Marigold Gardens and former manager of boxers, died last night in the Evangelical Deaconess hospital of a heart ailment. He was stricken Monday night and placed in an oxygen tent. Funeral arrangements will be made today.

Ray, 44 years old, had been associated with boxing as a boxer, manager, and matchmaker for twenty-eight years. He was the first matchmaker of the Olympia arena in Detroit when it opened in 1927. He served on the managerial staf of Johnny Kilbane, after the latter won the world's featherweight championship in 1912.

Ray also managed Benny Gershe, contender for the lightweight championship twenty years ago. He had been in ill health since last April 25, when he suffered his first attack. He had resided in a near north side hotel since his divorce on Sept. 14, 1936.

SHUTE AND HINES WIN 2 MATCHES IN P. G. A. MEET

Cooper and Laffoon Are Eliminated.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., July 12.—The twenty-first National P. G. A. tournament now in progress at the Shawnee Country club is a nice, orderly party tonight, consisting of sixteen able guests, some young, some a trifle older. They are the survivors of the first two rounds, a pair of eighteen hole matches.

Among those sixteen was the head man of them all—Denny Shute of Boston. Silent Denny, seeking his third consecutive title, gave his gallery a slight scare this morning before putting out young Clyde Usina of Stoneham, Mass. Then he gave a champion's show in the afternoon by eliminating another Massachusetts youth, John Thoren of Auburndale, 7 and 6, being three under par for the most decisive victory of the day.

Metz Eliminates Guldahl.

As defending champion, Shute was at the top of the upper bracket. Out of the final match of the lower bracket came handsome Dick Metz of Chicago, a one up victor over Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., the man who had beaten him by six shots in last month's National Open at Denver. The Guldahl-Metz match was the thriller of the day. After seesawing up to an even status through the sixteenth, Ralph missed his drive to the seventeenth, while Dick hit a neat tee shot and planted a dandy brassie on the green for a par four. He then halved the home hole to achieve one of the most satisfactory victories of his career.

The remaining fourteen competitors in tomorrow's third round, when 36 hole competition begins, once more prove that anything can happen in this toughest of all golf events. They include such ex-champions as Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., who hasn't been able to reach the third round since he last won the title in 1933. Then there's Paul Runyan, the little poison of White Plains, N. Y., never past the quarter finals since he scored in 1934. And there is Bill Burke, hero of the 72 hole playoff for the 1931 National open crown.

Burke Beat Medalist.

It was Burke, by the way, who demonstrated this afternoon that no P. G. A. medalist ever wins the show itself. Three down to Frank Moore of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who had won the medal with a record tying score yesterday, Burke sped over the back nine in 33 and then holed a 17 footer for a winning birdie at the 19th.

Three of the surprises of the tournament are still very much in it. They are good looking Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich.; Harry Bassler of Long Beach, Cal.; a veteran in California competition, but like Stahl, a newcomer to the P. G. A., and burly Felix Serafin from up Scranton way. It was Felix who scored a double knockout over the Illinois delegation, flooring Harry Cooper, 4 and 3, this morning and stopping Ky Laffoon in the afternoon, 3 and 2.

Five Extra Hole Matches.

Out of the 48 matches today, no better evidence of the nature of competition here can be offered than that three of them went to the nineteenth hole and two to the twentieth. The winners of these latter were Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., 1937 P. G. A. medalist, and lanky Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh. Nelson caught Alvin [Butch] Krueger, Beloit, Wis., baseball pitcher, when the latter three putted the seventeenth, and then took the match on the second extra hole, where Butch drove out of bounds. Mangrum matched the 70 of Harold McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., 1937 runnerup to Shute, on their first eighteen, and then knocked in a birdie at the twentieth.

Shute's opponent tomorrow will be Jimmy Hines, Metropolitan open champion, whom he defeated in the quarter-finals at Pittsburgh last year, 4 and 3. Today James beat the vet-

ROUT CARLETON AND ROOT FOR 13TH STRAIGHT

The White Sox scored six runs in the first inning and then went on to defeat the Athletics, 8 to 6, in Philadelphia yesterday. Story on Page 17.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, who for the last couple of weeks have been on one of their periodical pennant sprees, popped up last evening in the rôle of National league leaders.

Al Todd.

They not only climbed into the driver's seat, displacing the Giants, but attained their thirteenth consecutive triumph by trimming the Cubs, 14 to 6. It was appropriate that the Cubs should assist in the elevation of the Pirates. They were the ones who gave first place to the Giants here June 8.

If the Pirates were worried about the possibilities of being jinxed by No. 13 in their string, they didn't show it either to the Cubs or 6,567 spectators. They simply knocked Tex Carleton into the discard before the first inning was concluded. For a stretch after that Charley Root fooled 'em, but they began to operate effectively against him in the fifth and from then on runs were produced in quantity, Bob Logan and Jack Russell, as well as Root being the victims.

Brandt Throttles All Hopes.

If Boss Charley Grimm had been able to locate any effective pitching after Carleton's premature demise, the Cubs might have had a chance despite the four run handicap against them. By making good use of a few hits they whittled away three-quarters of the Pirate lead in three innings, but just when they threatened to get real tough with Bob Klinger, the Pirates switched to old Ed Brandt, the lefty, and he shattered all the Cubs' ambitions. Brandt stopped them dead until the eighth when, with the aid of an error, they scored three runs. By that time three runs meant nothing except delay. Their sixth successive defeat long since had been a certainty.

It isn't often that the Cubs are able to pile up eleven hits, so they should be given some credit. They even had enough power to include four doubles in the total. Two of these doubles were by Bill Jurges in the first three innings, each developing into a run. But there were other times when the usual feebleness was apparent. For instance, Frank Demaree opened the fourth with a double only to expire where his hit placed him.

Pirates Rout Carleton.

The busy first inning started with an out, but was followed by a pass to Baby Waner. Brother Paul singled to center and when Suhr walked the bases were filled. Rizzo singled to center, scoring the Waners. Vaughan singled to right, Suhr scoring. Root replaced Carleton and was greeted by a single to left by Todd, scoring Rizzo. Root then fanned Young and Klinger.

The Cubs needed only one hit to retrieve one of the runs in their half. Jurges led off with a double to left and eventually scored on an infield out. Two hits were involved in the second inning run. Hack singled over second and went to third on Galan's single to right. Cavarretta's long fly to right gave Hack time to score. In the third Jurges doubled again and, after two were out, scored on Reynolds' double to center. This hit knocked Klinger out of the picture, Brandt moving into the vacancy.

Then in the sixth Todd boosted a

Purdue Soph's 69 Leads in Western Golf

South Bend, Ind., July 12.—[Special.]—Chain o'Lakes Country club's course and 149 other entrants in the 39th annual western amateur golf tournament were just so many Goliaths to John David, Purdue sophomore, today.

The Indianapolis youth chipped home a 70 footer from the edge of the 18th green for an eagle three, then admitted that the shot made his total 69, two under perfect figures. He led another collegian, Henry Castillo of Louisiana State, and Larry Moller of Quincy, Ill., by a stroke.

Lehman Cards 71.

Johnny Lehman of Chicago's Olympia Fields stood alone at even par 71. Bracketed at 72 were Walter Blevins of Kansas City, Missouri state champion; Chick Harbert, Battle Creek, Michigan open champion; Judd Leighton of the home club; Walter Emery of Houston, Tex., 1933 national intercollegiate champion, and Burleigh Jacobs Jr. of Milwaukee, Wis.

David got three birdies to go with his eagle in carving out his par shattering round. He holed a 20 footer on the second for a three, a four footer on the fifth hole for a four, and a nine footer on the 12th hole for a four.

Gets a Hole in One.

The same field will shoot another 18 holes tomorrow, with the low 63 entering match play in an effort to uncrown the defending champion, Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis.

Five Joliet Y.M.C.A. Stars Enter Swim

Five boys from the Joliet, Ill., Y. M. C. A. have entered THE TRIBUNE'S 100 yard free style swimming races, preliminaries of which will be held next week end at four pools. The Joliet boys will compete for qualifying berths in the finals in the Cermak pool, 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons, Ill., on July 23.

David Givens, James Waddell, and Donald Muhlig will compete in the class A for boys 11 and 12 years of age. The others, Gaylord Thomson and Ian Crabb, will swim in class B.

If these boys qualify, each will receive a gold medal in addition to the souvenir bronze buttons awarded all swimmers who report for their 100 yard tests, and they will be eligible to race for the championships July 31 in the Diversey beach lagoon.

Entries yesterday included the list of swimmers who will represent the Henry Latko Swimming club. These 12 contestants, six of them girls, have divided forces so that the team will be represented in all four preliminaries. The swimmers are Patsy Doyle, Alfreda Dryjanski. Elaine Stembol, Beatrice Stotts, Bonnie Wiegel, Fern Raugstad, Bob Ellsworth, Robert Johnson, Andy Morales, Arthur Bethke, Anthony Groh, and Nathan Silverstein.

In submitting the entry Latko accurately expressed the purpose of these 100 yard races when he said, "the meet brings together hundreds of boys and girls ready and eager to start on what may turn out to be a swimming career. Surprising indeed are the many different styles of swimming that the contestants exhibit, but the races offer every boy and girl the opportunity to test their ability with a chance to win a gold qualifying medal."

Entries will be accepted until midnight Monday.

Guldahl, the Man Who Came Back, Dominates Golf

Ralph Guldahl, golf's man who came back—and stayed—will return to the town wherein he began his comeback to play in the second Chicago open. Guldahl is currently the head man of medal play golf, and there is a general opinion that he may retain that position for some time to come.

Chicagoans first heard of the tall, 26 year old Texan in 1933, when he missed a four foot putt for a tie with Johnny Goodman in the national open tournament at North Shore. From there he landed in one hard luck bunker after another until the western open of 1936, when he fired a final round of 64 to win the title in Davenport. From there he went on to become the second leading money winner of the season, as well as the No. 1 scorer.

His genius for medal play shone in all its brilliance last year when he won the national open with a world record score of 281 in Detroit, and then came back to defend his western crown in a playoff with Horton Smith in Cleveland.

That, however, was only the beginning. In Denver last month he became the first professional in twenty-six years to win the national two years in a row, and followed that up by taking the western for the third straight year.

Guldahl was born of Norwegian parents in Dallas, Tex., and began playing as a caddie and later an amateur in that city when it was just beginning to flourish as one of the golfing centers of the southwest. He is married and the father of a son.

SOX GET SIX IN FIRST; CONQUER ATHLETICS, 8 TO 6

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 12.—The White Sox this afternoon got their third 1938 invasion of the east under way in a sudden and cheering manner. Before the second putout of the game had been accomplished Mike Kreevich's sixth homer, with one on, and Joe Kuhel's third, with two on, along with a run which bloomed from a double by Rip Radcliff and a single by Luke Appling, gave the Sox a six run start toward a final tabulation which read: Chicago, 8; Philadelphia, 6.

Lynn Nelson was the victim of the forthwith onslaught of the Chicagoans. Lynn until recently had the startling record of eight victories and one defeat. He still has the eight victories but today's defeat was his fifth. Monty Stratton was the winner, hanging up his seventh victory. Monty yielded twelve hits, as compared to the Sox's total of nine, but any ineffectiveness might be attributed to the fact that he didn't have to worry much with that plump first inning insurance.

Appling Comes Through.

The two Sox scores other than those made off Nelson at the outset were driven home in the fourth on Appling's second single, which followed three walks off Al Williams, second of the A's three pitchers.

After the first inning the A's were rather persistent for a team off to such a poor start. They made two runs in the third on singles by Lou Finney, Wally Moses, and Frank Hayes; one in the fifth on Finney's double and a couple of outs, and one on Clarence Parker's double and two outs in the sixth. In the ninth they scored two runs and had the tying run at the plate on a walk, Boze Berger's three base throwing error and a single by Parker.

They're Going to Town.

The outcome put the Sox above the .500 mark on the present trip, which started with a split four game series in Detroit. They now have won twelve of their last sixteen games away from home.

Two weeks ago the Sox were four and one-half games behind the A's in seventh place. They now are five games ahead of them, a gain of nine and one-half games in a fortnight over the adversaries in the present series. The Sox are only two and one-half games out of fifth place.

Still in a statistical vein, it may be remarked that the Sox this afternoon broke a 4-all tie in the season series between Chicago and Philadelphia.

Appling has been withdrawn in the last few innings of the two games he has started but will continue to be in the opening lineups, it is said. He batted .500 today and drove in three runs. In the Detroit final, the first game he started, he also batted .500 with two singles.

USE KNOTT TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 12.—Jack Knott, who has accomplished two victories since joining the White Sox on June 15, is slated to go against Edgar Smith and the Athletics in the middle game of the series tomorrow.

Bill Dietrich, who pitched a no hit game last year and promptly went into a decline, today was placed on the voluntarily retired list. Bill, who underwent an operation last fall had won only one game this year, beating the Macks here, 4 to 1, on May 4. Two weeks ago it was announced he was suffering from an infection in his right elbow and that he would go on the voluntarily retired list if he had not responded to treatment. He worked in Detroit and when he got here, his native city, underwent an examination. Then it was announced he would go on the inactive list.

The Croats and Serbs settled their bitter argument over where the exhibitions should be played by agreeing to have the Americans appear here today and tomorrow and then shift to Zagreb Thursday.

homer into the left field bleachers. After two were out Brandt singled and Handley doubled, routing Root. Rescuer Logan walked Baby Waner, filling the bases. P. Waner singled to center, sending Brandt and Handley home. Suhr singled to right, Baby Waner scoring from third. This completed Logan's workout and Russell got Rizzo for the third out.

Vaughan opened the seventh with a single to center. He was forced on a grounder by Todd, who escaped being doubled because Umpire Charles Moran ruled Cavarretta's foot was off the base. Young followed with a double against the center field bricks, scoring Todd.

Hurrah! Cubs Get Three!

P. Waner's fourth single brought on the four run avalanche against Russell in the eighth. He was forced by Suhr for the second out. Rizzo doubled to center and Vaughan was intentionally walked. All three runners hiked home on a double which Todd punched past Demaree. Young then singled Todd home.

The Cubs' three runs in the eighth were on a cut rate basis. After Cavarretta had opened with a single, Vaughan booted Demaree's grounder. Cavarretta finally scored on a couple of outs. Herman walked and scored along with pinch batter Asbell on singles by Reynolds and Hartnett.

Clay Bryant will work for the Cubs in the opener of a three game series with the Phillies. Claude Passeau may start for the wandering Quakers.

Catcher Al Todd and Coach Jewel Ens, the two Pirates chased for abusing Umpire George Barr in Monday's game were fined $50 each by President Ford Frick yesterday.

Owner P. K. Wrigley of the Cubs admitted yesterday he had attempted to make a conditional deal for Dizzy Dean before completing the transaction in which he paid the Cardinals $185,000 and three players. He declared:

"We suspected something might be wrong with Dean's arm, and attempted to make an agreement where the price paid would be contingent on the ability of Dean to pitch.

"We had agreed during training at Catalina that what the Cubs needed was a 'stopper' pitcher to pace the staf and that Dean was the man, so when the Cardinals refused the conditional offer we made the outright purchase."

SUPERIOR TROUT MAKE VIGOROUS DRIVE ON LURES

BY BOB BECKER.

The lake trout around the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior have been hitting the big spoon trolling lures during the past few weeks and fish weighing up to thirty pounds have been hooked and landed. This means that it's time for the fisherman who wants to try his luck on the big water to get busy. Here is the latest report from Franklin Merritt of Ashland on how the trout are hitting:

"Daily catches of 100 to 150 pounds per boat are being reported as fishermen from Chicago, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota prove that fishing is swell. No really large fish have been caught as yet, although a number of thirty pounders have been taken, and catches of a single fish weighing between twenty and thirty pounds are not uncommon."

No Disappearing Act.

Fishermen may get boats at Ashland or Bayfield for this trolling in waters where the lake trout remain all summer instead of disappearing for the season—a trick practiced by the trout around Chicago. Boats which are used for trolling are fairly good sized and more than one rod may be put into action.

Both the Namakagon and the St. Croix rivers, two beautiful bass streams in northwest Wisconsin, have been a little bit high for bass fishing, according to the latest dope from the north country. It's the same trouble that we found when we visited the Peshtigo in northeastern Wisconsin a few days ago.

Black Bass Are Biting.

Lakes, however, are in good shape. We recommend the Yellow, St. Croix, and the Namakagon in northwestern Wisconsin for float trips and fishing. They are well worth a visit.

The small mouthed black bass fishing in Green bay off the Door county peninsula has been going full blast since the season opened July 1. The boys who were out during the first few days of the season found it easy to get a limit.

Stagehand Starts West.

Col. Maxwell Howard's sensational colt Stagehand starts his journey to the scene of the Classic today. This announcement came from Trainer Earl Sande. Stagehand will leave New York this morning, accompanied by four stable companions. His 3 year old roommate, the Chief, however, is to remain in New York.

Sande may decide to bring The Chief on later, but it is likely he will be sent to Saratoga to be freshened up. Jocky Jack Westrope is coming to ride Stagehand in the Classic and other horses Sande will race at Arlington Park.

Woolford farm of Missouri, which produced Lawrin, this year's Kentucky Derby winner, will turn loose a powerful pair in the $30,000 Lassie stakes at Arlington on Saturday. Unerring, full sister to Lawrin, and Inscoelda, winner of the Onwentsia stakes yesterday in the fast time of 1:04 4-5 for five and one-half furlongs, will be the colorbearers.

One of the heaviest plunges of the Arlington season was made yesterday on T. M. Dorsett, owned by Joe W. Brown of New Orleans. The New Orleans 2 year old won from Steel Heels and Book Plate in the fast time of :59 3-5 for five furlongs.

In the eighth race, at a mile and a sixteenth on the turf, Pottage drove into the inner rail in front of the clubhouse and was so badly injured she had to be destroyed. Jocky Ira Hanford, who was up on Pottage, suffered bruises on his right hip and ankle and scratches on his right arm. He was able to drive his car home.

INSCOELDA, well handled and away fast was not strongly persevered with in the first furlong, when called upon by Garner, quickly drew clear approaching the last eighth and came away thereafter. BOLD FAY made a fast pace from start, was on the inside after the first eighth stood increased pressure camely the entire closing quarter but was no match for the winner. SMART TRICK, away well, but unable to keep up early closed with determination.

BULL LEA, occasionally roused while holding a contending position the first furlong, responded well to stronger urging while wearing down the leaders and overtaking FAIRPLAX, drew out to win with something in reserve. FAIRPLAX forced a fast pace under a fine handling command and held on well to the stretch and held on well to the last sixteenth where he weakened. STANDS ALONE was under strong riding after five-eighths and held on well in an even effort.

ROGUISH GIRL much the best and racing in superb form, was under a snug hold for almost three-quarters, came around SIR JIM JAMES gradually and, maintaining keen speed, drew out in the last eighth. SIR JIM JAMES took command while still under good restraint, increased his speed without recourse to the stretch but pressure could not withstand the winner, yet held on well. VISIGOTH raced wide, moved up rapidly on the stretch turn did not stay in the drive yet held GALSUN safe.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

TUNICA taken in hand after moving up in the first quarter, rallied stoutly when called upon, drew away from the stretch turn, continued well to win easily. MISS LAMPLEY, a factor from the start, was under good urging after five-eighths and weakened in the late stages but outstayed SCARLET O. Latter, badly outrun for three-quarters, came to the outside in the stretch, and closing well might have been second in another stride.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile and a sixteenth. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

CARNELIAN, slow to begin and taken in hand after moving three abreast the back stretch, came with a rush on the outside in the final quarter and won easily. DELTA DAN, well up from the start and restrained for three-quarters, appeared to loaf under light pressure but came again when placed to a hard ride.

Adamick Sues Promoter for Fiasco Purse

Jimmy Adamick, suspended heavyweight boxer, and his manager, James W. Brady, yesterday filed a suit in Circuit court through their attorneys to prevent the Illinois state athletic commission and Promoter Jerry Lavan from disposing of a $1,523.20 purse which the boxer said was due him for his bout with Jack Trammell in Mills stadium June 8.

The commission charged it was a fake match and Adamick was suspended for one year and Brady for five years. The commission also ruled the purse would be turned over to Promoter Lavan. The suit, filed by the law firm of DeFrees, Buckingham Jones and Hoffman, states the bout was not fixed and that during the hearing before the commission the plaintifs were without legal counsel.

The New York commission yesterday refused the request of the Illinois board to recognize suspensions imposed as a result of the Adamick-Trammell fiasco. New York considered relations severed when the Illinois commission sanctioned the Louis-Braddock championship fight a year ago.

Jim McMillen will wrestle Hans Schnabel in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight. Other matches bring together Lem Stecklin and Jack [Bad Man] Brown, Jack Conley and Ralph Garibaldi, Rudy Kay and Jerry Meeker, and Jim Heffner and Peter Sherman.

Negotiations have been started for a featherweight championship contest between Champion Henry Armstrong and Frankie [Kid] Covelli in Comiskey park in September. . . . Billy Celebron, Rockford middleweight, opened training in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday for his ten round headliner with Tony Zale in Marigold Gardens Monday.

Buddy Knox, the Dayton heavyweight, will begin preparations in the loop this afternoon for his ten round encounter with Al McCoy in Sparta stadium next Wednesday. . . . A rematch between Johnny Barbara and Verne Patterson is being sought in Sparta arena July 27. F. M.

STOCKS CLIMB; STEEL SHARES LEND STRENGTH

Market Rally Comes Late in Day.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 12.—Spirited buying of steel stocks in the closing stages of trading on the stock exchange today spread quickly throughout the list and sent prices in the pivotals 1 to 3 points higher. Several sensitive issues registered larger gains. Numerous issues made new peaks for the year and hundreds of others came within striking distances of their best levels.

Volume increased considerably over Monday, today's turnover of 1,619,800 shares comparing with 1,087,630 shares yesterday. Almost one-third of the turnover came in the final hour, with the ticker trailing 4 minutes at one time.

Steel Wage Cut Rumored.

Reports in the financial district that the steel industry would on Friday announce wage cuts ranging from 7½ to 10 per cent, effective Aug. 1, were held chiefly responsible for the brisk rally.

Buying for foreign account, as well as out-of-town business, helped swell the demand, according to information in the street.

Selling at the opening, with carrier shares the main targets, made for widespread irregularity, a trend which persisted well into the second hour. Modest support developed at this time and prices lifted rather easily, but hovered around yesterday's quotations.

Shortly before the final hour a wave of urgent demand swept over the market to send prices soaring. Large blocks of stocks changed hands, with leading industrials particularly prominent. Closing prices generally were around the day's best.

Steel Shares Spurt.

In the steels, United States Steel rose 3⅜ points; Bethlehem, 2¼ points; Inland, 3⅜ points, and Republic, Youngstown, Crucible, and National each netted up to 2 points.

Chrysler was among the stocks in keen demand and rose more than 3 points. General Motors gained 1⅝.

Motor transportation shares again were in the forefront of demand and registered substantial gains. Yellow Truck, most active issue of the day, rose 1⅝ points, and Omnibus and Greyhound were close behind.

Coppers and merchandising issues also contributed sizable gains to the accompaniment of heavy trading. Anaconda, up nearly 2 points, was leader in the first named group. Among the store stocks, Spiegel, Inc., jumped 1⅜ points to 14¼, a new high for the year. Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck also were in demand, rising 2¼ and 2½ points, respectively.

Absorbing the early selling in good style, rail stocks by noon had made up all of their losses, then edged higher with the industrial sector.

Mayor Assured Cheap Money to Dig Subway

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Mayor Kelly and City Controler R. B. Upham yesterday won assurances from four loop banks that the city's share of the cost of building three downtown subways would be financed cheaply.

Robert B. Upham.

Upham said the arrangement may save the city nearly $700,000 a year in interest. The city's share of the estimated $31,840,000 cost of the subways is $17,512,000. City officials expect the Public Works administration to approve a 45 per cent grant for the balance soon.

The banks, Upham said, entered into what he termed a stand-by agreement on the basis of civic pride. The banks are the First National, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, City National Bank and Trust company, and American National Bank and Trust company.

Subject to Ratification.

The agreement is subject to final ratification by the city council and the PWA. It provides that the banks will purchase at any time before June 30, 1940, up to $14,512,000 of 1938 or 1939 corporate tax warants with interest at 2½ per cent. The 67 million dollar traction fund now contains 3 million dollars cash, Upham said.

Upham said he plans to maintain the traction fund liquid enough to supply subway construction money as it is needed. Then the city would not have to resort to any borrowing. However, the PWA required a guarantee that the money would be available, so the stand-by agreement was made, he continued.

He said that, if the city had obtained a PWA loan for 55 per cent of the cost in addition to the 45 per cent grant, the interest charges at the regular PWA 4 per cent rate would have amounted to $700,480 a year.

"The PWA agreed to go ahead if, in lieu of cash, we could show a definite commitment from banks or bankers who would agree to finance construction progressively," Upham said.

Alternatives Discussed.

"We might have arranged a PWA loan at 4 per cent, which would have cost us $700,000 a year. A private loan at 3½ per cent would have cost $612,000 a year interest. Under either arrangement we would have to raise all the money immediately. Now we can finance progressively. We will borrow only if we have to, and then at 2½ per cent."

The city council's local transportation committee yesterday recessed its public hearing on a new street car ordinance without making a recommendation to the council. The last extension of the old 1907 ordinance expires Friday. It is expected that the car lines will operate temporarily at least without a city permit after that day.

The transportation committee is considering a temporary permit. This would require the Chicago Surface lines to pay the city 3 per cent of its gross revenues. The money would be payment for use of the streets. Company representatives are opposing the move. The hearing is to be resumed tomorrow.

It would be possible for the council to grant another extension of the 1907 franchises at its meeting today, but many aldermen object to continuing the grant. Mayor Kelly said he opposed any further extension.

Financially Embarrassed Railroads.

There were 97 American railroads in the hands of receivers or trustees on June 1, 1938. These roads operated 77,560 miles of line—or about one-third of the roads' total railroad mileage.

Since the depression started late in 1929 there has been a steady increase in the number of roads going under the supervision of the courts. On Dec. 31, 1929, such companies had 5,703 miles of road, or 2.19 per cent of all mileage; Dec. 31, 1930, 9,486 miles, or 3.64 per cent; Dec. 31, 1931, 12,970 miles, or 4.99 per cent; Dec. 31, 1932, 22,545 miles, or 8.71 per cent; Dec. 31, 1933, 41,698 miles, or 16.24 per cent; Dec. 31, 1934, 42,168 miles, or 16.54 per cent; Dec. 31, 1935, 68,345 miles, or 26.87 per cent; Dec. 31, 1936, 69,712 miles, or 27.57 per cent; Dec. 31, 1937, 75,118, or 29.71 per cent; June 1, 1938, 77,560 miles, or 30.67 per cent.

Some of the best known American railroads are included among those which are under court jurisdiction. Chicago roads involved in bankruptcy proceedings are the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, Chicago Great Western, Chicago and North Western, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville.

Rumor Steel Pay Cut Until Output Rises

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—The steel industry—or at least one part of it—on Friday will announce wage cuts ranging from 7½ to 10 per cent, effective Aug. 1, it was reported in the financial district today.

The wage reductions will be rescinded, it was said, when the industry's production rate reaches 65 per cent of theoretical capacity. The current rate, as estimated by the American Iron and Steel Institute yesterday, is 32.3 per cent.

Steel workers' organizing committee contracts with most steel companies permit reopening of such questions as wages on ten days' notice.

Labor Chief Denies Parleys.

Despite denials of Phillip Murray, chairman of the S. W. O. C., that either informal or formal negotiations have been opened for a wage cut, these rumors have persisted here. In Washington a conference has been called for July 25 to fix basic wages of steel companies working under government contracts.

Organized labor has indicated that it will fight any attempt to reduce wages in the steel or any other industry. The rumored cut in wages would abrogate the agreements between the S. W. O. C. and the companies with which it has signed.

U. S. Steel Says—Unchanged.

At headquarters of United States Steel corporation here the wage situation was reported as "unchanged." The leading corporation of the industry has a contract with S. W. O. C. that requires a ten day notice for wage change negotiations and an elapse of ten more days before any changes can be put into effect arbitrarily. Notice, it was said, had not been given for the start of negotiations.

Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel company, could not be reached either at his Bethlehem, Pa., or New York City offices.

FACTORIES CALL WORKERS BACK TO JOBS IN TOLEDO

Toledo, O., July 12.—[Special.]—The Electric Auto Lite company has started its assembly line moving again and today had approximately 1,500 workers on the pay roll.

The Spicer Manufacturing company, after a shutdown for inventory and vacations, began calling men back to work today. Two hundred were added to the pay roll.

The American-National company and other plants also have begun recalling workers. The Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company's Rossford plant will reopen Monday. The Owens-Illinois Glass company is preparing for increased production.

NEW YORK CURB SHORT POSITION DROPS IN JUNE

New York, July 12.—(AP)—The New York Curb exchange announced today the outstanding short position in securities dealt in its market at the end of June was down 10,801 shares from the May 31 figure to a total of 15,439.

Lockheed Aircraft, with 1,125, was the only stock showing a short position of more than a thousand shares, the exchange said.

China's Silver Pact Ending; Morgenthau, Envoy Confer

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—The Chinese ambassador conferred today with Secretary Morgenthau, presumably on the question of renewing the silver buying arrangement by which the United States has taken large quantities of Chinese silver. The silver buying agreement will expire Friday.

U. S. Smelting Will Enter Refined Zinc Sales Field

New York, July 12.—(AP)—United States Smelting, Refining & Mining company, a leading producer of lead and silver, has announced its entry in the high grade zinc field.

PREDICT AMPLE SPACE TO STORE WHEAT ON LOANS

Can Handle Nearly Billion Bushels.

United States elevators can hold a billion bushels of wheat and any other grain used as security for federal loans. This answers the question of storage and the prediction that the wheat crop will be 967,412,000 bushels.

This statement was made yesterday by Chicago Board of Trade officials after a survey.

It is estimated that space for about 550,000,000 bushels is available at leading grain accumulation points—such as Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, and Minneapolis.

Other Storage Space Available.

Furthermore, space for another 500,000,000 bushels is available in country elevators and flour mills, it was estimated.

Country elevators in Kansas are estimated to have a storage capacity for 40,000,000 bushels of grain; Nebraska elevators, 14,000,000 bushels; Texas, 22,000,000 bushels, and Oklahoma, 15,000,000 bushels.

Terminal elevators in the southwest, including those at ports on the Gulf of Mexico, are estimated by Lyman C. West, statistician for the Board of Trade, to have a capacity of 170,000,000 bushels. Elevators in the northwest, including Minneapolis and Duluth, have space for 145,000,000 bushels, and those in Chicago, Omaha, and other central western markets have space for 100,000,000 bushels.

Large Bins on Farms.

Many of the farmers in the wheat area of the southwest and the northwest are reported to have storage facilities on their own lands. Wheat on the farms of these districts is usually stored in round buildings built of galvanized sheets with space for from 1,000 to 2,000 bushels.

Wheat tendered the government as security for loans must be stored in elevators approved by the department of agriculture. The government will pay a storage rate of 6 cents a bushel per year, or a half a cent a bushel a month. This is about the rate which the public must pay at leading terminal markets. Chicago elevator men declare that the storage charge on government wheat will not be enough to pay the operating costs for the elevator.

HAMMOND CO. CLAIMS VICTORY IN 'DESIST' CASE

Although ordered yesterday by the federal trade commission to cease making certain advertising statements, the Hammond Instrument company, Chicago, claimed a victory in its dispute with the commission. The case involved a pipeless electrical musical instrument which the company produces. One point at issue was whether the instrument, placed on the market in 1935, could be called an organ. The commission made no comment on this point in the order. The company interpreted this to mean that the instrument may be called an organ.

The cease and desist order said the Hammond company must not say that the instrument, as now constructed, "can produce or reproduce the entire range of tone coloring of a pipe organ, which is required for the adequate rendition of great works of classical organ literature."

Laurens Hammond, president of the company and inventor of the instrument, said the statements objected to had not been used for three years.

Chicago Air Conditioning Installations Decline

There were 219 central air conditioning plants contracted for in Chicago during the first six months of 1938, against 307 installations in the like 1937 period, the Commonwealth Edison company reported yesterday. The aggregate horse power of the 1938 installations was 3,044, against 9,722 in the like 1937 period. June, 1938, contracts totaled 51, with 513 horse power, against 60 installations with 1,573 horse power in June, 1937. Restaurants led in the first half of 1938, with 67 installations. Officers were second with 29 installations.

Crude Oil Flow Jumps to 3,296,250 Barrels Daily

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Crude oil production increased sharply during the week ended July 9, the American Petroleum Institute estimated today, although holding well under output last year. The crude flow lifted 237,000 barrels daily—the widest gain in many months—to 3,296,250 barrels and compared with 3,250,750 in the same period a year ago.

Britain Invokes Stabilization Fund to Halt Slump of Pound

Great Britain's stabilization machinery was put in motion yesterday to check the decline in the international value of the pound sterling after it had fallen to the lowest figure in more than a year in terms of the American dollar.

The stabilization fund was reported to have made large purchases of sterling in the London market by selling American dollars. The operation resulted in steadying the market after the pound had dropped to $4.92⅛. The currency recovered slightly, closing in London at $4.93. It subsequently fell to $4.92⅝ in the New York market.

Cause of Trend Uncertain.

The factors behind the depreciation in the pound, which began to slip last week, were not clear. The market action has been accompanied by rumors that the pound would be revalued at a lower figure in relation to the dollar as part of the new British-American trade treaty. These reports, however, were denied in London.

The closing price on the pound in New York was $4.92¾, or ⅜ cent below Monday's final quotation. French money also developed weakness in relation to the dollar, closing at $2.75¾ cents, off 0.0025 cent.

The London price of gold has been rising with the decline in the pound. Further depreciation in the pound, it was believed, would result in another heavy movement of gold to this country.

Gold Stocks Near 13 Billion.

The steamship Aquitania docked in New York yesterday with 89 boxes of gold valued at $5,000,000, shipped from England for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Transactions in the London gold market yesterday were reported at $6,013,014, the largest since June 15.

Chicago Corp. June 30 Net Assets Higher

Net asset values of Chicago corporation, investing company were higher on June 30 than on Dec. 31, 1937, but were substantially lower than on June 30, 1937, the company's semi-annual report showed yesterday. These changes reflect the fluctuations of stock market prices during the period.

Richard Wagner. [Moffett Photo.]

The report to stockholders by Richard Wagner, president, also disclosed that the firm sold more stocks than it bought during the first half of this year. This increased its cash to $5,003,277 or 15.69 per cent of its net assets on June 30. Cash on Dec. 31, 1937, was $4,055,343, or 13.02 per cent of net assets.

The company's net income from interest and dividends dropped sharply in the first half of 1938, compared with corresponding income in the first six months of 1937.

Net assets on June 30 totaled $31,880,908, equivalent to $55.30 per share of convertible preference stock and 84 cents per common share outstanding. On Dec. 31 of last year, net assets were $31,156,007 or $53.11 per preference share and 51 cents a common share. Per share values on June 30, 1937, were $72.73 for the preference stock and $4.18 on the common.

By July 11 of this year, Wagner reported, asset values had risen to $56.39 per preference share and $1.03 per common share.

Aircraft was the only industrial field in which stock holdings were increased in the first half of 1938, the report showed. The company bought 10,000 shares of Eastern Air Lines common stock and 2,800 shares of National Aviation. It had previously held no stock in these companies. Holdings also include 3,610 shares of Glenn L. Martin company, airplane maker, and 3,500 shares of United Aircraft corporation, which were unchanged in the first six months of this year.

Buys Bank Stock.

The firm also acquired 10,061 shares of City National Bank and Trust company stock.

A 25 per cent stock dividend of 7,000 shares of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company was received Feb. 1. During the half year, 5,740 Continental shares were sold, leaving 33,740 on June 30.

The company cut its holdings in most industrial lines, including automobile parts, food products, metals, oil products, retail trade, steel and iron, and heavy machinery. Decreases were also made in utilities holdings.

Large blocks of stock were sold in General Motors, Swift & Co., Commercial Solvents, Continental Can, National Cash Register, Marshall Field, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Reynolds Tobacco, and Commonwealth Edison.

Net Income Lower.

Net income from interest and dividends in the first half of 1938 declined to $388,712, or 67 cents a preference share, compared with $731,488, or $1.19 a share, in the first half of 1937.

Wagner said in his letter that the company purchased for retirement in the first six months 10,100 shares of its preference stock, acquired at an average cost of $30.21 a share. He said that the reduction on June 1 of the quarterly preference stock dividend from 75 to 50 cents was a result of the business recession.

FURNITURE INDUSTRY URGED TO LET PUBLIC KNOW OF TAX BURDEN

Taxes are the principal factor in the rising cost of living. They have retarded recovery, the Chicago Market Daily declared yesterday. The publication, issued in connection with the home furnishings exposition at the American Furniture Mart, urged the furniture industry to make the facts known to consumers.

The exposition is now in its second and final week. More than 7,800 buyers of home furnishings from all parts of America and a few from abroad have registered.

"The multiplicity of taxes levied in the United States, to say nothing of the cost of keeping the records required by the tax collectors, is unquestionably a major factor retarding business recovery," the daily said. "Federal, state and local governments take 28 cents out of every dollar of income earned by every wage earner. That 28 cents, if retained by the worker and spent for radios, washing machines, new clothes, and maybe furniture, would make the life of the average sales manager a much happier one."

BUILDING PERMITS IN JUNE INCREASE TO 87 MILLIONS

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Building permits in June were the largest since January and only 7 per cent below the comparable 1937 total, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., stated today.

The value of permits issued in 215 cities last month totaled $87,625,427, against $77,606,469 in May and $94,752,583 a year ago.

The 13 per cent June increase over the preceding month compared with a normal seasonal movement showing little change.

The aggregate value of permits issued in the first half year dropped 10 per cent from 1937 totals. A number of cities reported gains over the like 1937 period, including Jacksonville, Fla., 123 per cent; New York, 28 per cent, and Houston, Tex., 24 per cent.

LIST NEW CUBAN BONDS ON N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, July 12.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange announced today the listing of $85,000,000 Republic of Cuba 4½ per cent bonds due 1937-'77 had been approved by its listing committee.

Approximately $44,000,000 of the new issue will be exchanged for $40,000,000 of outstanding public works 5½ per cent gold bonds due June, 30, 1945. Another $20,000,000 will be used to pay off bank loans represented by 5½ per cent deferred payment work certificates.

In addition, $10,000,000 will be issued to various public utilities and railroads to which the republic is indebted. Most of the remainder will be reserved for settlement with other holders of Cuban bonds and notes.

CORN FUTURES RISE ON CROP ESTIMATE, HEAT

Wheat Up 4 Cents in Minneapolis.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yester.	Monday.	Yr. ago
Wheat	$ .74⅞	$ .72½	$1.26¼
Corn	.62	.59⅝	1.13⅜
Oats	.26⅞	.26¼	.33¼
Rye	.54½	.52¼	.80⅝
*Soy beans	.84¼	.84	1.15⅝

*October

Grain prices in North American markets moved upward yesterday from the opening. Corn advanced 2¼ to 2⅝ cents a bushel in Chicago to the highest price for cash and futures since April. Futures closed at the top. Gains on wheat futures ranged upward to 4⅛ cents, Minneapolis leading, and Chicago wheat futures closed 1⅞ to 2⅜ cents higher.

Hot Weather in West.

Temperatures of over 100 reported Monday and yesterday in the more western sections of the corn belt led to fears of crop damage. The trade also gave a bullish interpretation to the July 1 department of agriculture estimate on the corn crop issued late Monday.

Professional speculators led the early buying of corn futures followed by general commission house buying. Farmers sold an estimated 700,000 bushels of cash corn at prices of 50 cents or more a bushel for No. 2 yellow at Illinois country elevators.

Rumors that the department of agriculture would announce after the market closed the amount it would loan per bushel on the 1938 wheat crop, combined with increasing reports of black rust damage, actual or prospective, in the American and Canadian spring wheat belts, furnished the background for the upturn in that grain.

Chicago Market Lags.

Flour mills and cash interests led the buying of wheat futures early. Professional traders who were on the selling side at the opening bought later when corn started upward. The Chicago market was inclined to lag as compared with other wheat markets. Kansas City advanced 2⅜ to 2⅞ cents, and reported sales of cash wheat as much as ½ cent a bushel above the nearest future.

Oats and rye futures moved upward in sympathy with other grains.

ECONOMIC LAW HAS MANY TEETH —THEY'RE FALSE

Washington, D. C., July 12.—(AP)—American business men have put some well polished teeth into the law of supply and demand.

The supply of teeth—false ones—comes from domestic dental factories and the demand for some 50,000,000 a year comes from all over the world.

Commerce department officials, who can recite a long list of oddities that move in international trade channels, said today another American anatomical substitute—glass eyes—also finds a good market abroad.

Dragon's blood is nothing more ominous than a red gum from the far east used by varnish makers. Job's tears are seeds from the Philippines. The sad thing about them is that they cost as much as $10 a drop after they are made into such items as necklaces.

This country buys dried flies from Mexico for use in paint and poultry food and walrus whiskers from Siberia for toothpicks.

Judge Orders 15 Pct. Wage Cut for Rutland Employes

Rutland, Vt., July 12.—(AP)—A temporary 15 per cent reduction in pay for the 1,300 employés of the financially harassed Rutland Railroad company was ordered today by Federal District Judge Harland B. Howe. Declaring that the road's income might force it to cease operations over its 200 miles of tracks, Judge Howe told the company's receiver, Luis G. Morphy, to return the pay cut to the workers "whenever you have the money."

France to Make New "Defense" Loan Monday

PARIS, July 12.—(AP)—The government announced today that it had already used up, to pay for six months of armament making, a 5 billion franc [about $138,500,000] national defense loan issued only two months ago, and ordered a new issue of unlimited amount. The new loan to help finance France's rearmament program in 3½ per cent bonds will be placed on sale Monday.

REO CHAIRMAN SUCCESSFUL IN OUSTER BATTLE

Lansing, Mich., July 12.—(AP)—Rowland Campbell, chairman of the board of the Reo Motor Car company, succeeded today in his effort to oust the management of the company and elect a new board of directors.

Campbell announced that his dispute with the management had been settled "harmoniously" in a board meeting five minutes before a special stockholders' meeting here today.

The new board consists of Campbell, chairman; Col. Fred Glover, president and general manager who was elected by the old board; J. P. Moore, Washington, D. C.; George Stowe, New York City; Howard Flogus, present chief engineer; Frank Morgan, present sales manager, and M. D. Harrison, Detroit, an associate of Glover's.

Donald M. Bates, former president who resigned in Glover's favor last month, resigned as a director as did four other directors.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—After an irregular opening the bond market recovered today, with numerous railroad issues wiping out early losses and closing with sizable gains. Resistance to the decline of yesterday and early today developed late in the morning and buying interest once more was in evidence. Volume increased to $8,345,500, face value, compared with Monday's $5,653,575.

Industrials and utilities were steady and narrow.

United States government bonds were varied, incurring slight losses in the final hour. Gains ranged up to 4-32s, and losses up to 3-32ds were shown. Polish issues were decidedly lower in the foreign group.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks rallied yesterday in a more active market. Six new 1938 highs were established. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks climbed to a close of 10.90, up 0.15 from Monday's close.

Bendix Aviation, which has been traded actively in recent weeks, spurted to a new high for the year of 17. It closed at 16⅞, up ⅛, with sales of 3,600 shares. The company's second quarter earnings statement is expected to show an improvement over the first quarter loss.

Zenith Radio gained ¾ to close at 22¾ on transfers of 2,300 shares. Marshall Field went to a new 1938 high of 12¼, closing up ⅝ at 12⅛. Middle West was up ¼ to 7¼.

Bank Stocks.

First National and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company stocks each advanced $2 a share yesterday. Dealers continued to disagree on quotations for American National stock, some holding it at $172 bid, $182 asked, up $2, while others listed the issue at $2 a share less.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by HOMER NEISZ

Vegetables Marketed.

July 12, 1938.

FRESH garden vegetables are being sent to market each week day from the Tribune's Du Page county farm. They were grown in a demonstration garden in one of the test fields and are sold in Wheaton.

This is the first year that the farm has sold any kind of vegetable crops. A garden was planted in the test field last year for the interest of visitors. It proved especially popular with school children and people from the city. The project was repeated this year and there are more vegetables in the garden than are needed at the farm. The manager decided to sell some of the surplus.

The caretakers may put up a small roadside stand and sell part of the vegetables direct from the garden, although it is located about a mile off the main highway.

Many Varieties Grown.

Beets, leaf lettuce, and Swiss chard now are at the right stage for marketing. The beets are sold in bunches, four to a bunch. The leaf lettuce and Swiss chard are sold by the pound. The vegetables are washed, packed, and taken to Wheaton, where they are ready for display on retail counters within an hour after they are gathered from the garden.

There will be many other kinds of summer and early fall vegetables for market later. They include green beans, broccoli, green onions, tomatoes, vegetable soy beans, potatoes, sweet corn, celery, cabbage, cucumbers, summer squash, parsley, kohlrabi, Chinese cabbage, and pumpkins.

Ten varieties of vegetable soy beans were planted in the test plots this year. Some are early, some medium, and some late varieties. They are expected to furnish a succession of mature beans from about the middle of August until frost.

Three of these varieties have been grown at the farm for the last two years. Table tests made by the farm families and by hotels and restaurants in Chicago convinced the manager that edible soy beans may become an important commercial crop. An increased acreage is being grown this year in the hope of establishing markets for the beans and encouraging commercial truck gardeners to grow them.

A Plan for Roasting Ears.

Successive plantings of sweet corn have been made each week since May 23. Silks and tassels are forming on some of the earliest stalks. The plan is to have fresh roasting ears continuously from the time the first ones are ready for use until frost kills the late plants in the fall. The plantings likely will be continued each week until about the first of August.

A similar plan has been followed with many of the other vegetable crops in order to extend the harvesting period throughout as much of the summer as possible

The season has been favorable for growth of the vegetables. The garden is located on soil that is well drained and the crops have suffered little from the excessive rains. The vegetables have made quick growth and are tender. An abundance of moisture also has favored the weeds and made it necessary to do much hoeing and hand weeding to keep the rows clean.

Wesson Oil & Snowdrift.

Investors' Guide: What information do you have on Wesson Oil? If you have a regular report on this company, I would appreciate seeing a copy.—H. M.

Answer: The Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company manufactures about 20 per cent of the cottonseed oil products sold in the United States, including "Snowdrift," "Wesson Oil," and several other items well known to American housewives. The company also produces "Blue Plate" shrimp and oysters, gins cotton, sells fertilizer, and shells and crushes peanuts.

The cottonseed oil products sold by Wesson Oil are many and varied. They include bulk oil used in soap making and production of various edible foods, cottonseed cake and meal used as cattle feeds, and cotton seed ingredients used in making paint, linoleum, roofing, rayon, and many other articles.

Wesson Oil sells about 75 per cent of its tonnage volume in bulk to bakers and manufacturers of mayonnaise, potato chips, soap, and other articles. The rest is sold in package form under various brand names.

Net income for the nine months ended May 31 was $2,446,631, or $2.71 a common share after preferred dividends, compared with $3,716,031, or $4.84 a share, in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year. Large inventory losses were taken last summer and last fall during the fall in cottonseed oil prices. The earnings record in recent years:

LEAD SUPPLIES INCREASE.

Stocks of lead on hand in the United States on June 1 totaled 244,191 short tons, against 235,774 May 1, and 189,963 June 1, 1937, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reported.

RECORD DEFICIT OF FOUR BILLION FORECAST IN '39

Revised U.S. Budget Adds New Three Billions.

"The principal increases are $216,900,000 for the civil departments and agencies, due chiefly to public works projects relating to highways, rivers and harbors and flood control, public buildings and reclamation and to additional loans by the Rural Electrification administration; $75,800,000 for an enlarged national defense program; $338,300,000 under the Agricultural Adjustment program on account of cotton price adjustment payments, parity payments under the new farm bill, and increased soil conservation payments; $46,800,000 for the increased requirements of the social security program; and $49,770,000 for payment of interest on the public debt.

"Expenditures for recovery and relief show a reduction of $113,500,000, but the funds provided for the Works Progress administration are intended to cover only the period from July 1 to Feb. 28, and there is therefore included under 'supplemental items' in the present revision an estimated expenditure of an additional $500,000,000 for the last four months of the fiscal year, to make the total fiscal year expenditures for recovery and relief $2,649,350,000.

Explains Another Increase.

"Revolving fund items show an increase of $222,600,000 due to the increased expenditures under the Public Works administration program for completion of projects under construction during 1938 and for beginning new projects in 1939. There is also included under 'supplemental items' the sum of $100,000,000 to cover deficiency and supplemental estimates for the year.

"There are decreases in estimated expenditures for 1939 below the actual expenditures for 1938 of $38,100,000 under the Veterans' administration; $51,400,000 under the Civilian Conservation corps; $23,700,000 under refunds, and $39,100,000 under 'transfers to trust accounts.'

Increases Summarized.

"The increase in the present estimated expenditures over the expenditure estimates contained in the 1939 budget is $2,116,000,000. Of this amount approximately $1,912,000,000 is due to increases in the general public works program and the program of the relief of unemployment; $129,000,000 results from increases in the Agricultural Adjustment program; $45,000,000 for increased expenditures for the Civil Conservation corps; $45,000,000 for the expansion of national defense; $10,000,000 for refunds of taxes; $25,000,000 for supplemental items, and $50,000,000 under the Reconstruction Finance corporation on account of the credit item of this amount, in accordance with the new policy announced in the statement accompanying the treasury daily statement for July 1, 1938. On the other hand, there is a reduction of $100,000,000 below the former estimate under 'transfers to trust accounts.'"

Sinking Fund Sum Excluded.

The 3 billion 984 million dollar deficit forecast by the President is the net deficit exclusive of payment into the sinking fund for reduction of the debt. Mr. Roosevelt proposes to pay only 100 millions into the sinking fund in 1939 compared with approximately 600 millions required by law. If as much as 100 millions should be paid into the sinking fund the gross deficit would be $4,084,887,600.

GENERAL PUBLIC SERVICE ASSET VALUE UP IN JUNE

General Public Service corporation yesterday reported net asset value on June 30 of $94.52 a preferred share, against $63.54 on March 31 and $83.55 on Dec. 31, 1937. On June 30, 1937, the value was $175.66 a share.

The company's cash on June 30 amounted to $4,190,656, higher than the $1,983,569 six months earlier but slightly lower than cash of $4,344,228 on March 31. Cash on June 30, 1937, was $5,476,349. In the June quarter the company bought 2,000 shares of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation stock, 1,000 shares of Creole Petroleum corporation, and 2,000 shares of Deere & Co.

The net asset value of Air Investors, Inc., declined to $38.48 per preference share on June 30, compared with $39 a share on Dec. 31, 1937.

COLD STORAGE MEAT HOLDINGS DROP SHARPLY

Heavier domestic consumption of meats and larger exports caused a sharp reduction in cold storage holdings of meat in this country in June. The department of agriculture reported yesterday that stocks on hand July 1 aggregated only 514,375,000 pounds, the smallest total for that date on government records. This compared with 547,766,000 June 1, also an abnormally low supply; 713,315,000 a year ago, and a five year average of 680,568,000.

The decrease was due chiefly to the heavier selling of pork products, both in this country and abroad.

Carson Makes Underwear Purchase from Field Unit

The wholesale division of Carson Pirie Scott and company announced yesterday it has purchased a large part of the remaining underwear stocks of the wholesale and manufacturing division of Marshall Field and company. Offering of the stock, it was said, will be a highlight of fall market week, Aug. 1-6.
